Letter Proves the Marshfield Tragedy Premeditated.

CRAZED BY LOVE FOR GIRL

John Grills, Who Kills Ora Roby and Himself. Leaves Letter to Mother, Saying if He Can't Have Girl, Nobody Will.

MARSHFIELD, Or., April 16.—(Spe-clai.).—An insane jeatousy created by a mad love for the girl who would not marry him on his demand was shown before the Coroner's jury to-day as being the only motive which prompted John Grills, aged 31 years, to murder Miss Ora Roby, aged 32 years, and commit suicide near the girl's home late last night. The youthfulness of the victime of CHICAGO, April 16 .- (Special.) -- The following from Oregon registered at nome into last night. The youthfulness of the victime of the tragedy and the fact that both are well known and connected with re-spected families created a sensation locally.

They had known each other only a few months but had talked of mar-rlage, to which the girl would not agree without the cansent of her mother. The latter s few days ago said they must wait a longer time, but Grills persisted in his demands. Last night he met Miss Roby at the ekating-rink dance, where she had gone with her brother. He bought her a box ef candy and accompanied her home. They stopped to see the boy's mother and continued to the Roby residence. They had known each other only a residence.

Struggle Had Taken Place.

Al a lonely spot on Sheridan street, where there were but few houses, the tragedy evidently occurred. A strug-gie had taken place and the girl evi-dently gied to save her life, when she was shot in the back and feil off a footbridge into a guily below. Grills was found with a builet through his heart on the bridge. Four shots and the screams of the girl were heard by neighbors. Grills' mother says he was fond of the girl and had worried over his love affair for several days. That he premeditated the murder and suicide is evidenced by a letter found in his pocket and addressed to his mother. After stating that he had already threatened Miss Roby he wrote: Al a lonely spot on Sheridan street,

Both Young People Well Known. Grills was a machiniat and molder employed at the Nelson Iron Works and was widely known here. He at one time worked in a Portland factory and is the son of Mrs. M. M. Murphy. Miss Roby was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Roby, who came here about six months ago from Salem. At that city Miss Roby was employed in the Giles warehouse. She was a member of the Royal Neighbors and the Christian Church and was a winner in the Statesman newspaper contest about a year ago. She was exceptionally pretty and, tragic as the incident was, there has been nothing brought up detrimental to the charac-ter of either Grills or the girl. The body of Miss Roby will be taken to Salem for burlat. Both Young People Well Known.

Bean. The complaint alleges that a freight train crew was kept on the road for 17 hours without unavoidable cause for de-lay. The case is one of several reported to the Commission. This suit is interesting, from the fact it is the first ever brought under Oregon's id-hour law, and it will probably be the last, since the Federal law making 16 hours the maximum run supersedes the state law. The latter is now in effect but the crime charged in today's com-plaint was committed in October. Future plaint was committed in October. Future violations will be prosecuted by the Fed-eral authorities. District Attorney Phelps believes the railroad will come into court and plead guilty.
