

We do not claim to control the retail meat trade of Portland, but we candidly believe that we are a considerable factor in making prices on first-class meats. We really believe that if we were not here that the public would not have the splendid opportunity of buying such good meats as we handle at the very low prices we ask for them. Read our prices and compare them with others.

GOOD THINGS IN PORTLAND MARKETS

BY LILIAN TINGLE. COLUMBIA RIVER shad, at 15 cents a pound, and shad-roe at 40 to 50 cents a pound, are to be had this week--both very good. There was no smelt to be seen yesterday, but a good supply of other kinds of fish, the prices of which tend to be slightly lower. Salmon cost from 12 1/2 to 20 cents a pound. There was plenty of sea trout at 20 to 25 cents and good striped bass and a small quantity of black bass at 25 to 30 cents a pound. Halibut, catfish, crople, heering, sole, flounder and perch were all about the same price as last week. Progress is plentiful again, costing 25 to 35 cents a dozen--very alluring to chaffin-dish artists. Crawfish, ready cooked, cost 40 to 50 cents a dozen. Crabs are 10 to 20 cents each.

One market makes a feature of gold fish just now, but they are to please the eye, not the palate. I judge, though some of them may appear on Easter luncheon tables. Another market had a large devil fish on exhibition, and was taking orders for others. I can't quote prices, but two were already sold, one for cooking and the other for museum purposes. In China I have tasted something closely resembling devil fish. It is said to be very unattractive as you might imagine, but I can't give any recipe for cooking it. Strawberries are both better in quality and lower in price than they were last week. There are very nice looking ones at 20 and 25 cents a box. I saw a few Spanish grapes, as well as the usual apples, oranges, grapefruit and bananas. There were alligator pears at 25 cents each, and very good rhubarb, three pounds for 25 cents. Oregon asparagus is quite plentiful at 10 and 20 cents a bunch, and California asparagus at three pounds for 25 cents. There were some very good Oregon cauliflower and excellent celery and celery hearts. New potatoes were three pounds for 25 cents and hot-house cucumbers 15 to 20 cents each. Wax beans at 25 cents a pound are new in this week. Green peas are good at 10 cents a pound. Tomatoes cost 20 cents a pound; peppers are $1 a dozen; dandelion 10 cents a pound and spinach 5 cents. There is plenty of good head lettuce and other salad greens, including chives and green onions. Poultry prices are about the same as last week--turkey Spring chickens and geese all about 25 cents; ducks, which seem rather scarce, 30 cents; and hens, 20 cents.

FOR NATIONAL HIGHWAY

Combs Favors Coast-to-Coast Rail and Auto Road.

NEW YORK, April 17.--Ex-Congressman William J. Combs, president of the Municipal Art Society, of New York, and of the South Brooklyn Savings Institution, said yesterday that he recognized Representative Bourke Cockran's bill providing for a National automobile highway from ocean to ocean as a part of his suggestion for a National railroad from ocean to ocean. Regarding the practicability of an interoceanic automobile road, in connection with the interoceanic railroad, Mr. Combs said: "I don't think it possible that such a measure would go through Congress favoring any particular class of people unless it was coupled with the broad plan of a railroad running from ocean to ocean of the interoceanic railroad."
