KENTUCKY DERBY IS RUN IN MUD

Stone Street Defeats Sir Cleges, the Favorite, by Several Lengths.

RESULT NEVER IN DOUBT

Struggle for Place and Show Furnishes Only Excitement for Huge Crowd at Finish—Track is Heavy and Time Slow.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 5.—Finishing well in hand and leading by from one to three lengths for the whole of the last half mile, Stone Street, a bay colt by Longstreet-Stone Nellie, won the 34th Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs today over a track fetlock deep in mud. The finish was never in doubt, after the horses had traveled three-fifths of their mucky route, and the only excitement at the finish was furnished by three horses struggling for the place and show honors.

Sir Cleges, the favorite, finished second, two and one-half lengths behind Stone Street and head in front of Duvegan, who made a final rally in time to beat Synchronized for third place by a neck. Fifteen thousand people cheered the contestants over their journey of a mile and a quarter, which was covered in the slow time of 2:15 1-5.

The total value of the stake was $6000. The money wagered on the big race totalled less than half the amount that usually changes hands on a derby. This was partly due to reduced attendance due to threatening weather, but mainly to the Paris-Mutual betting machines and auction pools, which, after having been banished for 20 years, have been reinstated at Churchill Downs, bookmaking on the American plan having been done away with.

Eight horses started in the derby. Of the nine contestants originally carded, two, Dr. Mathews and Balbus, were scratched, and a third, Galvedear, shipped from Pimlico especially for the event, failed to arrive in time for the race.

They were sent away immediately with a fair start, Milford in the lead, Sir Cleges second and Banridge third. All the others were well bunched except Frank Bird, who was last all the way round. Milford dropped the lead before the grandstand was reached, and Banridge moved out in front, followed by Sir Cleges and Stonestreet in easy reach. Banridge was indulged with the lead until three-quarters of a mile had been covered, and then Dickens, on Stone Street, and Koerner on Sir Cleges, began their ride. Stone Street pushed in front almost immediately, and stayed there until the end. Results:

Five and a half furlongs—Gold Proof won, Dainty Dame second, Deuce third; time 1:07 4-5.

Four furlongs—Alice D. won, Inela second, Miss Hepsburg third; time 0.50 2-5.

Koerner) place, 11.10, show 8.50, second; Dunvegan 114 (Warren) show 11.10, third; time 2:15-1-5. Synchronized, Milford, Bill Herron, Frank Bird, Banridge also ran.

Chit-Chat of Sporting World

BY WILL G. MAC RAE.

GEE! but it's great to be a ball player. Yesterday morning some 20 ball tossers were the center of an admiring throng.

* * *

Floyd Cook has put his beat-the-races scheme in cold storage. Yesterday he took part in the automobile parade and saw the ball game.

* * *

Manager Nick Williams, Captain Mohler and the San Francisco ball team are making their headquarters at the Hotel Lenox.

* * *

Hildebrand, the Seals' clever left fielder, has a host of friends in Portland. Five minutes after he had registered at the Hotel Lenox, Hildy was passing out a few choice selections of bird seed over the telephone. Isn't this showing some class?

* * *

An American declares that once upon a time he was a giraffe. We shall believe this, unless later he comes out as a first baseman or is desirous of becoming a champion booze fighter.

* * *

When the train passed through Grants Pass bearing the ball team, there was a large delegation on hand to give Bud Pernoll the glad hand. One native told "Doc Cox" Raftery that he knew Bud when he used to curve a stone around a haystack and kill a bird.

* * *

Phil Cooney found his batting eye yesterday. He clouted out a couple of nice singles. The first one helped Portland make its lone ace in the hole.

* * *

The baseball management tried to withhold the number in attendance at the game yesterday. They are printed in The Oregonian just the same. Counting the grandstand admissions additional, there were a few over 8000. With those who were admitted free the number would be swelled to fully 9000.

* * *

Melchoir had a busy day in right. In spite of the crowd behind him, he accepted and got away with six hard chances.

* * *

You may see in almost any old game, one man steal home from first, but to see it pulled off twice in one inning is smashing records to beat the band.

FOREST RESERVE HOMES

Writer Makes Complaint of Conduct of Government Officers.

KERNVILLE, Or., May 3.—(To the Editor.)—Each and every one, no doubt, has heard it said that every homesteader, be he rich or poor, gets a fair, square deal at the time of his making final proof upon his homestead.

In the name of the law of the land, which gives every citizen of the United States a right to 160 acres of land, providing he lives up to the requirements of the law, I ask a great many of the homesteaders of the formerly Siletz Indian Reservation who have fulfilled the requirements of the law, especially those who have taken homesteads in a certain forest reserve previous to its being created as such, do not succeed in getting their places without having to have a hearing before the land officers, and spending as much money as the value of the homestead is estimated at?

A certain special agent, after having been notified that a number of settlers had made application for final proof, gathered up his belongings and proceeded to each of their places to report—what is supposed to be according to the dictates of his own conscience—whether these people were entitled to these places or not. One settler who had stayed upon his place until he was destitute of provisions and money took his wife and child, went to Newport, Or., where he succeeded in getting a district school to teach.

Well, this special agent happened along just a few days after the said settler had gone to work, and sent in a report to the United States Land Office that the homesteader mentioned had never cultivated or resided upon his land, but was residing upon land owned by his father; and furthermore, that the settler had taken land for speculation purposes.

It is true that in a forest reserve one would naturally suppose that a settler was taking the land for speculative purposes. But anyone who is not prejudiced against the settler can climb to the summit of any of the surrounding hills and look over thousands of acres of land that has nothing upon it but fern and small brush.

Isn't it possible, then, that a man could get a homestead in this reserve that is practically barren in many places? I could cite a number of other similar instances where settlers have been ill treated.

It seems to me that these Govermental officers instead of helping our part of the state to the front, are doing the utmost of their ability to keep us in the rear. We settlers are aware of the fact that our oaths sink into insignificance compared with the lone special agent. We take two witnesses along with us at the time of our final proof and they testify to what we have accomplished upon our homesteads. The special agent, who has never been upon the place but once or twice in his lifetime, reports to the contrary. By the special agent's report our two witnesses, not omitting ourselves, are liars.

I ask, in the name of justice, that the poor, honest settlers of these reserves be not treated as outcasts, but be shown by an honest government that they have the privilege of calling themselves just citizens of the United States.

WRITES TO BOURNE

Metcalf Explains His Policy Toward Portland.

AFRAID TO SEND FLEET

Lane Replies to Letter in Which the Secretary Declares He Could Not Go Behind the Report of the Navigation Bureau.

Mayor Lane received a communication from United States Senator Bourne yesterday morning, to which was attached a letter from Secretary of the Navy Metcalf, explaining in detail the reasons why the Atlantic battleship fleet was not ordered to visit Portland. Secretary Metcalf declares he did his best for this city, and states that he urged the Bureau of Navigation to report actual conditions on the river and bar, and that he received a reply that it would be dangerous to order the battleships to Portland.

After receiving the report of the Bureau of Navigation, Secretary Metcalf declares, he again took up the matter and told the chief of the bureau he desired to send some ships here, and that he ordered a detail of cruisers and torpedo-boats to Portland for the Rose Festival, that being the best he could do under the circumstances.

Mayor Lane replied to Senator Bourne as follows:

Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., United States Senate, Washington, D. C.—My Dear Senator: I am in receipt of your letter of the 28th of April with enclosed copy of the letter to you from Secretary Metcalf, and wish to thank you for the same.

I have noted what Mr. Metcalf has to say concerning the matter and have given it and your letter to the press here for publication, that the people of this city may more fully understand his reasons for declining to send the fleet to visit this city.

Again thanking you for your courtesy in this matter, I am,

Very sincerely yours,
HARRY LANE,
Mayor.

The letter of Secretary Metcalf to Senator Bourne, under date of April 27, at Washington, follows:

My Dear Senator Bourne: I inclose you some clippings received by me in today's mail, and also copy of letter of Thomas Richardson, manager of the Portland Commercial Club, together with a copy of the Department's reply thereto. I write to you because on several different occasions you have called at the Department and have urged that the battleship fleet be sent to Portland. I referred your request to the Bureau of Navigation, with instructions to comply with the same, if possible.

After having carefully considered the matter, the Bureau of Navigation reported to me that it would not be safe to send the battleship fleet to Portland. I then told the chief of the Bureau that I wanted to comply as far as possible with the request of the people of Portland, and that if the battleship fleet could not be sent I wanted to send some of the cruisers and the torpedo flotilla. Everything has been done by the Department that could be done under the circumstances.

I regret that the efforts of the Department to please the people of Portland have been met by such an insulting article as the inclosed, which is from the Evening Telegram of April 21. I have made the trip to Portland by water on several occasions, but personally know nothing of the channel or of the depth of water, and, of course, would not assume the responsibility of sending a fleet, which has cost the Government so much money, to Portland against the judgment and advice of the Bureau of Navigation.

I leave here this afternoon for California, and hope to see you on my return.

With very kind regards, believe me,
Sincerely yours,
V. H. METCALF.

Suitter's Trial Set for May 18.

The date for hearing the trial of Nathan H. Suitter, the ex-policeman who shot Henry Schaffer in attempting to arrest him at the latter's home on the East Side, has been set for May 18. The trial was at first set for May 14, but the defense asked to have it carried over until the June term. To this the District Attorney's office objected, on account of three murder trials already set for that month. Judge Gantenbein will hold the May jury over for the trial of the Suitter case.
