BY ARTHUR A. GREENE.

SOMEWHERE, probably in one of the ready-to-read literary reviews like

"The Bookman," I've seen it stated that more people peruse Hall Caine than any other writer of English fiction unless

Maria Corelli be the exception, so naturally when a distinguished artist like

Wilton Lackaye is announced to appear in one of Caine's masterpieces, there is a palpating interest immediately aroused among patrons of the theater to be on hand when the event occurs. Last night was the night and the Heilig was the place. Lackaye is known of Portlanders back to our town in the past. He was here in that glorious Fall year and gave us "The Pit" and "Tribby." Portland enthusiastically agrees with the rest of the country that he is one of the big men in American theatricals and anything which he essays is worth consideration. It was a genuine pleasure to welcome him back to our town and a faithful audience participated in the welcome. Mr. Lackaye has shaved his mustache and looks younger, but heavier. "The Bondman" is also no stranger to the local public. Under the disguise of "The Land of the Midnight Sun," it was put on at the Lyric not long ago. It will be remembered that Forrest Seabury played the salient old grandfather in the latter instance, and it must also be admitted that he played it better than Hal De Forest last night. The play is a melodrama, added and abetted by startling mechanical effects and a notable scenic invention. Startling mechanical effects and notable scenic in-phies will be given for the best decorated saddle horse and driving equipage in the parade. The question to be settled is whether members of the Hunt Club and of the Riverside Driving Club shall take part in the parade as individuals or as representatives of the organizations. There will be a meeting of the Hunt Club this afternoon at the clubrooms, when this matter will be decided. The Driving Club will meet on Monday night and Mr. Downing and President Laidlaw will report to the committee, which will meet in the Hunt Club rooms on Wednesday afternoon at 8 o'clock.

Those present at the meeting last night were enthusiastic over the proposed parade. Everybody who rides will be invited to turn out and a special design for decoration will be decided upon. A similar invitation will be extended by the Driving Club. Those who take part in the carriage parade will have a better opportunity for effective decoration than the riders, and members of the Driving Club hope that they will outclass the decorations in the automobile club parade.

Those who were present at last night's meeting were: F. O. Downing, Julius I. Meier, Dr. Emmet Drake, Lou Adams, A. J. Finley, H. Skuse, W. E. Laidlaw, W. M. Davis, E. M. Lazarus, Arthur Gay, A. M. Cronin, J. P. Cronin, and E. House. James Nichol will entertain the members of the Hunt Club on Saturday, May 16, near Garden Home. Mr. Nichol will entertain the club members with a barbecue. Just to give the riders an appetite, a paper trail will be laid from the south end of the Forest Hill bridge.

Members of the club who have invited friends who do not care to ride can reach the ranch either by driving or by taking a streetcar at First and Jefferson streets at 2:06 o'clock or at 3:30, getting off at the Garden Home. In case the weather is not favorable, the barbecue will be postponed until the following Saturday.
