TOO HIGH SALARIES PAID

Thousands of Dollars Spent in Propaganda—Too Much Money Paid the Prosecutors of Trusts, Henny Among Them.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—In reply to Heyburn's attack upon the forestry policy of the administration, Depew, of New York, today, in the Senate, spoke at length in defense of forestry reserves and the reforestation of denuded land.

High Salaries of Prosecutors.

Teller referred to the appropriation of $500,000 for the Department of Justice, to be used for prosecutions under the anti-trust law. The money had been expended, he said, for salaries and other expenses, and a consequence Congress had had nothing to do with fixing the salaries.

Forest Reserves a Curse.

Teller declared that the forest reservations were "an unmitigated curse, and not a blessing. Reading from a memorandum of expenditures of the division, he said $250,000 was expended in the year 1907, he added, had nothing to do with fixing the salaries included in that amount.

Condemns Roosevelt's Action.

Teller spoke of receiving letters favoring forest reserves and added that he believed these letters were prepared by somebody connected with the Department.

Propaganda for Forestry.

Extended discussion of the expenditures of the Forestry Bureau for publicity work of various kinds, called forth a vigorous denial by Mr. Smoot that a for-ester had attended a convention and charged his expenses to "the hay and grain account."
