FINES NO EXCUSE FOR HOLOCAUST

Coroner Says Some Person Is Responsible for Collinwood Disaster.

STEAMPIPES THE CAUSE

Were Placed Too Near Wood and Became Overheated — Children Caught in Deathtrap—Another Body Is Found.

CLEVELAND, O., March 10.—"The loss of the lives of little children in the Collinwood school fire was absolutely inexcusable," Coroner Burke declared today after making a thorough investigation.

"The poor little children were caught in a veritable trap and held and crushed until burned to death," he said. "Someone is responsible for this and should be held. I am not prepared yet to say upon whom the blame should be placed. Before I can charge anyone with this horrible responsibility I must review the evidence carefully and deliberately.

"I find that the steam pipes caused the fire by being placed too close to the wood. There is no doubt in my mind that the overheated pipes caused the fire."

Another body was recovered from the ruins today, making the total 166.

CHILDREN BARELY ESCAPE

School at Toledo Burns Just Before Session Opens.

TOLEDO, O., March 10. — Napoleon's Union School, the largest building of the kind in the state, which was completely remodeled only last April, and had cost the county $100,000 altogether, was destroyed by fire this morning. A repetition of the Collinwood horror was possibly averted by only a quarter of an hour, as the children were on their way to school and some were playing in the yard when the fire was discovered. At 9 o'clock when the pupils should have been in their seats, the main part of the building was a mass of flames.

Superintendent Bemer and Principal White were the only persons in the building when the fire broke out, the other teachers not having arrived. The two men ran to the stairway leading to the attic and were driven back by a shower of sparks and a great volume of smoke. The fire had evidently caught from a defective flue of the furnace chimney, where it ran up through the attic.

Before the firemen could get a stream on the building the flames had gutted the attic, dropped to the floor below, attacked the east wing and were roaring up the big central tower. The bell fell within 15 minutes. The building is a total loss.

Eight hundred pupils were enrolled in the school.

TWO LIVES LOST IN ALMSHOUSE

Invalids at San Francisco Die of Shock and Fright.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—A fire in one of the buildings of the city and county almshouse this morning caused the loss of two lives, the injury of several persons and entirely destroyed the structure. Two invalids, J. Lundstrom and Edward Korn, were snatched from the fire only to die of the fright and shock as they lay on the lawn. Joe Collins, fireman of Engine No. 4, fell through the room into the blazing pit below and was pulled up only after he had been severely injured, while other firemen and rescuers grazed death by the narrowest of margins. Nearly 150 were in the building.

The nurses and attendants formed brigades and carried most of the inmates from the burning building.

Glass Cuts Many Firemen.

NEW YORK, March 10.—A score of firemen were injured, several of them seriously; hundreds of persons were driven from their homes and many buildings were threatened by a fire early today which destroyed the six-story brick building at 38 West Eighteenth street. The big Siegel-Cooper department store was seriously threatened at one time. The fire also got into the adjoining buildings at Nos. 32 to 36 West Eighteenth street, and before it was checked had caused a total loss of $200,000. A shower of broken glass was responsible for the injuries of many of the firemen.

WHY HE OPPOSES U'REN

J. D. Stevens' Version of Oregon City Sage's Political Record.

PORTLAND, March 10.—(To the Editor.)—William Simon U'Ren, of Oregon City, has in this morning's Oregonian seen fit to accuse me of spreading "infamous" stories about him in 1898, when George C. Brownell "did him up" politically to the taste of the people of Clackamas County.

Now, I want it distinctly understood that my opposition to William Simon U'Ren, see American Magazine for April, 1908, and be sure and accent the last syllable, is purely of a political nature. As the great Puritan says:

"And nature breeds, perverse all monstrous, all prodigious things.

"Abominable, unutterable and worse than fables yet have feigned or fear conceived gorgons and hydras and chimeras (political) dire."

Am I opposed to Mr. U'Ren for good and sufficient reasons. Personally, I would rather meet William Simon U'Ren in a ten-foot ring with London rules governing, but as that is out of the question and as he fears to meet me in debate, I shall in the near future devote an hour or two in a Portland hall to the analysis of his political character and acts, during the 15 years of his residence in Oregon.

I feel particularly sore over being buncoed by this trance medium, but have the satisfaction of knowing that I am not the only one, and that when like LaFen I "discovered" him I made haste to proclaim what I know about him. Many whose political ambition, like Wolsey's, have suffered a "killing frost," have a thousand times wished they had listened before it was everlastingly too late.

Mr. U'Ren not only posed as a trance medium, but has repeatedly told me that he could do what Glendower claimed, "call spirits from the vasty deep," could, while sitting in a chair, divorce his spirit or soul from his body and wander in space at will, visit the planets after exploring the various countries on this sphere and communicating with their inhabitants. That is why I wondered why William Simon was eternally hustling for railroad passes and getting them, too, as I will show in my review of his political history.

Briefly then, I oppose Mr. U'Ren because: First—He sold out the Populist party for $50. Second—While denouncing and threatening any and all Populists who would accept a railroad pass, he was "cheek by jowl" with the railroad companies and was riding all over the state on railroad passes. Third—That, after spending months in getting subscriptions to the leading Socialist paper in the country, he betrayed and denounced it. Fourth—That, after the Socialists discovered his treachery and double dealing, they withdrew their headquarters from his law office (U'Ren & Schuebel) and met in Knapp's Hall, where Mr. U'Ren sent his father (who taught him to control his temper and read him the beautiful story of Moses, the law-giver) to spy on them and continued to meet there with them until about the last day of registering, when he registered as a Republican. Fifth—That when after "working" W. C. Bristol, Seneca Smith, Thomas G. Greene and Ben Selling to work for an anti-railroad pass bill, he Mr. U'Ren, deliberately omitted the enacting clause, rendering the law invalid, and, presto! went to the Legislature at the following session and lobbyed for a measure compelling the railroads to give passes to county and state officials, in spite of the 40,000 majority for the anti-pass measure. These are some of the reasons why I am opposed to William Simon U'Ren, and his political methods.

Not Yet Up to Supreme Court.

PORTLAND, March 10.—(To the Editor.)—Will you state, in the columns of The Oregonian, whether Judge Landis' decision fining the Standard Oil Company $29,000,000 has been passed on by the United States Supreme Court.

A READER.

The Supreme Court has not yet passed on Judge Landis' decision. Some of the points involved in this case have been decided by the Supreme Court in a decision against the Great Northern Railway. The ruling on these points was adverse to the railroad and would therefore be adverse to the Standard Oil Company, but all the contentions of the latter appeal were not included in the railroad case.

BILL IS UNCHANGED

Postoffice Appropriation Bill Not Amended.

COMMENDS THE PRESIDENT

Hamilton of Michigan Upholds the Right to Control Corporations and Sustains Roosevelt's Attitude.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill was resumed by the House of Representatives today. Although amendments were in order, the bill, when it was laid aside for the day, with 11 pages disposed of, had undergone no material change.

A noteworthy speech by Hamilton, of Michigan, upholding the right of the Federal Government to control corporations and sustaining the President in his attitude toward them, was the feature of the day's proceedings.

Other addresses were made by Small, of North Carolina, and Finley, of South Carolina, each of whom attacked the proposition to increase the pay for ocean mail service on the ground that it was but a subterfuge for a ship subsidy.

BASIS OF TREASURY NOTES

McLaurin of Mississippi Upholds Cotton—Raps Republican Party.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Cotton as a basis for the issuance of Treasury notes in times of money stringency, was the chief feature of a speech on the pending currency bill, by Senator McLaurin, of Mississippi. Mr. McLaurin thought there was no special need for currency legislation and claimed that the policies of the Republican party were responsible for the recent panic.

Senator Gallinger secured an agreement to vote on the ocean mail ship subsidy bill on March 20.

After passing several bills on the calendar the Senate, at 2:15 P. M., adjourned.

BRIEF NEWS BY TELEGRAPH

Riverside, Cal.—Burglars Monday night blew open the safe of the postoffice and stole $200 in money.

Chicago—A receiver has been appointed for Shourds, Adcock, Tewfel Company, jewelers, with $50,000 assets and $100,000 liabilities.

New York—Today is the fifty-fourth anniversary of the conference at which Cyrus W. Field secured the capital for the first Atlantic cable.

New York—Grace Seamans, 8 years old, has died of fright caused by a Black Hand letter which she found on the doorstep of her home, addressed to her parents' landlord.

New York—The Italian Vigilance Protective League has enrolled several thousand members and is co-operating with similar societies in other cities for the suppression of crime.

Chicago—Mrs. Augustus Lehmann, widow of E. J. Lehmann, a wealthy merchant, arrived in New York from Paris seriously ill, and her son, having been summoned by wireless, went to meet her.

New York—Oil paintings and drawings by Thomas Nast, in addition to specimens of the work of other artists that were collected by Nast before his death, are the features of a sale which opened this evening.

New York—Stockholders of the United States Steel Corporation have reached the vast aggregate of 95,000, the largest in its history. A great many banking and brokerage houses and syndicates carry stock for individuals who would bring the total close to 125,000.

Pontiac, Ill.—A mutiny was started by 700 convicts in the State Reformatory Monday. They were driven to a platform 40 feet from the main floor, where they made a desperate fight before being subdued. Half a dozen convicts and as many guards were injured.

Saginaw, Mich.—Edward Dean and John Milwise traveled in an automobile 50 miles over the ice from Sebewaing to Saginaw on Monday. They became lost and had to travel by compass, and the last 15 miles were made on honeycombed and melting ice, where chasms were bridged with planks.

Chicago—Twenty-eight medical students of the University of Chicago are facing suspension because one of their number threw a piece of a human leg from the dissection-room at a divinity professor. The professor complained to President Harry Pratt Judson, who asked for an explanation. The 28 refused to betray the guilty one.

San Francisco—The man who had been held at the City Prison as Edward G. Smith on a charge of swindling three banks of $10,000 on the strength of a $1000 deposit, was identified as Edward G. Grimmell, a clever confidence man and crook with two terms in prison to his record.

Hamburg—Prince Ludwig Menelik, of Abyssinia, has been expelled from Germany as an undesirable foreigner. He is a near relative of the King of Abyssinia and a negro. He has been making unsuccessful efforts to organize companies for the exploitation of mines, rubber and cotton. He has been charged repeatedly with drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Newark, N. J.—At the close of the performance of "A Millionaire's Revenge," at the Columbia Theater here Monday night, the police arrested George W. Jacobs, the manager of the theater; John T. Farrell, manager of the Mittenthal Bros.' Amusement Company; Harold Vosburg, Gay Rhea and Louis C. Miller, of the company. They are charged with producing an immoral play, which was founded on the Thaw tragedy.

Story of a $50 Goldpiece.

Cleveland Plain Dealer.

During the recent scarcity of currency, Colonel J. J. Sullivan, president of the Central National Bank, hoarded one coin that he wouldn't have passed out into circulation for three times its face value.

The coin is a $50 goldpiece, the only coin of that large a denomination in Ohio, so far as Colonel Sullivan knows. It is so rare, in fact, that he has refused $150 for it. The goldpiece was struck off during the California gold fever, and is octagonal. Colonel Sullivan has a hobby about gold coins, by the way. He has in his collection gold half-dollars and quarter-dollars, which have not been coined for many years.

BALL MAGNATES BALKED

Labor Council Protests Against the Transfer of Spokane Franchise.

TACOMA, Wash., March 10.—(Speical.)—A half dozen representatives from the labor councils in the leading cities of Washington appeared before the Northwestern Baseball League magnates today and declared if the Spokane franchise was voted to the Natatorium Park people instead of the Recreation Park Company, the present owners, the Northwestern League, would be placed on the unfair list.

Telegrams were also read from every large town from Portland to Butte, protesting against the change. After the magnates had listened to the speeches of the labor leaders and heard the telegrams, they adjourned until tomorrow afternoon before taking final action upon the matter.

When the magnates met, they had decided to vote the franchise to Ferris, but they soon wanted further time to consider the matter. Shreeder of Tacoma, is strongly opposed to taking the franchise from Quinn, and it is not likely the league will make any change tomorrow. No other business was transacted.

WASTE IN ANCIENT TOIL

Pyramid of Cheops Contrasted With a Modern Building.

Engineering News.

No one has been able to decide how the enormous stones in the Pyramids were handled; for, even allowing for the vast army of men, some sort of mechanical contrivance must have been used. One theory is that as each course of stone was laid, a sand embankment was built around it with long, easy slopes so that the stones for the next course could be pushed up on rollers and slide into place without any actual lifting, and so on, the pyramid being in fact buried as fast as it was built, until the top was reached, when the stupendous job of removing the sand embankment was commenced.

This might account for the vast army of laborers used; for instance, it is said that in building the great pyramid of Cheops 100,000 men were employed for 30 years, although the quarry from which the stone was obtained was only 3000 feet from the pyramid.

The City Investing building, the largest skyscraper in New York, happens to be nearly the same height as the pyramid. If we required the same number of days' labor for this building, which takes a year to erect, as the Egyptians took, we would have 30 multiplied by 100,000, or 3,000,000 men working every day for one year on this one building. Imagine a number of men equal to almost the entire population (including men, women and children) of New York City, trying to reach the corner of Broadway and Cortlandt street every morning. Even if they got there, there would remain the impossibility of finding standing room, let alone working room for them, or of providing a commissariat's or hygienic department. Against this 3,000,000 men working every day for one year, the average number on the City Investing building would not exceed 2000 men a day, while the maximum would probably never reach 3030. While in some ways it is not fair to compare a stone structure with a steel building, still there is no doubt that the chief difference is due to the improved machinery, the greatest strides in which have been made within the last 20 years—many kinds of work now being handled in from one-half to one-third the time that was required two decades ago.

COULD NOT HANDLE THE CROWD!

More people visited Rose City Park last Sunday than on any other one day except Children's Day last year. The street car company admits that it could not provide facilities for them. This was not due to inadequate conveniences but to the overwhelming popularity of Rose City Park. These people rode out to Rose City Park for several reasons. Chief among them was to get out into the most beautiful residence section of Portland, made so by Nature.

THEREFORE

It has been made apparent that one day ought to be devoted to Rose City Park inspections during the week. It is true that the travel to Rose City Park on Sunday is greater than to any other residence part of the city. Those who are concerned about the selection of a home site will be pleased to learn that

SATURDAY

Will be a special sales day in Rose City Park. Salesmen will be on hand for the express purpose of showing you the remaining desirable building sites. The absence of the large Sunday crowd will make it far more easy to get around and enable the prospective home-builder to investigate conditions more thoroughly. Next Saturday, therefore,

IS SET ASIDE

For your especial benefit. If you wish to have a salesman accompany you, phone the office and one will be on hand. If you would rather be alone, you will find representatives on the ground to answer questions. You will enjoy the ride, the excellent air and beautiful scenery. This is the opportunity for

HOMESEEKERS

In Rose City Park you will find many excellent places to build a fine or modest home. The prices range all the way from $400 to as much as you would care to pay. The terms are very easy and the conditions all in favor of the buyer. Springtime is building time, and it is now upon us. Better buy and build and live in Rose City Park.

NATURE NOT PERFECT

If nature intended us to use her gifts as we find them, man today would be wearing the skins of animals, instead of beautiful, soft fabrics which are the result of the invention of perfected machinery.

PURI-TAN-ATED BRAND COFFEE

Formerly called "DE-TAN-ATED" COFFEE

is real coffee, but by perfected machinery we have extracted and discarded the useless chaff contained therein which is surcharged with a bitter-tasting, harmful, useless, and to many people an actively poisonous form of tannic acid.

Hence we have improved on nature. This is why "Puri-tan-ated" is harmless, more delicious and more economical than any other brand of coffee on the market today.
