IGNORE THE MAYOR

Enraged Salem Saloonmen Pass Him in Silence.

RODGERS KEEPS UP FIGHT

Capital City Executive Proposes to Rid City of Undesirable "Joints." Presents His Reform Ideas in Veto Message.

SALEM, Or., March 23.—(Special.)—Enraged at the action of Mayor George F. Rodgers in vetoing the ordinance reducing the liquor license from $1000 to $700, the saloon-keepers do not speak to the city's chief executive when they meet him on the street. Their feeling toward the Mayor is not likely to grow more friendly, for Mr. Rodgers has asked the City Attorney to draft an ordinance incorporating his ideas of saloon regulation. The ordinance will, in all probability, be introduced at the next session of the City Council, though the present attitude of the members of that body gives little promise of its enactment.

In his veto message, Mayor Rodgers thus enumerated the features of a needed saloon regulation, and presumably these are the provisions he has asked the City Attorney to place in the forthcoming bill:

Mayor's Ideas to the Point.

Fix it so no license will be given any man who has been convicted of a felony, or who does not measure up to certain moral standards. Cut out the private back rooms and boxes. Eliminate women. Have the front blinds arranged so those who wish can see in. Make a drink to a drunken man work a forfeiture of license. Prohibit the second-story annex. Limit the number of saloons. Insist upon decency, cleanliness and good order. Certainly no man worthy of a license is going to object to these things.

When this has been accomplished, the Mayor said he would be willing that the license fee be materially reduced. Speaking of the matter today, Mr. Rodgers said:

People Don't Know Conditions.

"Salem saloons, on the whole, compare very favorably with those of other towns. A number of the liquor dealers conduct their places in as orderly a manner as one could ask, but there are others who do not. There are a number of saloons in Salem a whole lot worse than the people of this city have any idea, and these are the ones I want brought to time. There are places with private rooms in the rear with locks on the doors, and where the voices of women may frequently be heard. There are saloon-keepers who sell liquor to men who are already intoxicated, and who either line the drunks up against the wall, roll them out into the woodshed or turn them out on the streets. If the people knew how bad some of the places are, I believe they would get rid of them."

In his message, the Mayor said nothing about gambling in saloons, for since the Mayor's raid upon one gambling joint a couple of months ago, there has been no complaint that games are running.

WADE NOW NERVOUS WRECK

Friends of Former Banker Ask That Charges Be Dismissed.

PENDLETON, Or., March 23.—(Special.)—C. B. Wade, former cashier of the First National Bank of this city, and recently cited to appear in court for trial on the charge of embezzlement, is a mental and nervous wreck, according to affidavits filed in the Circuit Court this morning by his counsel, Colonel J. H. Raley.

The affidavits were also accompanied by a statement in his behalf from employes of the bank, and a petition from his former bondsmen asking that the case against him be dismissed. The affidavits are from physicians, ministers and Umatilla County men who are now or have recently been in Los Angeles.

Wade's sensational failure and subsequent flight five years ago caused a good-sized ripple in Eastern Oregon financial circles.

INSANE ITALIAN RUNS AMUCK

Smashes Furniture and Knocks Down Guests in Tacoma Hotel.

TACOMA, Wash., March 23.—(Special.)—Joe Havelick, an insane Italian, started on a rampage in the Garfield Hotel today, breaking furniture and windows and knocking down doors and all who attempted to interfere with him. He was captured and taken to the station, after a hard battle.

Havelick is a tall, square-shouldered giant. He picked chairs from the floor and broke them with ease in his bare hands. A blow from his fist shattered the panel in a door, and when he put his shoulder to it, it crumpled like pasteboard. Several of the guests tried to corral him, but they went down for the count when the insane man merely slapped them.

It required three men to get him into the patrol wagon.

RESUME OLD SCALE OF WAGES

Packers Want to Drop Advance Made Last Year.

ASTORIA, Or., March 23.—(Special.)—Secretary Lorentsen, of the Astoria branch of the Alaska Fishermen's Union, stated today that the controversy at San Francisco, between the fishermen and the Alaska Packers' Association, is over an effort of the association to reduce the scale of wages to that paid in 1906. Last year an increase in the price of red salmon from 2½ to 3 cents each was secured and the price paid "for the run" to beachmen and trapmen was advanced from $50 to $75. The association desires to cut off these advances, while the fishermen want the rates the same as last season. No action has been taken by the local union in the matter, the custom each year being to conform with the agreement reached between the Alaska Packers' Association and the union branch at San Francisco.

DROWNS NEAR GRANTS PASS

A. F. Johnston, of Santa Monica, Perishes in Swollen Stream.

GRANTS PASS, Or., March 23.—(Special.)—Meager details of the drowning of A. F. Johnston, a prominent merchant of Santa Monica, Cal., and owner of the Virgin mines in this county, were received this afternoon. It is understood that Johnston and two companions started to cross the Illinois River, which at this time of year is very high and rapid, and once in the middle of the stream the small boat they were in capsized and threw its occupants out.

Johnston was a weak man, and, owing to the extreme coldness of the river, could not survive the severe shock and went down with the current. The two other occupants of the boat managed to reach opposite shores, and, with the aid of a rope and drift, they managed to get together and look for Johnston's body, which could not be found.

MUST "DIP" MANGY CAYUSES

Dr. McClure Issues Drastic Order to Umatilla Indians.

PENDLETON, Or., March 23.—(Special.)—Every horse on the Umatilla reservation range is to be dipped during the month of May, according to an edict issued today by Dr. S. W. McClure, of this city, and head of the Bureau of Animal Industry in the Northwest. The purpose of the wholesale dipping is to eradicate mange, which is prevalent among the Indian horses. The Indians will be required to round up their own ponies, all other expense being defrayed by the Department of Indian Affairs. The announcement has been hailed with delight by the white settlers, who have been harassed for years by the mangy cayuses. This drastic cource of action was determined upon only after thorough investigation by Dr. McClure.

Fraser River Fished Out.

ASTORIA, Or., March 23.—(Special.)—William H. Barker, of Vancouver, B. C., manager of the British Columbia Packers' Association, who was in Astoria today, says the outlook for the fishing industry on the Fraser River during the coming season is not promising, as that river has gradually been fished out, as has the Columbia, and his company will operate only two of its 15 canneries. In an effort to restock the stream, fishing has been stopped above tide-water, and efforts are now being made to extend the closed district further down the river.

Sand Storm at Yakima.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., March 23.—(Special.)—One of the fiercest gales ever experienced in this valley swept the country and city from an early hour this morning until 4 o'clock this afternoon, when it abated. Considerable damage has been done to some of the young orchards which happen to be exposed to the full force of the wind. Clouds of sand and dust swept over the city. Nobody was injured.

Crichton Gets New Office.

SEATTLE, March 23.—(Special.)—The City Council tonight confirmed the appointment of Dr. J. E. Crichton, as Commissioner of Health, a position created by an amendment to the City Charter at the recent election. The Board of Health is abolished and the Commissioner has charge of all matters of public health. The salary is $5000 a year. Crichton was for 16 years a member of the Council, but was defeated in the recent primaries.

May Knock Out City Election.

ABERDEEN, Wash., March 23.—(Special.)—The coming municipal election may be vitiated by action proposed by interested politicians who are angered over the gerrymander of wards by the Council. The ordinance was passed New Year's night, the regular meeting time of the Council, but the fact that it was a legal holiday, it is held, annuls the validity of the local law.

Margaret Parks, Pioneer.

EUGENE, Or., March 23.—(Special.)—Margaret, widow of the late J. W. Parks, a well-known pioneer woman, who crossed the plains in 1852, died at the family home at Pleasant Hill today. Mr. Parks was County Assessor of Lane for several terms. He died in 1888. Mrs. Parks left eight children, all living in Lane County.

Boy Wounded by Accident.

ABERDEEN, Wash., March 23.—(Special.)—Harry Mason, an Indian boy, 5 years old, was brought here today from the Quinault agency, having been shot through the thigh by a bullet from an old rifle, accidentally discharged by his brother, who was playing with it.

Chit-Chat of Sporting World

Tid-Bits of Gossip From the Players in the South—Glad to Leave Santa Barbara as Town for Simple Life and Not for Real, Live Bunch.

BY WILL G. MAC RAE.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., March 23.—(Special.)—This is the season when a rooky ballplayer that displays ginger usually attracts the attention of the manager.

* * *

Ote Johnson will open the eyes of the Coast League fans this Summer. He played a nifty game at short, but they will say he is easily the best third-sucker in the league.

* * *

Bobby Groom, Johnson, Whalen and Danzig formed a whist club. They have challenged any four on the team to play four games every day until the season opens. Raftery declares the bunch are candidates for the screw factory.

* * *

Chief Finance has the handsomest set of teeth on the team. His smile is worth seeing. The Chipewa chief is suave and polite and his English is perfect.

* * *

Pearl Casey is the first of McCredie's crew to get hurt. His left thumb was put out of commission. He will not be out of the game when the bell rings.

* * *

Danzig is the icecream-eating kid. Chil-Chat will back him against any man in the league eating the frozen cow product.

* * *

Madden is a happy Irishman. When he left Boston zero weather and snow, he thought he was going to get the same dose on the Coast. The back stop is going to make his home in Portland.

* * *

All the players were glad to get away from Santa Barbara. The place is all right for graybeards who want to lead the simple life, but punk for a real, live bird.

* * *

The Portland team will be in San Francisco for the McFarland-Britt battle. They are getting ready to touch McCredie for the price.

* * *

There isn't a lazy bone in Southpaw Lakaff's body. Every day during practice Captain Casey has to shove him out of the box. He has worked until he has control and is now getting his curves breaking.

Rhode Island Mills Cut Wages.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 23.—In accordance with the announcement make last week, notices of a reduction in wages were posted generally in the cotton cloth mills of Rhode Island today. The reduction will be approximately 10 per cent, will go into effect on April 6 and will affect about 25,000 operatives.

WORKS NEW STUNT

Groom's Wave Ball Has San Luis Obispo Guessing.

WINS GAME BY 12 TO 0

Kinsella and His Bride Arrive—All the Team on Hand Now but Ryan, and He Is Expected Any Day. Garrett Shows Up Well.

BY WILL G. MAC RAE.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., March 23.—(Special.)—Manager McCredie and his hired men had another good workout this afternoon and walked through the local team, winding up the afternoon's sport by whipping them 12 to 0. Long Bobby Groom was the center of attraction from the mid-diamond and his work was gilt-edged and ruby-studded.

During the Winter months the Illinois farmer has been working on a slow wave ball, and since he began training he has been laboring to control it. The day was fine and warm and when Groom thawed out and began using this ball, it was a scream to see the other fellows trying to clout it. The ball loafs and bobs on its journey to the plate and then breaks sharply and hits the glove with a thud. He struck out five men and during the five innings he worked not a man got the ball out of the infield. This wave ball will be a terror to the batters this season. In order to help out the local talent McCredie loaned them Kennedy, Walsh and Lakaff.

All of McCredie's men are on deck but Ryan, and Manager Mac expects to see him blow along any day now.

Jesse Garrett was in uniform this afternoon and the Texan seems to have everything. It would not surprise me to see him make the team. Big Ed Kinsella and his bride arrived this afternoon. Kinsella, like Garrett, blew into Santa Barbara, only to find McCredie had left. Both had to double back. Kinsella looks fit and McCredie will pitch him in the opening game if he rounds into shape all right.

DR. COLEMAN LEADS ALL WAY

Other Races at Oakland Show Several Close Finishes.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—In the first race at Emeryville today Dr. Coleman went to the front early and never left the issue in doubt. Pinaud came strong on the rail and got the place from Gene Handlon. Mitre went to the front early in the third race and set the pace, but had to be hard-ridden to stall off the fast-closing Dorada. Sugar Maid, the favorite, showed her class by making a runaway race of the fourth event. She was a top-heavy favorite, but Cadihon, the second choice, gave her quite an argument. Sibari ran a good race. The track was fast. Results:

BIG YEAR FOR HARNESS RACES

Rich Purses Offered in California, Oregon and Washington.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—There is to be a big revival of light harness racing on the Pacific Coast this year. It is estimated that close to $250,000 will be offered for trotters and pacers. The biggest meetings are to be held in California, Oregon and Washington and the dates have been arranged for a continuous circuit. Entries for $50,000 given by four California associations will close a week from Wednesday. The Northern stakes will not close until late in May.

All of the well known Coast stables will be campaigned on the Pacific Coast this year with the exception of those of Will Dursee and Charles Dery.

DE SAGAN STILL PURSUES

Reaches New York in Disguise. Dines With Anna Gould.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Prince Helie de Sagan, who is a suitor for the hand of Mme. Anna Gould, is believed to have arrived in New York within the last few days with the object of renewing his attention to the American heiress. The man who is believed to be the Prince registered at a New York hotel as "W. H. Thompson," and gave no address. He reached New York two days after Mme. Gould and dined with her last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Morse.

The visit of the Prince here at this time was unexpected, at least by those who knew something of the affairs of the Prince himself and of Mme. Gould. She left Paris to spend some time in this country, away from the cares that had weighed upon her in the French capital.

MONTREAL, March 23.—Prince Helie de Sagan, who arrived from Europe on the steamer Victorian under the name of Thompson, was obliged to divulge his name to the United States immigration officials before leaving Canada. He produced a passport and a letter of credit bearing his name.

OUTPUT MUST BE REDUCED

TOO MANY HOPS GROWN IN THE WORLD.

Acreage on the Coast Should Be Cut 63 Per Cent to Insure Profitable Prices to Growers.

CHEHALIS, Wash., March 21.—(To the Editor.)—I enclose you herewith a letter from Herman Klaber, which contains a new idea or two in regard to the hop situation. It was written in response to a request which I made of Mr. Klaber, who is an extensive grower of hops in this district, to join with other growers in reducing the output of hops this year by a cut of 30 per cent in the acreage cultivated, provided owners of 90 per cent of the acreage on the Pacific Coast would make such an agreement.

As Mr. Klaber has given permission to publish the letter, I send it to you. Respectfully, J. C. BUSH.

TACOMA, Wash., March 14.—Mr. J. C. Bush, Chehalis, Wash.: Dear Sir—I am in receipt of yours 13th, and note contents. As you are aware, we have a contract on our yards with Annis & Easterly to put the hops in bale for us at a stipulated price, and it is impossible for me to make any arrangement with these parties to let the hops remain on the poles, therefore I find that I cannot sign the agreement enclosed in your letter. I have handed same to Isaac Pincus & Sons, and they will address you themselves on the subject.

In connection with this matter will state that in the event that you are successful in getting the required 90 per cent of the total crop on the Coast into such an agreement, it will have no effect on the price of hops next season. The Pacific Coast is capable of producing the following yield:

	Bales.
California	100,000
Oregon	160,000
Washington	40,000
Total	300,000

If 90 per cent of the acreage is secured, it will leave 270,000 bales. Assuming that you get the 90 per cent, your idea, as I undertand it, is to cultivate only 70 per cent. You would still have 190,000 bales on the Coast. If we raised 190,000 bales on the Pacific Coast this year, hops will not be worth 5 cents a pound. I am willing to go on record to say that if we produced only 100,000 bales in 1908 and New York only produced 25,000 bales, still hops could not be worth 15 cents.

With the enormous pressure of surplus hops on hand all over the world, I do not think hops would be worth much over cost of production, if only half the hops in the world were produced this year. There are 25,000 to 30,000 bales of 1906 Pacifics in London, besides this about 20,000 bales more of 1906 hops belonging to Paul Horst are on the way to London now. Brewers in England and on the continent, likewise in the United States, have naturally bought heavily at the low prices prevailing the past two or three years and are so heavily stocked that as a general thing none need any 1908 hops at all. We had a letter from Germany a few days ago advising us that brewers on the continent have sufficient hops on hand to last them up to April 1, 1909, and a good many of them up to July 1, 1909, and would not require any hops at all of the 1908 crop, except a few to mix with the olds. This condition also exists in England, and we know positively that all the English brewers are loaded to the fullest capacity of their storage warehouses. The chances are that we will carry over in the United States into the 1908 crop 30,000 to 40,000 bales of 1907 hops and 15,000 to 20,000 bales of 1906 hops, therefore you will observe that the surplus keeps piling up every year. Brewers in the United States, as well as in England, will operate very cautiously in their hop purchases from now on on account of their fear of adverse liquor legislation.

If 75 per cent of the hops on the Coast are left unpicked this year and 5000 acres plowed up in England, as is now estimated, and the continental crop comes down light, we may get cost price out of our hops in 1908 and a small profit in 1909.

If the hopgrowers' union had been as energetic in working to reduce the acreage on the Coast as they were in other matters, which I have always claimed were impracticable, they would probably have done considerable good work by this time and their organization would have been a success. The hopgrowers' union terminated as I predicted—an absolute failure, because they were working on the wrong lines. You will no doubt recall that I gave my views publicly on this proposition, and you are now at liberty to make my statements public if you so desire.

If the growers expect to get anything for their hops for the next two or three years it will be necessary to leave more than 37 per cent of the crop on the Coast unpicked this year. It will be necessary almost to leave 63 per cent unpicked, and only harvest 37 per cent.

You cannot get 90 per cent of the acreage on the Coast to sign up, for several reasons. Firstly: You cannot interest 90 per cent of the growers to harvest only 70 per cent because my experience is that most growers are waiting for the other fellow to do the plowing up.

Secondly—There are more than 10 per cent of the total crop on the Coast now contracted and surely none of those who have been fortunate to contract their hops at a price which shows some profit will agree to such a proposition.

As stated in the outset, it is impossible for me to join this proposition on account of my existing contracts with my men on the ranches. I am kicking about low prices of hops because I know it is a good thing, and that the proposition will eventually become adjusted and we will some time in the future see remunerative prices again. Yours truly,

HERMAN KLABER.

IRRIGATE LANDS OF VALLEY

PROJECT FOR WATERING THE YAKIMA COUNTRY.

Most Important Scheme for That Section Since Beginning of Tieton Project.

NORTH YAKIMA, March 22.—(Special.) A project which will add several thousand acres to the irrigated land in the lower Yakima Valley is being financed by the Denny-Blain people of Seattle and Yakima Valley capitalists. The project involves the union of the Selah-Moxee and the Lombard and Horsley ditch interests and the tunneling of the Selah hill, north of this city, and of the hill on the east side of Union Gap, south of the city. The two tunnels will cost, it is estimated, in the neighborhood of $150,000, but will make feasible the raising of the level of the water carried by the two canals to a point at which a great tract of dry land above the Sunnyside Canal can be supplied.

Those who are behind the scheme have already secured options on a considerable area of the land to be watered and the project, if it goes through, will be one of the most important developments in the Yakima country since the inauguration of the Tieton project by the United States reclamation service.

Among the local men interested in the project is Mayor H. H. Lombard, of this city, and several prominent bankers. The Lombard & Horsley ditch and the Selah-Moxee ditch have their intakes in the Yakima River about 15 miles northwest of this city, and the supply of water at that point is abundant.

ECZEMA PATIENT LOST HOPE.

But Ordinary Oil of Wintergreen Quickly Cured This Woman.

After treating for Eczema with six different doctors, Mrs. J. A. Wheeler, of Wellington, Ohio, was completely cured by pure vegetable oil of wintergreen. "This oil alone could not cure, but she used this oil as compounded with glycerine, etc., in D. D. D. Prescription.

"I feel it my duty to say what a wonderful cure D. D. D. has been for me," writes Mrs. Wheeler. "I was cured a year ago last fall, but did not dare write because I was not sure the cure would be permanent. I had doctored with six doctors, and they all said it was seldom if ever, a case like mine was cured. I think I used only four bottles of D. D. D. and I am permanently cured. If I ever needed D. D. D. again, I would be willing to pay $5.00 a bottle."

This remedy and also D. D. D. Soap are sold by us and recommended because we know their merits. We certainly would not recommend them to our neighbors and patrons if we did not positively know of the wonderful results that D. D. D. brings in all kinds of eczematous diseases. HEALTH OF ANIMALS BEST BECAUSE OF GOOD DIGESTION

An interesting interview was recently obtained with L. T. Cooper, the young man whose theory and medicines have created such a sensation during the past year.

Mr. Cooper, in speaking of the remarkable success of his medicine, had this to say on the subject: "My medicine regulates the stomach. That is why it is successful. The human stomach today has become degenerate, and is the cause for most ill health. In the horse, the dog, and the wild animals generally, you see no nerve exhaustion, no chronic debility. They are not shut up day after day with practically no exercise, and they are not able to stuff themselves with food when their bodies have not had enough work to justify it. The human race has been doing this for years, and look at the result—half the people are complaining of poor health, not real illness—just a half-sick, tired, droopy feeling. They don't really know what is the matter with them.

"I know that all the trouble is caused by weak, overworked stomachs. I have proved this with my medicine to many thousands of people in most of the leading cities of this country. I expect to do the same thing in Europe next year. This is the real reason for the demand for my preparation."

Among those who have recently been converted to Cooper's theory is Mr. Monroe Brown of 8 Hancock street, Winchester, Mass. Mr. Brown has this to say of his experience with the new medicine: "For over seven years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach, and for the past year I was lame with rheumatism. I attributed this to my stomach trouble, as my circulation was very poor. What food I ate would turn to gas almost at once. I would have a sensation of bloating, and would have to belch frequently to relieve this. My heart also became affected, and I would suddenly become dizzy and have palpitations. I was tired and dull and despondent at all times. I lost a great deal of flesh and was nervous and depressed. This went on for over seven years, although I spent hundreds of dollars trying to get relief.

"When Cooper was in Boston I heard a good deal about his ideas on stomach trouble. Next, one or two friends told me that his medicines had greatly helped them. I purchased some of the New Discovery medicine. Today I am perfectly well; I sleep like a boy, can eat anything and have no rheumatism or heart trouble. I no longer have any gas on my stomach, and feel as I did years ago. No one could be more astonished by these facts than myself. They are remarkable but true. This is indeed a wonderful medicine."

The Cooper preparations have been more widely sold and discussed since being introduced than anything of the kind ever before sold by druggists. We sell them and explain their nature. —The Skidmore Drug Co.; Huntley Bros. Co., Oregon City, Or.
