

HENEY HAS GUN READY TO SHOOT

Ruef Trial Almost Causes an Open Fight Among the Lawyers.

HENEY CALLS MURPHY LIAR

Grilling Cross-Examination of Gallagher by Ach Provokes Prosecutor to Fury—He Tells of Threats and Insults.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Endeavoring to come to the defense of the prosecution's star witness, who was being subjected to a severe cross-examination, and accused of having put words in the witness' mouth, Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney precipitated a sensational scene in the courtroom this afternoon in the trial of Abraham Ruef.

The outbreak occurred during the cross-examination of James L. Gallagher, the prosecution's principal witness in the bribery-graft cases, whose home in Oakland was blown up two weeks ago. Gallagher, who admittedly was the agent and go-between of Ruef and the Supervisors, had testified that Ruef instructed him to "hold up" the application of the Parkside Realty Company for a trolley franchise and subsequently told him to see the other members of the Board, advise them that each Supervisor would get $750 to pass the ordinance and to "put it through."

So hoarse that he could not speak above a whisper without great effort, Heney commenced Gallagher's cross-examination at 2 o'clock. For some time he was unable to find any vulnerable point in the witness' testimony, but as the cross-examination continued and became more severe, with a repetition of the same question in various forms and a relentless probing for details, Gallagher became nervous and confused.

Henry Threatens to Shoot. "You are a liar," retorted Mr. Heney, rising to his feet. "Put him in jail," shouted Mr. Murphy. "If either of you want anything and will come outside, I'll give it to you this minute," challenged Mr. Heney, as he reached for his hat.

Henry Says Life in Danger. Mr. Ach, addressing the court, said he desired to take exception to the statement made before the jury that the Assistant District Attorney was in court armed. He declared that Ruef did not have in his employ any person other than his attorneys and his office boy, and asserted that Mr. Heney had no right to come into court with weapons on him.

Mr. Heney has a gun in his pocket," said Mr. Ach, but was interrupted by the Assistant District Attorney with "Yes, I have a gun. An attempt has been made to assassinate me and one other man connected with this proceeding by some of their crowd of thugs. There are about half a dozen in this courtroom right now."

ing in a repetition of the incident of the afternoon. Mr. Heney apologized, saying he greatly regretted the affair. "I would like to say in extenuation," said he, "that I have been under a heavy strain, trying cases for four years here and in Oregon. I deeply regret on your honor's account that it occurred."

Money to Throw to Birds. Gallagher was proceeded on the stand by State Senator George B. Keane and William J. Dungee, a prominent capitalist. Keane was for some years Ruef's law partner, later secretary to Mayor Schmitz, which position he resigned to accept the appointment as clerk of the Board of Supervisors. He was called by the prosecution merely to identify the records of the Board.

Dungee told of conversations with Mayor Schmidt regarding the Parkside project. He also told of a remark made to him by Ruef when talking about the Parkside proposition that "if they," referring to the Parkside people, "wanted to throw money to the birds, I am one of the birds."

HAVE OUTLAW PENNED IN

HALF-BREED MOSNEY, IS RUN DOWN AT LAST. Desperado Trained to Cave Near Arrow Creek and Must Surrender or Starve.

BUTTE, Mont., May 8.—A special from Lewistown, Mont., to the Miner says: Sheriff Edward Marton and Deputy Sheriff Al Morgan, now in the field after the notorious half-breed outlaw Mosney, are unjured and have the desperado corralled in a cave near Arrow Creek.

John Walsh rode in from there today and brought this news with him. He states that the officers soon got on to the trail of their man, and finally penned him up in his retreat, from which he can escape only through surrender, as it will do him no good to fight, all the advantage being on the Sheriff's side.

Walsh said it was expected when he left that there might be a termination of the affair at any moment, and added that there is no room for doubt as to the man being Mosney.

Students Make Good Use of Theater Given Them. UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Or., May 8.—(Special.)—By way of appreciation for the gentlemanly manner in which University students have conducted themselves while attending the Orpheum Theater since its opening, L. E. Mummy, manager of the theater, turned the place over to the students for one night, and the college boys organized a minstrel show, which they presented to a packed house this evening.

FIREMEN CONFESS ARSON

Admit Having Burned Jamestown Exposition Buildings. NORFOLK, Va., May 8.—Four members of the Jamestown Exposition Fire Department and two of the Powhatan Guard were today held to the grand jury on the charge of arson. Two of the men filed written confessions that they started the fire on the grounds which destroyed the Philippine villages and other villages, ten days ago. They said it was understood that Fire Chief Miller had recommended a cut in both forces and salaries and they thought a fire would demonstrate the value of both the firemen and guards of the grounds.

CANNON TALKS OUT

Advises the Visiting Bishops What to Do.

SIDES WITH SENATOR KNOX

Believes Congress Should Not Infringe on Prerogatives of Any State, Which He Says Would Call for "Thunder."

WASHINGTON, May 8.—A committee from the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, whose general conference is now being held in Baltimore, today called on Speaker Cannon and presented to him resolutions that had been adopted by the conference and asked that the Littlefield interstate liquor shipment bill now pending before a committee of the House be reported with favorable recommendation; that the House pass the bill and send it to the Senate for favorable consideration and that action be had before the adjournment of the present session of Congress.

Among them were Governor Hanley, of Indiana; Governor Hoch, of Kansas, and Judge Charles A. Pollock, of Fargo, N. D. Speaker Cannon, after reading the resolution, alluded to the consideration that has been given to this question by the Senate committee on judiciary and called attention to the report of Senator Knox declaring the Littlefield and other bills to be unconstitutional, which he considered to be a very able document. He said that if Congress attempted to overreach and infringe upon the prerogatives of the state, the state would "soon thunder."

The speaker was rather inclined to think that better results could be obtained if the conference pursued the lines of a bill drafted by Mr. Knox after rejecting the Littlefield measure, which he said, was pronounced by a committee of able lawyers in the Senate to be unconstitutional.

VETERAN BISHOP RETIRES

Thoburn Asks Methodist Conference to End His Labors. Particularly is this so in the Southern States, they say, where the delegates have been suspicious of Bryan ever since he spoke in Madison Square Garden, after his trip around the world, and advocated Government ownership of railroads. Of course, he took it back later, but the damage had been done.

Whether the strength of the anti-Bryan combination will be thrown to Harmon at the start is a question as yet undecided. Several leaders of conservative sentiment favor keeping the Ohio man in the background as far as possible. Their idea is to split the votes of the anti-Bryan men up among a number of favorite sons, and throw the convention into a harmless deadlock.

SUED FOR DEFICIT

Heinze and Clements Asked to Make Good Losses. AETNA BANK CASE AGAIN. Receiver Wilson Sues for Value of Stock and Other Sums—Accuses Them of Misconduct and Also Fraud in Management.

NEW YORK, May 8.—A suit to recover approximately $100,000 from F. Augustus Heinze and A. B. Clements was begun in the Supreme Court here today by Robert Lyons, receiver of the Aetna Banking & Trust Company of Butte, Montana. Heinze formerly was president and Clements manager of the institution. They are asked to account for $100,000 worth of stock, a credit of $7,770 and for another amount of $3,000.

It is stated in the complaint, that in November, 1906, Heinze paid $100,000 to E. T. Wilson, acting receiver of the bank, for the benefit of its creditors. This $100,000, according to the complaint, was distributed among the creditors, reducing the bank's liability to that extent. The receiver now asks the Court, that if an application of $100,000 was proper, Heinze and Clements be required to account for stock of the bank having a face value of $100,000. They also are asked to account for alleged loss and damages to the company which, it is charged, were due to their negligence, unlawful acts, misconduct and fraud.

CHOICE OF CONSERVATIVES

ballots are taken, Bryan's supporters will melt away like snow, and soon leave him in a hopeless minority. A careful canvass of the situation has convinced them that the "sentiment" for Bryan is the reflection of despair and indifference rather than of fanatical enthusiasm. Weak in the South. Particularly is this so in the Southern States, they say, where the delegates have been suspicious of Bryan ever since he spoke in Madison Square Garden, after his trip around the world, and advocated Government ownership of railroads.

DIGS FOR BURIED LOOT

Mysterious Stranger Causes Much Excitement in Salem. SALEM, Or., May 8.—Much excitement was caused here today by the arrival of a mysterious man, who began excavating near the river in a spot where it has always been rumored a notorious outlaw buried $10,000 and much valuable jewelry, following a murder in California and flight to Salem. The outlaw was followed here by officers and the impression remains that the loot was hastily buried in this spot. The man who arrived here today paced off 100 steps from a certain tree and was apparently satisfied that he had found the right place and began to dig. He was driven away by the property owner, who continued the excavation. Hundreds visited the spot during the day.

NOTABLE MODERN MISSIONARY. Bishop Thoburn's Long Career in Asia—Predicts Asiatic Invasion. Bishop James M. Thoburn, who applied to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at Baltimore, yesterday, to be retired from active service, had had a most remarkable career. He is nearly 72 years old and was elected to the bishopric in 1888, being assigned to India and Southern Asia, where he had previously labored. He served continuously, being one of the most noted missionaries of modern times, until his health was shattered. Three years ago he was obliged to cease the hard toil and privations incident to his chosen duties in India and come home to rest. By the whole church and by the world at large as well, Bishop Thoburn is held in high and loving esteem. Here in Portland, where he lived most of the past three years, while resting from his missionary labors, he was greatly beloved, as indeed is the case throughout Methodism, especially. Last September, turning the life in this city, Bishop Thoburn thrilled his hearers by declaring that he saw, in the coming to America of the will of God, and the subsequent working out of the great missionary movement the world over, the greatest blessing of his long service in India and his great knowledge of the situation, his words created a profound impression throughout the country.

Although probably the best-known of all Methodist bishops, both at home and abroad, Bishop Thoburn has spent the greater part of his ministerial life in countries across the seas. In stature, it is said, he is the smallest of the bishops. His wonderful vitality and grim determination, however, kept him up in the conflict, and he toiled on for many years, even after his physical needs required him to rest. That he will be retired there is no doubt.

Whether the strength of the anti-Bryan combination will be thrown to Harmon at the start is a question as yet undecided. Several leaders of conservative sentiment favor keeping the Ohio man in the background as far as possible. Their idea is to split the votes of the anti-Bryan men up among a number of favorite sons, and throw the convention into a harmless deadlock.

Then when the men from the South are sick and disgusted and eager to go home, Harmon will turn to him as their political Moses.
