Discuss Bridge Location,-A delegation from the South Mount Tabor Im-Discuss Bridge Location.—A delegation from the South Mount Tabor Improvement Association will attend the meeting of the United East Side push clubs tomorrow night at the Sargent Hotel, Grand and Hawthorne avenues, to present the question of a new Madisonstreat bridge and its location. The members want to hear what the sentiment of the contral organization is as to the location. The South Mount Tabor Association favors locating the West Side approach on Jefferson street. A. Rasmusses has been circulating a petition to have the location of the bridge, when rebuilt on East Mill and Clay streets, and he has succeeded in getting a large number of signatures to his petition calling for a bridge at that point. The Sollwood and Sunnyside clubs have indersed the location called for in this petition. The United East Side push clubs have not indorsed any of the proposed changes of location, but have discussed the new bridge project generally.

EMBANKMENT IS SETTING.—The fill on East Stark street between Grand avenue and Bast Seventh street is slowly growing under the constant operation of the dump trains. It has been found, however, that the bottom is very unstable and the embankment may be nearly up to grade at night but next morning will be found to have settled several feet. Thursday night it went down near the center seven feet, pushing out the mud bottom on both sides of the embankment. The bottom of the slough is a great mass of made that must be overcome by the filling in of thousands of cubic yards of material. As the contracting firm has the bottom of the Willamette River to draw from the supply will never be exhausted. The embankment is 400 feet long and at the top 60 feet wide. The dredge is now the convertion of the Willamette River. EMBANKMENT IS SETTLING.-The fill on

PEOPLE SPEND GLORIOUS SPRING DAY IN THE OPEN

Portlanders Flock to the Country, the Parks, to Church or on the River to Spend Perfect Sunday—Streets and Cars Crowded by Happy Throngs.

G LAD were the hearts of Portlanders as it appears on the Mediterranean, with and atrangers within the gates of patches of fluffy white clouds, moving the city when yesterday dawned. Bright skies, genial warmth, Spring created thoughts of Summertime. blossoms and greenest verdure draw peo-ple out of doors with a resistless force.

clined thronged the churches, and the perfect weather gave opportunity for display of feminine finery denied the owners on Easter Sunday. Light-colored sowns, nedding plumes, filmy laces, cobwebby wraps and silken sunshades, and new Spring suits worn by male escorts made the parade to and from church a belated Easter exhibition.

The fortunate possessors of motorcars, who chose to commune with God in his first temples rather than in the more modern ones of stone and brick, took runs into the country with their wives and children and others followed in carriages. Horseback, others went prancing out the wooded roads, and suburban lines of trolley-cars conveyed thousands to the outlying points of interest.

All day long streams of people flocked to the hills back of the city to Council Crest and City Park, or sauntered along the streets from which far-reaching views of the distant mountains or the city clustered below are to be had. Hundreds visited the recently plated additions on the big East Side, to examine sites for future homes which many had selected from blue-print drawings in the agents of the distant mountains or the city for the time when they should own little places and be independent of iandiords.

Out in the park chi'dren tumbled about on the velvety sward while their eiders gazed down the delis upon a sight that filled their souls with peace and admiration. Among the evergreens, downed and fruit trees lent their bright colors and snowy white; bordering the paths crocuses, tulips, jonquilis and violets, those harbingers of the wealth of blooms soon to come, delighted the eye and scented the air. Overhead the sky was as blue.

The movement to place independent Statement No. 1 legislative candidates in the field in opposition to the regularly nominated Republican candidates in Washington, Yamhill and Tillamook Counties is not the only proceeding of the kind that has been resorted to. In Coos and Curry Counties, R. D. Hume, a wealthy salmon packer of Wedderburn, Curry County, has qualified as an independent candidate for election as joint Senator representing Coos and Curry Counties, Mr. Hume has pledged himself to vote for the Republican voters choice and in the June election will oppose W. C. Chase, the regular Republican nomines, who failed to subscribe to any statement or pledge. Mr. Chase represented Coos County in the House in the last Legislature.

"The people of our district, which includes Coos and Curry Counties," said Mr. Hume yesterday at the Imperial Hotel, "are not satisfied with an unpledged candidate and it was at their solicitation that I have become an independent candidate for Senator. In the recent primary election we gave Sen-dependent candidate for Senator. In the recent primary election we gave Senator Pulton a majority, but we have accepted the result of the contest and are now working for the success of Mr. Cake. We do not propose to stand for the machinations of the Democrats to send a member of their party to the United States Senate and the sentiment is unanimous that the best wey to defeat that movement is to send to the Legislature only men that will agree to support for Senator the choice of the Republican voters.

We do not propose to be party to sending a Democrat Senator to Washington."

I. N. Muncy, of Gold Beach, who re-ceived the nomination on the Republi-joint representative, may become an in-dependent candidate for the same office in the June election on a Statement No.

Rackleff has intended to seek the nomi-nation in the primary election in oppo-sition to Muncy, but falled to file his nominating petitions with the Secretary of State in time to have his name placed on the ballot.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY

O. R. Blystone Arrested for Passing Worthless Checks.

O. R. Blystone, alias Ed Anderson, a son-in-law of W. A. Storey, ex-Mayor of Portland, is under arrest on a charge of passing a worthless check, and according to the police may have to face a number of other similar charges. On April 18 the young man is alleged to have passed a worthless check for $18 on J. . Smith, a bartender for James L. Fowlie, who conducts a saloon at Water and Hawthorne streets. Both Smith and
