

FINAL DISGRACE OF ZU EULENBERG

Prince Accused of Un-natural Crime.

WAS ONCE KAISER'S CONFIDANT

Charged With Perjury in Denying His Guilt.

WITNESSES CONFRONT HIM

Brilliant Wit and Literary Man is Drugged From Bed of Sickness to Hospital Under Arrest—Has Letters From the Kaiser.

BERLIN, May 8.—Once the intimate friend and confidential personal adviser of Kaiser William, Prince Philip zu Eulenberg today was placed under arrest on a charge of perjury at his castle at Leibenberg, 40 miles distant. He was brought in an ambulance automobile to the Charity Hospital, in Berlin, where he is detained pending further inquiry.

The charge of perjury was made by the crown prosecutor as a result of the testimony of two men that he had been guilty of unnatural crimes against them 25 years ago. At the second trial of Maximilian Harden, in Berlin, for publishing in Die Zukunft against Prince Philip and others charges relating to the crimes which these men allege, the Prince swore to his entire innocence and denied that he knew the men. When the scandal came up again in a new trial at Munich, these two witnesses testified that the Prince committed the crimes alleged 25 years ago. They were brought to his bedside yesterday and reiterated their testimony. The Prince then repeated his denial. The examining magistrate told the Prince he was compelled to believe the witnesses and the charge of perjury against the Prince followed.

Many Letters From Kaiser.

The Prince is presumed to have in his possession a great many letters, possibly more than 100, from Emperor William containing expressions of the imperial estimate of leading personages in Germany and of some European sovereigns. The reports concerning these letters probably are exaggerated, but even so, there would appear to be enough truth in the rumor to place it within the Prince's power to create much embarrassment by their publication.

Ruin of Brilliant Man.

The Prince's arrest is taken to mean the irretrievable ruin of this brilliant man, who was at one time a confidential friend of Emperor William. The Prince had been nearer to his majesty during the greater part of his reign than any other German subject. He might have been Chancellor of the Empire if he had not refused the responsibility. This he did possibly because stories of secret misconduct have long been circulating against him, so much so that he has lived on the brink of disclosure for the past ten years. He voluntarily gave up the position of German Ambassador to Vienna in 1902, because, as was commonly supposed at the time, a group of his enemies threatened him with exposure. After resigning at Vienna, the Prince returned to Berlin, where he was often with the Emperor.

Was Kaiser's Confidant.

The statement that Prince zu Eulenberg advised the Emperor in political matters has been made by men who sought to displace the Prince in the imperial confidence by intimating that there was danger to the state in the alleged fact that the Emperor turned from his constitutional advisers to a friend behind a screen, who was responsible to no one but his majesty himself. This constantly-repeated statement never has been confirmed, but everybody in official life has known that Emperor William was delighted with the companionship of the Prince, whose conversation was always cheerful, full of wit, anecdote and dramatic climaxes, natural and easy and touched now and then with graceful and sentimental expressions. His epigrams were more feared than those of any other tongue at the court. The Prince is a gifted writer and is the author of no less than 11 volumes of fairytales, short stories and poems and several plays, which he published under the name of Svenson.

Amiable, Though in Disgrace.

The Prince's charm of manner did not desert him today. He is a sick man and the joints of his legs are swollen from neuritis, but when a physician representing the examining board informed him that he was well enough to be taken a prisoner to the hospital, he quickly called his valet and dressed with difficulty, the Prince's amiable talk the while being interrupted every now and then by a grimace of pain.

Police agents watched him through all last night standing in a room adjoining his sleeping apartment and keeping him under observation through an open door. The Prince was restless until after midnight, from which hour he slept quietly until long after day-break. One of his sons, who has been his constant companion recently, accompanied him to the door of the hospital. It is possible that the Prince will be released in $250,000 bail.

Villagers Weep for Prince.

A crowd of weeping villagers gathered in the village of Liebenberg, where the Prince is greatly beloved, to bid him farewell. The automobile made slow progress in covering the 40 miles, owing to the prisoner's condition. He was suffering greatly from pain, and several times during the

EVERY MAN ON SHIP SAVED

Lifesavers Wrest Rickmers' Crew From Storm's Grasp.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Seventy-two men, who for more than 24 hours had been facing death in the raging sea near Fire Island, were rescued from the crumbling bulk of the big German ship Peter Rickmers early today. The rescue was effected after one of the most trying experiences the life-savers on this coast have ever been called upon to face. No less than a dozen times hope of saving the men on the doomed ship was all but abandoned, and the rescue was made only by the most heroic and desperate efforts of the lifesavers.

The great steel ship, one of the finest sailing vessels that ever rode the sea, is a total wreck. Her bow and stern have been completely torn off by the waves, her masts are ripped out, her deckhouses and bridges swept away, and she is full of water. She is lying far back on the bar, and it is unlikely that any effort will be made to tow her to deep water again.

The Rickmers struck the sand bar about 10 miles from Fire Island April 30, while bound out from New York for Europe.

ANGER STANFORD FACULTY

Prevent Circulation of College Paper by Bookstore.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., May 8.—On account of "Joshies" on Professor Clark and President Jordan contained in the 1907 "Quad," the Stanford bookstore today refused to sell the book, after making an agreement to do so with the manager of the book store, D. W. Burbank. The manager of the bookstore refused to give any reason for his change of mind, but as the corporation is controlled by faculty members, it is understood that some of the stockholders prevented the sales as a means of retaliation for the joshes on the faculty.

LOSES $1,250,000 BY FIRE

TWO BLOCKS IN ATLANTA REDUCED TO CINDERS.

Flames Spread From Bakery and Destroy Three Hotels and Several Big Factories.

ATLANTA, May 8.—One million and a quarter dollars is the loss conservatively estimated tonight of a fire which early today destroyed two blocks of Atlanta business property. Tonight the fire is under control with ruined buildings in the district bounded by Forsythe, Nelson, Madison and Hunter streets. Late today the police and fire departments dynamited what was left of the ragged walls. How the fire started is a mystery. There was no loss of life and no injuries. The insurance on the property destroyed was placed at $750,000. One of the heaviest losses is S. M. Imman, of Atlanta, who owned the entire block bounded by Forsythe, Mitchell and Nelson streets and Madison avenue.

The Terminal Hotel, one of the largest in the city, is a mass of bricks. It had on its register 200 guests when the fire started a block away. Every one escaped.

The fire started in the Schlesinger-Meyer Baking Company's building, between Madison and Nelson streets and, through lack of water pressure, spread until it leaped across Mitchell street to the Terminal Hotel. Thence it spread to the Liquid Carbonic Company's building, which was wrecked by two great explosions. The Marion Hotel Annex, the Childs Hotel, Postoffice Station D, the most important substation in the city, the Southern Suspender Company and the Southern Handkerchief Manufacturing Company, the Georgia Vehicle Company, the Piedmont Hat Company and McCleure's 10-cent store were all destroyed.

so-called commodity provision of the Hepburn rate law, and the Commission has no knowledge whatever of any agreement or understanding between railroad companies and the authorities charged with the duty of enforcing the law whereby the railway companies affected by the commodity provision are to be given immunity from punishment for its violation.

These are, in brief, the statements made by the Commission in a communication forwarded to the Senate today in response to a resolution calling upon the Commission for any information in its possession regarding the enforcement of the commodity provision of the rate law.

HAVE BILLION FOR DEFENSE

Shippers Preparing for Titanic Battle With Railroads.

CHICAGO, May 8.—Commercial and manufacturing interests of cities from the Mississippi River to Maine, aggregating over $1,000,000,000 in capital, are preparing for a Titanic struggle with the Eastern railroads. The question of a general advance in freight rates is the issue. The gauntlet was thrown down by the railroads in the shape of a definite announcement that on July 1 and August 1 a general advance of freight rates approximating 10 per cent will be made east of the Mississippi River. The great shippers and manufacturers have lost no time in securing the passage of a bill.

The first movement in arraying the commercial and manufacturing interests of the affected territory in a solid phalanx against the Eastern railroad systems was made yesterday by the Illinois Manufacturers' Association. It quickly was followed by the Chicago Association of America. The former issued a call for a great conference to be held in Chicago next Friday of all the commercial and industrial organizations of the eastern section of the country. The meeting will map out a general line of battle.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Mrs. I. H. Mrs. Holt, with a party of friends, was waiting on the pier to go aboard one of the company's boats to witness the fleet illumination.

REPAIR DREDGE CHINOOK

Fulton Proposes Appropriation for Work on Columbia Bar.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 8.—Senator Fulton today proposed an amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $100,000 for repairing the dredge Chinook. The Senator had a conference with the Chief of Engineers, who is anxious that the Chinook be again placed in commission and set to work on the Columbia River bar. It is doubted if $100,000 is needed for repairs, but an estimate will be had in a short time and, if a smaller amount is required, the amount will be reduced.
