FIRST TALK AT ST JOHN

make a few addresses before the campaign closes.
H. M. Calko, Republican candidate for the Senate, did not leave for Coos County until last night, having been delayed in this city another day. He will open his campaign probably at Marshfield, and will cover the southern part of the state thoroughly in his speechmaking tour before returning to this city and transferring his vote-getting crusade to Eastern Oregon. Mr. Calko has not completed his list of appointments. In fact, his itinerary probably will not be arranged finally until after the meeting of the Republican State Central Committee, Wednesday. While it is the purpose of Mr. Calko to speak at as many of the important points in the state as it will be possible for him to reach before the campaign closes, it is probable the members of the state committee will provide speakers, in the interest of his candidacy who will address the voters in such places as the party's candidate will not be able to visit.

CRUISER COMES JUNE 1

log Naval officers are to be made the guests of honor.
It will be several days before it can be announced definitely when the gunboat Yorktown and the fourth torpedo-boat flotilla will be ordered to proceed to Portland, inasmuch as the orders from Secretary Metcalf affecting these boats were issued some days after the bill for the flagship was announced. It is understood that the Yorktown will come here attended by the five torpedo-boats and torpedo-bus destroyers, but no word has been received here as to the exact date of sailing. For this reason, neither the Rose Festival Association nor the local commercial bodies will make any attempt to prepare programmes of entertainment until the official movements of the squadron coming here have been announced. There is even some doubt as to whether the small squadron will be assembled here for the festival, although all preparations for having the crews of the warships take part in the water carnival are progressing.
While no special arrangements will be made for showing conspicuous honors to the detail of the Pacific fleet coming here, the Naval officers attached to the ships ordered here will be honored in a manner entirely befitting their rank and status in all the social functions of the festival week.
The Rose Festival yesterday established its information and accommodation bureau in the Sweetland building, and from now on until the opening of the celebration will be in a position to take care of all inquiries for board and lodging from out-of-town communities, as well as to list local hotels, lodging-houses, restaurants and private residences where festival visitors will be able to secure bed and board during the week.

HOUSEHOLD SUPPLIES

CHARLESTON ABLE TO REMAIN UNTIL JUNE 6.

Dates of Arrival of Yorktown and Fourth Torpedo Flotilla Not Yet Announced.
Official notice was received by Captain W. H. Patterson, the local "warship" pilot, yesterday, that the first-class cruiser Charleston, flagship of the Pacific cruiser squadron, Rear-Admiral Charles Swinburne, commanding, would arrive in Portland Harbor Monday, June 1, the first day of the Portland Rose Festival, and would remain here during the entire week. Accompanying the letter of notification were advices to the effect that the flagship Charleston had sailing orders which required her to depart from Portland Saturday, June 6, the final day of the festival. This, however, will give the flag officers of the squadron the opportunity to attend the grand ball, which is to be held at the Armory on the night of June 5, upon which occasion the visi-
