TRIP WILL BENEFIT CITY

HENRY ADAMS DISCUSSES EXCURSION TO LEWISTON.

Declares New O. R. & N. Extension Will Bring to Portland Trade of Rich Idaho District.

Henry Adams, of Clarkston, Wash., is now at the Arlington Club, and has just completed, with his father, Charles Francis Adams, of Boston, a tour of inspection of the Adams interests in the Northwest, which are particularly extensive at Lewiston-Clarkston. A company there in which he is interested conducts an extensive irrigating project, beside other properties. Relative to the development of trade relations between Lewiston-Clarkston and Portland, Henry Adams said yesterday:

"The valley containing the two towns of Lewiston and Clarkston is 35 miles from Portland and is water-grade. Yet up to the present time it has meant a wearisome journey of 24 hours, the last 30 miles by boat. On May 1 the Portland excursion to Lewiston will be made in a 12-hour trip over the newly opened Lewiston-Riparian road, cutting by one-half the time to Lewiston from Portland.

"This change means more for the development of that section than is realized by most Portland people. The whole section of country back of Lewiston is only about half developed, and the heavy tonnage now goes out of the Clearwater Valley by being hauled up the Potlatch River to Spokane, and then over the Cascade Mountains to the sea, except for a small proportion which comes by way of the Snake and Columbia Rivers to Portland. From May 1 all traffic to and from Lewiston will be handled direct from Portland by water grade.

"This means eventually a rapid growth in that section, and fruit raised there will find a readier market than formerly. The best-known fruits of the Lewiston country are peaches and cherries, which are raised extensively, and this year the fruit crop promises to be the largest known, as the trees have just attained their maturity. Orchards are now in blossom, and when the Portland excursionists arrive, the fruit will be forming.

"Twelve years ago the vicinity of the town of Clarkston, with its 2000 people, schoolhouses and churches, was a sagebrush plain, Lewiston, with its four banks, two steel bridges and 10,000 people, was a little town of 2000, with no railroad."

NURSES COMPLETE COURSE

BISHOP ADDRESSES GRADUATES OF GOOD SAMARITAN.

Dr. Richard Nunn Also Speaks to Largest Class Ever Leaving the Training-School.

More than 300 guests, among whom were many of the prominent physicians and surgeons of the city, were present last night at the graduating exercises of the class of 1908 of nurses' training school of the Good Samaritan Hospital. The largest class graduated since the establishment of the school listened to an address by the Rev. Charles Scadding, Bishop of Oregon. The speaker complimented the graduates of the three-year course of instruction and practice in that institution. He also spoke of the praiseworthy examination passed by the class before the medical board of the hospital. Bishop Scadding then presented each with a diploma and a handsome gold pin bearing the insignia of the training school.

The exercises, held in the new Nurses' Home building, were opened with music by a string orchestra, and were followed by prayer by the bishop. An address was then given by Dr. Richard Nunn, one of the staff physicians of the hospital. Dr. Nunn drew a picture of the life and ambitions of the nurse, showing her as the invaluable right hand assistant of the physician, and held up as examples the wonderful accomplishments of Florence Nightingale and Florence Barton.

The presentation of the diplomas and gold pins followed, closing the formal exercises. The Home was then thrown open for inspection by the visitors. From top to bottom the building was decorated with a profusion of roses, carnations and other flowers. Elaborate refreshments were served and an informal reception ensued, which was followed by a dance lasting until midnight.

The members of the class who completed the course last night under the guidance of Miss E. L. Lovelidge, superintendent of the hospital, and Miss Mary Welsh, superintendent of nurses, were as follows: Miss Alvide Aarnes, Miss Daisy Belle Crouse, Mrs. Lulu M. Barnes, Miss Halle F. Friedley, Miss Helen Foster, Miss Helene Hanson, Miss Emily Fogelstrom, Miss Virginia Wortham, Miss Gladys Halme, Miss Edith Richardson and Miss Harriet George.

COSTLY TWO WEEKS DRUNK

PIONEER FINDS HE HAS SOLD PLACE FOR A DOLLAR.

Says Adam Jakubowski and His Wife Kept Him Intoxicated for Fort-night—Brings Suit.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 21.—(Special.)—That he had been kept drunk and drugged for two solid weeks by a neighbor and his wife when he finally recovered his senses found that he has sold his home, worth $800, for a consideration of $1, is the story told in the Superior Court today by I. M. Gladden, 61 years old. He seeks to have the transaction set aside and to recover $2500 damages.

Gladden is a pioneer, having lived on the property he sold since 1852. He alleges that on March 9 Adam Jakubowski and his wife got him very drunk and for two weeks kept him in a stupor by administering to him liquor and drugs. He finally regained his sobriety and then found that he had not only disposed of his home but all his personal property as well. The Jakubowskis had agreed in return for the property to keep him for the rest of his natural life as a cost of not to exceed $15 a month. It was also stipulated that he was to go to the Jakubowski home and live there.

Gladden also complains that he found the homestead vastly changed, trees having been cut down, hen-houses raised and the house itself altered. A temporary receiver was named for the property pending litigation.
