

RETAINS HIS TITLE

Abe Attell Still Champion of the World.

DEFEATS KELLY IN EIGHTH

Buffalo Lad Is Outclassed Completely—Game to Core and Stands Any Amount of Punishment, but Is Not Fast Enough.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 20.—(Special.)—Abe Attell, of California, retained his title of featherweight champion of the world at Sound Beach yesterday afternoon by defeating Eddie Kelly, of Buffalo, in the eighth round. Kelly was completely outclassed and was a thoroughly beaten man when referee John Held waved Attell away and assisted the Buffalo lad to his corner. Kelly is game to the core, but he is not fast enough to hit the shifty Californian, and at no stage of the contest was Attell in danger.

Triumph of Science. It was simply a triumph of science over brute strength and aggressiveness. Kelly was strong and willing, and was continually forcing matters. His noble opponent kept his lightning left working against Kelly's face like a triphammer, and when the Buffalo boxer attempted to smother his opponent with his right and left swings, Attell danced in and out, blocking almost every blow, and peppering his adversary at close quarters with short-arm rips to the face and body. Kelly assimilated enough punishment to make an ordinary mortal yearn for a gentler occupation, but the New Yorker had an abundance of nerve, and repeatedly came back for more.

Sized Up in Two Minutes. At the opening of the bout, Kelly started to work on the champion's body. Kelly jumped at his opponent from the opening bell and after landing an easy right to Attell's head whipped in a right to Abe's stomach. Kelly attempted to repeat the trick but a stinging left on the nose caused the Buffalo boy to swing to go wild. In less than two minutes Attell had his adversary sized up and during the remainder of the go Kelly was able to reach the title holder only after his head had been shaken with stiff jabs to the face.

N. J. Prendergast, chairman of the indoor athletic committee of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, and two of the boxers who are to represent the Bay City in the Pacific Coast tournaments next Thursday, arrived in Portland last night, and are quartered at the Hotel Perkins.

The boys accompanying Prendergast are Lawrence Grandfield, a 125-pound boxer, and Eddie Dennis, another knight of the ringed arena, who weighs at 115 pounds. Both boys have distinguished themselves in California by winning two championships each, and are here with plenty of confidence for their club, but take home the honors in the Olympic scheduled for the Exposition building under the auspices of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Speaking of the tournament, Mr. Prendergast said: "I am only sorry we were unable to send more than three entries, but, as you Portlanders will recollect, the Olympic Club was hard hit by the fire and earthquake and we have not yet fully recovered from the blow, but are doing splendidly. Our entries are, I think, among the classiest youngsters ever developed by the Olympic Club, and Parker, who will represent us in the wrestling, is a first class man. This is my first visit to Portland in five years, and I must say that this city has grown wonderfully in that time."
