

POLICE PRAISED FOR BRAVE WORK

Gritzmacher Writes Letter to Bailey, Commending the Work of His Relief.

HENSON MAY GET MEDAL

Negro Robber Killed by Officer is Identified as J. S. Hull—Rathke and Ives Are Locked in County Jail.

Fritz Rathke and Eddie Ives, the highwaymen who survived the desperate battle with the police early yesterday morning on East Ankeny street and were afterwards captured, were arraigned before Judge Cameron yesterday afternoon in the Municipal Court and bound over to await indictment by the grand jury. Hull was set in case of his trial, they were removed to the County Jail.

The mulatto, the third member of the trio, who was killed by Patrolman Henson, was identified yesterday morning as J. S. Hull. The identification was made by J. H. Gray, of 195 Plandora street, who informed the coroner that Hull had been living with his mother at 555 Prescott street. The negro residents of this neighborhood, however, denied knowledge of either Hull or his mother to a police officer sent to make an investigation.

That the capture of these thugs as handled by the police is regarded as one of the most brilliant examples of efficient police work that has been executed in the Portland department for a long time was manifested by the public commendation given to Captain George H. Bailey, who had command of the case and directed the actions of the men, and the officers who participated in the work, in a letter of praise from Chief Gritzmacher, which is as follows:

It gives me great pleasure to note the splendid work of the officers of your relief directly engaged in the capture of the highwaymen last night. I am also convinced that the success in a great measure is due to your energetic directions and good judgment. Kindly assure the officers of your relief that the police administration is well pleased with their administration and mention in Acting Sergeant Wendorf and Officers Henson, Vessey, Tennant and Abbott for their splendid work.

This letter was read aloud to the members of Captain Bailey's relief. In view of the many cases reported to the police of holdups during the past winter, and in the culprits escaped with apparent ease, this feat has received the most favorable comment from all sides in the police department. A subscription fund was started yesterday by the patrolmen to buy a gold medal for Patrolman Charles D. Henson, who stood his ground within a few feet of the thugs and tried to bring them down after he had received a bullet wound in his arm.

At the coroner's inquest held at 7:30 o'clock last night, a jury found that the deceased highwayman had been killed by Patrolman Henson while that officer was in the proper discharge of his duty and included in its verdict that, in its opinion, the officer of the law was fully justified in taking the man's life. Practically no facts other than those already related were brought out at the inquest.

It developed, however, during the inquest that there was another victim to the already long list of those robbed by these three men Wednesday night. Juror William L. Higgins, during the examination of one of the witnesses, said: "Those must be the same three men who held up my son, Frank D. Higgins. He came home shortly before 1 o'clock this morning and said three men had held him up near the Burnside-street bridge. As he had only 15 cents in his pocket, he did not consider the loss worth reporting to the police."

The police secured the identification yesterday of two of the revolvers used by these men and seem to have established beyond a doubt that these same men committed the burglary at the Portland Gun Store, on First street, between Alder and Morrison. The proprietor of this place positively identified the revolvers used by the highwaymen as two of those stolen from his place. That the men have been implicated in other local crimes is the theory of the police in spite of persistent denials.

Lane Returns Price of Gift Cigars
The Council Gave the Cigarettes the Cigarettes of the Council. President Josselyn $25.00 for Christmas Present.

MAYOR LANE paid this week for the box of cigars given him Christmas by the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company. After a warm tilt with members of the Council a few days ago over the subject of gratuities from corporations, Mayor Lane's conscience was quickened, apparently, and he insisted on returning to the electric company the value of the cigars presented to him.

So, one day this week, the Mayor determined to atone for the commission that he had occasionally reminded him that he had smoked a box of very good woods at the expense of the trolley corporation, and he repaired to a cigar store and asked what a box of that brand of cigars costs. He was told the price is $5.00. Taking this amount in hand, he went to President Josselyn's office, at First and Alder streets, marched into the rooms of the head of the corporation and laid the shilling $5 and the paper 20-cent piece on the table.

The scene, it is said, "was indescribable." Even the bi-weekly meetings of the Council, when the for files and the city's conscript members denounce each other as grafters, passed into insignificance in comparison. Those in a position to know say there was a heated as well as pointed interview between his honor and President Josselyn, but both decline to discuss the meeting.

The return of the $5.00 came about, it is supposed, as the result of a wordy duel between the Mayor and members of the Council lately when Mayor Lane, in a veto message, criticized Councilmen who accept "gratuities" in the way of street-car passes, from the electric company. Mayor Lane was taxed with having received cigars in the same way. This jolt, it is supposed, refreshed the Mayor's memory and he squared the account by returning the cost of the box given him to President Josselyn.

MY PUBLIC RECORD TALKS FOR ME

FOR PERSONAL LIBERTY
Portland, Or., April 15, 1908.
We, the undersigned, American citizens of German extraction, do most emphatically protest against the action of the so-called "steering committee" of the pseudo "German American Alliance" endeavoring under false pretenses to influence the German-American vote of the entire State of Oregon by disseminating the belief that the membership of all the societies passively belonging to the Alliance, are in favor of the star-chamber acts of this self-constituted committee who are in the employ of the land.

Such is positively not the case. The 19 German-speaking societies of Portland, and a few others outside of it, lately organized in the interest of the ring, as a matter of fact, represent but a small portion of the German-American vote of the whole. Many Germans hold membership in four or five of these societies and lodges. And many of its members do in nowise coincide with the acts of this star-chamber committee. They have no say in the matter whatever now, but will repudiate their every act at the polls.

The German Alliance of the state practically consists of 37 delegates sent by the 19 societies of Portland; and these delegates, or a portion of them, in meeting assembled, turned over their power, if they had any, to the aforesaid committee. The whole thing was concocted in the interest of the wholesale beer and whisky element of the land.

We, like all the Germans, love our personal liberty above all; but most strongly do we oppose any and all star-chamber proceedings of these few, cheap and hired would-be politicians in this attempt to deceptively use the entire German population to gain their unscrupulous end.

Every German citizen of the state can read and write, and to one of us needs the assistance of this committee to tell him how to vote.

"Personal Liberty" is the Alliance claims as its motto.

Why, then, do they not practice what they preach?

The Alliance held one mass meeting in this city which was well attended. Only a few were present, and the speakers, what they preached.

The next meeting was a fraud, because the purpose of the entire movement is too plainly visible; and the intelligent Germans feel all encroachments upon their "personal liberty." They can and will think for themselves. They can and will dispense with the advice of this cheap "steering committee" and all of their hirelings. We, the undersigned, German-American voters who have the welfare of our country at heart, will repudiate the action of the committee who have the welfare of our country at heart, and cast their ballot for the general good and in accordance with the dictates of their own conscience.

FOR CORONER

Dr. John S. Stott
Vote No. 103.

One of the best and most favorably known men of his profession in Multnomah County is Dr. John S. Stott, who comes before the voters at the primaries today seeking the Republican nomination to the important office of Coroner. Dr. Stott has for years been a resident of this community and none stands higher for integrity, ability and energy than does he.

He belongs to one of the very oldest pioneer families of the state, and has for years enjoyed the friendship of a wide circle of men. As Coroner, a man like Dr. Stott could do much to advance the office to the highest respect of the people. He advocates a public morgue and will work for the installation of such an institution. He believes in showing no special favors to members of class or clique, but through impartiality in the conduct of that office.

EX-GOVERNOR T. I. GEER
Republican Candidate for Congress

The great need in the Northwest is a deeper channel in the Columbia River. Work on this great project should be continuous and efficient—not by piecemeal. The interests of Astoria demand a deeper channel on the bar; those of Portland a deeper one up the river, and every inlet of the great Inland Empire calls loudly for them both with a navigable river as far toward the mountains as it is possible for money to secure that result. To accomplish this requires constant work on the part of members of Congress. More people in Oregon and an open river to the sea has been the particular hobby of ex-Governor Geer for 30 years, and his ambition is to be a contributing factor in securing that result.
