Five Found in Columbia Before the Season Opens.

ASTORIA, Or., April 15.—(Special.)—Five Columbia River gill-netters named M. Pelagous, John Strick, M. Constantine, John John and Leon Patsky, were arrested by Water Bailiff Sattum about 4:30 this morning, some five hours before the opening of the season for illegal fishing. All were making drifts in the slough just below the old Clifton bay. The men make no denial of their guilt, but insist that they thought the season opened at 8 o'clock A. M. in place of noon. As the lowest fine under the law is $50 each, the few fish they caught will prove a fine return for their trouble.
