

OREGON'S ORATOR IN FIRST PLACE

Bert W. Prescott, of State University, Wins Oratorical Contest at Monmouth.

M'INNIVILLE IS SECOND

Willamette's Representative Third. Result Gives General Satisfaction. Normal School Town Crowded With Oregon Students.

MONMOUTH, Or., March 13.—(Special.)—Bert W. Prescott, of the University of Oregon, won first place in the state intercollegiate oratorical contest held here tonight. Mr. Prescott's oration was entitled "Merely That Condemns." The decision is a popular one.

At the business meeting this afternoon, resolutions were adopted indorsing the $125,000 appropriation for the University of Oregon, and the granting of liberal sums for Monmouth State Normal School, inasmuch as this institution is the oldest and largest of the state's four Normal Schools.

College Enthusiasm Runs High. As hostess of the International Oratorical Association of Oregon today, Monmouth gave herself completely over to the college spirit. The streets were lined with the friends of the competing institutions for the honors of the annual contest. The business houses and numerous residences were gaily decorated with the colors and pennants representing all the contesting schools, and across Main street was a large banner with the State Normal's welcome to the Association. In fact, the town had a holiday appearance.

The contesting colleges were represented as follows:

McMinnville College, Joseph G. Richardson, "The Twentieth Century"; University of Oregon, "National Stability"; Oregon Agricultural College, E. E. Callaway, "A Nation's Responsibility"; Normal School, Mrs. C. A. Bryant, "A Prophetic Record"; Willamette University, "The Twentieth Century"; Pacific College, Harry Maxfield, "Training for Intelligent Citizenship"; University of Oregon, Bert W. Prescott, "Merely That Condemns."

Congratulations for Prescott.

All the orations represented a high degree of proficiency and training, as well as a good intellectual grasp of the subjects dealt with, their efforts being highly creditable to the respective schools.

College yells were much in evidence throughout the evening and enthusiasm ran to the highest pitch on the announcement of the decision of the judges, while Mr. Prescott, the successful contestant, was being showered with congratulations.

Judges of the orations were: On composition—Judge S. A. Lowell, of Pendleton; Rev. F. L. Elliot, of Portland; and E. M. Hulme, of University of Idaho. Judges on delivery—William Masters, of Portland; Rev. H. O. Henderson, of Portland; and Superintendent J. M. Powers, of Salem.

STRUCK DEAD IN HIS HOME

Former Portland Man Meets Peculiar Death in Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 13.—W. L. Abrams, credit man of the National Grocery Company, was killed by electricity in his home, 437 Thackeray street, at 11 o'clock last night. The cause of the accident was a street car which was short-circuited in front of his house. After standing at the window with his wife watching the car, he turned on a moment, he turned on the electric light with one hand and with the other reached for the teakettle, which was on the kitchen stove. As he touched the kettle he was stricken dead.

He remained standing, with arms outstretched, and the fingers of one hand were burned away by the current, which seems to have come from the trolley wire.

W. L. Abrams was born and raised in Portland and was the nephew of Seth I. Pope. For many years W. L. Abrams was credit man for Allen & Lewis, of this city, and left Portland last September to take a position in the same capacity with the National Grocery Company, of Seattle. He was 34 years old and 16 years ago married Murray, of this city. His wife, E. D. McFarlane, of this city, is a cousin of the deceased on his mother's side.

COUNT ON PARTY DESERTERS

Clackamas Democrats Hope for Deal With Republicans.

OREGON CITY, Or., March 13.—(Special.)—The Democrats of Clackamas County have not filed a single nominating petition up to this time, but it is known that Sheriff Beale will be a candidate for re-election and that the minority party will try to land the offices of Sheriff and Assessor at the June election. Beyond these, they have no hope, unless the Republican anti-Statement No. 1 candidates for the Legislature are successful in obtaining nominations, and in that event the Democrats will make an effort to elect their legislative candidates with Republican votes, and they will be seconded by Mr. U'Ren, who has made the public announcement that he will support Statement No. 1 Democrats in preference to Republicans who sign the party pledge.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 13.—(Special.)—Luther, a traveling man, discovered a pearl in an oyster at the Germania cafe the other night that he sold for $50. According to Paul, the waiter who served the dinner, Luther discovered in a dish of Toko-points a pearl as big as a pea. "Oze," exclaimed Luther. "How nice," responded Paul. "That ought to pay for the dinner." "I'll find out," said Luther, and he departed for a jeweler's after setting his bill. Luther returned the next night and handed to Paul that he had sold the pearl for $50.

POSTPONE INJUNCTION SUIT

State Commission Asks Time to Inspect Books of O. W. P.

SALEM, Or., March 13.—(Special.)—The trial of the injunction suit of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company against the Oregon Railroad Commission over the Portland-Milwaukie fare question was today postponed until Monday, March 22. The company sought to introduce in evidence a statement made up from the books of the company, but the Commission objected upon the ground that the books themselves are the best evidence and that the Commission should have an opportunity to see the records from which the statement has been made. The purpose of the evidence offered was to show that the rates in force are reasonable and, therefore, that the reduction of 5 cents ordered by the Commission would be unreasonable. Before the date for removing the trial the Commission will have an opportunity to examine the statement offered and compare it with the records as shown by the books.

The present schedule of four trains a day has enabled the electric line to capture practically all the passenger traffic between here and the metropolis, and the improved service will probably give the trolley line complete control of the passenger business. The first car leaves Salem under the new schedule at 6:15 in the morning, and the last one at 5:35 in the afternoon.

ELOPE FROM ALMS HOUSE

CUPID SPOKS PRANKS WITH AGED SPOKANE COUPLE.

"Skip" Keiser and His Affinity Halted into Court Because They Make the Night Hilarious.

SPOKANE, Wash., March 13.—(Special.)—Rheumatic, 52 and penniless, with the spark of love leaping into flame for his adored, Mary Hamlin, aged 62, "Skip" Keiser, formerly a well-to-do railroad man, but now escaped from the county poorfarm, was haled to court today and his beloved is also held under surveillance. The courtship began months ago at the Spokane County almshouse at Spangle. They planned an elopement, which was balked in part by the poorfarm manager, Mary escaping alone. "Skip's" rheumatism prevented his playing the role assigned him, but the couple kept up correspondence. Finally "Skip" escaped and came to Spokane, where Mary was awaiting him. He invested his sole dime for a room in the Workingman's Home and thither the aged couple repaired. The affair was a hilarious one, according to other roomers, but now today the pair told their troubles to sympathetic Judge Hinkle in the Police Court.

"These people seem to have been actuated by good intentions," said his Honor. "The woman says she can get work and the man says he is suffering and is in need of treatment. I might as well send them back to the poorfarm, but they do not want to go, and perhaps they can get along here. I'll put the case over for a week and then dismiss it unless another charge is filed." The pair left the courtroom arm in arm.
