

LEADERS STRIP FOR FINISH FIGHT

Filibustering Will Be Rule in House.

WILLIAMS BREATHES DEFIANCE

Ready to Stay Till Dog Days and Force Action.

SAYS LEADERS SQUEAL

Tells Them They Dare Not Introduce Bills on Roosevelt's Programme, Lest Democrats Pass Them With Republican Help.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—When the House of Representatives adjourned late today, the breach between the majority and minority parties was, if anything, wider than ever. The leaders on both sides arrived on the scene early, apparently none the wiser for the parliamentary struggle of the night before. The Democrats resumed dilatory tactics and kept it up throughout the day, notwithstanding the committee on rules applying the gag law to general debate on the District of Columbia appropriation bill, which was in order for consideration. The rule was adopted amid uproar and after the Democrats had exhausted every parliamentary move which they could make to obstruct its final disposition.

than those gentlemen who have used that language." "We," he said, amid Democratic applause and Republican laughter, "have been engaged in the business of trying to force legislation."

Williams said he did not want to be understood as complaining, but he asserted that the minority would exhaust every power it had under the rules.

"It will," he said, addressing the Republicans, "exhaust every power to bring into this House, to force out of you, if it can, legislation in the interest of the people."

Says Leaders Choke Measures.

The Republican leaders, he charged, dare not permit certain measures which the President, the Democrats and the country were demanding to be introduced for fear a majority of the Republican party of the House would adopt them. He spoke of the employers' liability bill reported by the committee on judiciary and remarked that he was glad to see "a few fruits." Facing his colleagues, he exclaimed:

"I congratulate you gentlemen on the Democratic side on that fact." "Before the session was over, Williams declared, "this whole country will know that, if remedial legislation cannot be procured from this Congress, it will be because the minority, under the general and special rules, are as helpless for legislative purposes as a child shooting peas out of a muzzle-loading shotgun at Gibraltar is helpless for destroying the rock."

Will Stay Till Dog Days.

Continuing Williams said: "This is the first 'equal' from the other side, but it won't be the last. They have more rules up their sleeve which they will bring in later." He was not to be intimidated, however, he said. "I have enlisted in the war and will stay to the dog days."

Williams, turning to his own side of the House, said they did not have much power, but, referring to Payne's statement that Congress would be run without any interference of the Democrats, pointed out the various parliamentary ways by which they could make themselves felt. Again addressing himself to the Republicans, he said:

"Whenever you dare to let the House consider any of the special bills which the country is demanding, we have the power of adding ourselves as a majority to the faction of the majority and thereby making a majority of this House."

The District of Columbia bill then was laid aside and on a motion to adjourn the Democrats forced a roll call. The motion prevailed. Yeas, 87; nays, 32; "present," 15, and the House at 6:32 P. M. adjourned.

EVELYN THAW SUES HOTEL

DEMANDS $50,000 DAMAGES FROM KNICKERBOCKER.

Says Feelings Were Lacerated by Story That She Was Ejected From Place.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Papers were served on James B. Rougan, manager of the Hotel Knickerbocker, today, in a suit brought by Mrs. Evelyn Thaw, recoverer of $50,000 damages for alleged injury to her feelings by stories that she and E. R. Thaw had been asked to leave the hotel grill room.

Mr. Rougan turned papers over to his counsel. Later he said that he did not look at them long enough to find out just why Mrs. Thaw was suing him, but thought it was for being put out of the hotel or because he said he put her out. She denied having been there.

Mrs. Thaw's complaint will be filed in the Supreme Court tomorrow.

FAR BEHIND SCHEDULE

French Car to Go West From Seattle to Vladivostok.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., April 3.—The French car in the New York-to-Paris automobile race arrived here at 10:25 to night. The car will be here until 8 A. M. tomorrow. The route north from San Francisco has been informally decided. The trip to Seattle will be made by boat, thence by water to Vladivostok. The run to Paris will then be made. Next Winter the car will be shipped from Paris to Seattle, thence to Alaska, ending the race finally at Vladivostok next year.

The car should have been in Seattle when Chicago was reached and is, therefore, considerably behind its original schedule.

ORDEN, April 3.—This morning without undergoing any repairs. The German car passed Corrine, 30 miles west, at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. An all-night ride is expected.

SAN JOSE, Cal., April 3.—The Italian car arrived here at 5:37 P. M.

GOTCH CHAMPION OF WRESTLERS

Hackenschmidt Gives Up in Disgust.

WRESTLE NEARLY TWO HOURS

American Proves Invincible to Russian Giant.

ALMOST SECURES THROW

Toe-Hold Broken in Nick of Time and Then Hackenschmidt Surrenders—Gotch Wins by Impregnable Defense.

DEXTER PAVILION, Chicago, April 3.—George Hackenschmidt, in his match with Frank Gotch for the catch-as-catch-can wrestling championship of the world tonight, gave up the title to the Iowa man by default.

More than two hours of unavailing tugging and desperate scrambling, the Russian said to Gotch:

"I'll give you the match."

Ed Smith, the referee, at once declared Gotch the winner.

The end came so unexpectedly that the great crowd of 8000 which witnessed the contest could scarcely comprehend what had happened. Not until the referee had announced that Hackenschmidt had surrendered the championship of the world to Frank Gotch did the full significance of the event strike home. Spectators surged into the ring and crowded on Gotch until the police came to his rescue and drove the crowd back through the ropes.

Can't Break Gotch's Defense.

The match was in some respects sensational, but it served to show that Gotch has a defensive system which no man can break down. For an hour and forty-five minutes he eluded every attempt of the Russian to fasten a grip on him. Gotch side-stepped, reached his man's features with his knuckles, butted him and generally worried Hackenschmidt until the foreigner was at a loss to know how to proceed.

But in the clinch that finally came Gotch slammed his opponent to the mat and came within an ace of securing a firm toe-hold, following this up by lifting Hackenschmidt clear off the mat and slamming him on his shoulders with terrific force.

Looser's Heart Is Broken.

The European exponent was heart-broken. The lines slowly deepened on his face, the hoots and gibes of the crowd hurt his feelings and after considering the matter for a few seconds he decided it was time to quit.

Few of the spectators but were too willing to give Gotch the palm. The Iowa farmer was in the better condition, was quicker and trickier and showed a far better knowledge of the game.

Hackenschmidt refused to explain his action to W. W. Wittig, promoter of the bout, simply shaking his head and refusing to reply when asked why he had not surrendered merely the first fall and then taken another chance with Gotch. His handlers were at a loss to account for Hackenschmidt's action.

Gotch Tries Hack's Temper.

The principals and referee were photographed in a half a dozen positions. The men were then called for final instructions. Time was called at 10:28 P. M. Hackenschmidt crouched and they sparred, with Gotch circling around. This jockeying continued three minutes, then Hackenschmidt clinched, but they broke again. Gotch seemed nervous, but the champion was cool. After ten minutes of tugging Gotch started to rough it and Hackenschmidt kept his temper with difficulty.

Hackenschmidt finally tried for a body grip, but could not reach Gotch. The Russian complained to the referee of Gotch's butting. He missed a leg-hold net. A half hour of hauling and sparring failed to satisfy the crowd.

Russian Attacks With Fury.

Fifteen minutes more of the tireless work followed. Then Hackenschmidt suddenly attacked with fury. But Gotch wriggled away and the shoulder-to-shoulder tactics began again.

Gotch's defensive work puzzled Hackenschmidt completely. After an hour and three-quarters of fruitless attempts to get a hold, he straightened up and looked at his opponent with disgust written in every feature. "Come on, wrestle," said Gotch. The crowd cheered the American.

At 12:15 Hackenschmidt asked the referee to call it a draw, but he told him to continue.

They wrestled all over the ring, then went down. Gotch on top. Hackenschmidt slipped from a toe-hold and then gave up.

The purse for the match is said to be $10,000. There are said to be other additions to this amount which will bring the total purse up to about $12,000, which, it was said, will be divided $6000 to the winner and $6000 to the loser.

Hackenschmidt is not a Russian. His father was a German, and his mother a Swede, and he was born on the Polish frontier. He has been the acknowledged champion of the world for four years, while the American winner of the title has only come into his fame during the last three.

Five Preliminary Bout.

In the first preliminary, Tommy Rooney and Young Jenkins were the contestants, the weight being 118 pounds. Rooney won, time, 8:45.

In the second preliminary, Young Billeton and Ernest Lindberg in 142. The men were 133-pounders.

Ted Tommenan and Dick Tommenan came together in the third at 135 pounds. Tommenan won with a toe-hold. Time, 12:41.

"Americus," a Baltimore wrestler, made short work of Harry Lundenback, of Chicago, winning in 1:25 with a bar-lock and crotch hold.

William Deterel won the fifth bout, defeating Mort Henderson in 8:36.

In the semi-final Emil Siegenbelder, Hackenschmidt's partner, attempted to throw Henry Ortman, of Minneapolis, in ten minutes. To the delight of the crowd, Ortman took the offensive. He slammed the burly German to the mat and for seven minutes gave Stegenbelder no opportunity to get a hold. The last three minutes Ortman was on the defensive, but managed to wriggle out of all holds and easily stayed the limit. He was roundly cheered.

Nebraskans Fall in Trap.

The downfall of the Nebraskans came swiftly in the afternoon, and they fell into a pit they had themselves dug.

POPULISTS NAME NATIONAL TICKET

Watson and Williams Their Choice.

BRYAN MEN ARE TURNED DOWN

Nebraska and Minnesota Delegations Bolt.

FIGHT TO PREVENT ACTION

Talked Into Corner by Louisville Man on Position Towards Bryan.

ST. LOUIS, April 3.—For President of the United States—Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia.

For Vice-President—Samuel W. Williams, of Indiana.

This ticket was nominated today by the People's party convention after two stormy sessions, throughout which the Nebraska and Minnesota delegations, working in the interests of W. J. Bryan, strove desperately to bring about an adjournment till after nominations had been made by the Democratic and Republican parties. Hopelessly outnumbered, and without any chance whatever of gaining their object, the Nebraska men fought desperately to the last, and when Jay A. Forrest, of Albany, N. Y., mounted the platform to place Mr. Watson in nomination, they withdrew from the convention, attended by the Minnesota delegation, which consisted, however, of only one man—T. J. Weighan. If Mr. Bryan, nominated at Denver, the men who walked out of today's convention will support him, and they declare that the Populists of Nebraska will do to a man.

Get Convention in Snarls.

At the morning session the Nebraska men made decided headway. They filibustered cleverly and with a knowledge of parliamentary procedure that several times threw the convention into fearful snarls. They fought long and hard to have Temporary Chairman Jacob S. Coxe, of Ohio, made permanent chairman, not because of any affection they bore him, but because they believed they could tangle him up, and in that way stand off the nominations. Mr. Coxe, who is a genial, easy-going presiding officer, begged them to allow him to withdraw, but they fought for him against his will. They were beaten, however, and George A. Honnecker, of Jersey City, was made permanent chairman.

Mr. Honnecker was not in sympathy with the Bryan element, and he was a big man with a bigger voice, and he fought. His rulings were fair, but he would not be bluffed or bulldozed, and "he talked back" in vigorous style to the Nebraskans when they attacked him.

Cruel Slight to Senators.

KENTON, O., April 3.—The Republican convention of the Eighth Congressional District cast the 35th ball at noon today. Jewell led. The resolutions adopted today praised President Secretary Taft and Governor Harris, but ignored Senators Foraker and Dick entirely.

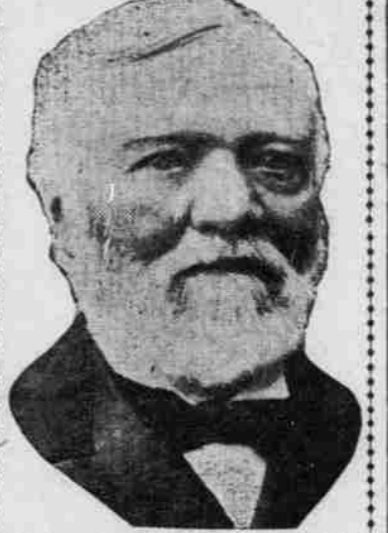

Hepburn Is Convalescent.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Considerable improvement was noted today in the condition of Representative Hepburn, of Iowa, who has been confined to his home in this city since Wednesday. He will probably be able to resume his duties next week.

They were filibustering along in cheerful fashion when J. A. Parker, of Louisville, begged leave to ask "a couple of questions" of the Nebraska delegation.

He desired to know if they were working for the nomination of Mr. Bryan. They said they were not. He read from Mr. Bryan's paper a plank from the Nebraska state platform indorsing Mr. Bryan, and wanted to know if they stood by it or by their statement just made.

The Nebraska men were backed into a corner. They could fight, but they could not escape. Mr. Parker insisted upon a categorical answer, which Nebraska would not give. One delegate insisted that a "reporter on Bryan's paper had made a mistake. Just like reporters are always doing," but the convention jeered at his attack upon journalistic accuracy and preferred to believe "the reporter on Bryan's paper." From that instant Mr. Bryan's cause in the convention was lost, and it was only a few minutes before the delegates from his state had bolted the convention.

Andrew Carnegie, Giver of Another $5,000,000 to Fund for Pension to University Professors.

Thomas E. Watson, the Presidential nominee, is well known throughout the country and his political life is familiar history.

Samuel L. Williams, the candidate for Vice-President, is a resident of Vincennes, Ind., where he has practiced law for many years. He is 62 years of age and has always been more or less of an active participant in politics. He was at one time a Democratic member of the Indiana Legislature and has been identified with the Populist party since its creation. He is gray-haired and gray-bearded, about six feet two inches tall, lean and of a nervous temperament.

At a meeting tonight of the new National committee, James H. Ferris, of Joliet, Ill., was re-elected chairman and Jay W. Forrest, of Albany, N. Y., was chosen vice-chairman.

Coxey Declines Honors.

The first clash of the day came on the report of the committee on permanent organization, which recommended that Mr. Honnecker be made permanent chairman. W. B. Jones, of Nebraska, moved that the temporary organization be made permanent. Mr. Coxey asked that the motion be withdrawn, saying that he desired to divide the honors with the East. Mr. Jones declined to withdraw and the convention worked itself into a parliamentary tangle which was ended by a roll call on the adoption of the substitute. The calling of the roll developed that the State of Montana was represented by a resident of St. Louis, who called "Montana his home." His vote was promptly challenged by W. B. Jones, who said that the Montana representative

CARNEGIE GIVES $5,000,000 MORE

Increases Fund to Pension Professors.

INCLUDE STATE UNIVERSITIES

They Can Benefit When Governor and Legislature Ask.

ADDS $250,000 A YEAR

Steel King Responds to Appeal by Offer to Increase Fund to $15,000,000, Yielding $750,000 Income Yearly.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Announcement was made tonight that Andrew Carnegie would add to the fund of the Carnegie Foundation whatever sum might be necessary to include as pension beneficiaries eligible professors of state universities.

No provision was made for this class of educators in the original gift, for the reason stated by Mr. Carnegie at the time that the donor thought it possible that such institutions might prefer that their relations should continue exclusively with the state from which their chief support was derived.

This view was not taken by the National Association of State Universities, which in the year following the establishment of the foundation petitioned the trustees for admittance to the benefits of the retiring allowance system. It was then found that the earnings of the original fund of $10,000,000 were exhausted through the outlay already planned and that, if the facilities of all state universities were to be benefited an additional $5,000,000 would be necessary.

The subject was placed before Mr. Carnegie by Dr. H. S. Pritchett, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, on March 21 last and on that same day Mr. Carnegie replied that the money would be forthcoming for any state institution whose application received the approval of the Legislature and Governor of its state. The additional donation will be in 3 per cent bonds, providing an added annual income of $250,000 and a total for yearly disbursement of $750,000.

REPUBLIC WANTS AID AGAINST COLOMBIAN TROOPS.

Occupation of Frontier Post Brings to Front American Guaranty of Integrity.

PANAMA, April 3.—A meeting called by the government to discuss the boundary question between Colombia and Panama and the occupation of Juarado by Colombian troops, was held at the presidential palace today. It was attended by the members of President Amara's cabinet and representatives of all the principal foreign powers.

The general opinion was expressed that the United States Government cannot refuse to comply with its obligations, as specified in the canal treaty, guaranteeing Panama's integrity, which is now menaced, and compel Colombia to evacuate Juarado and submit the whole matter to the arbitration of a third power.

BONAPARTE MAKES REPORT

Deals With Question of Publishing Anarchist Newspapers.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Attorney General Bonaparte at the cabinet meeting today handed to the President an opinion as to whether the editors and proprietors of the alleged anarchist newspaper La Questionnaire of Paterson could be criminally prosecuted for urging murder by dynamite. The opinion will not be made public until the President has had an opportunity to read it carefully. It is said to be important in that it deals somewhat generally with the question of handling the situation in the United States.
