HOW MURDERESS KILLED HUSBAND

Brother of Gunness Tells of Marriage to La Porte Monster.

CAME SUDDENLY DEATH

Mrs. Gunness Said Sausage Machine Fell on Man's Head, Then Tried to Win Brother, but He Was Suspicious.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 12.-Gus Gunness brother of Peter S. Gunness, the sec ond husband of Mrs. Bella Gunness, the La Porte murderess, lives in this city at 2408 Thirtieth Avenue South. Today h told of his brother's marriage to the woman, said that twice he himself was at her farm, and was once urged by Mrs. Gunness to manage the place.
"I first met Mrs. Gunness when we lived in Janesville, Wis.," he said. "Mrs. Gunness lived there for a time. Peter knew her before that in Chicago. He boarded with her there, when he worked in a butcher shop, and when she came to Janesville she often called on our mother. Peter did not meet her through Married Her Suddenly.

"Peter was married after he He lived at 3624 Hennepit avenue and worked as an order man for a grocery house. His wife died about a grocery house. His wife died about six years ago at the Hennepin-avenue House and he suddenly left. The next we heard of him he was in La Porte and had married Mrs. Gunness. We thought nothing of it except that he married pretty soon after the death of his wife. Neither mother nor myself knew anything at that time against his wife. My brother wrote frequently and said they had a nice place there. had a nice place there.

"When he went to La Porte, Peter took his daughter Swanhilde and baby Philip with him. Three months after the mar-riage in La Porte, the baby died and the allment was never diagnosed. They called a physician and death was attributed to natural causes, although there was no official investigation.

Explanation of His Death.

"Five years ago last December Mrs. Gunness wrote me that Peter had been accidentally killed. A sausage-grinding accidentally killed. A sausage-grinding machine fell on his head, she wrote. I went immediately to La Porte and arrived went immediately to La Forte and arrived there before the funeral, which took place from the house. There was a small wound on the top of Peter's head, which Mrs. Gunness said was caused by the machine falling from a shelf back of the stove. Only he and Mrs. Gunness were in the house at the time.

"Her explanation excited some suspicion."

'Her explanation excited some suspicion and there was an investigation. The woman said Gunness was leaning over to tie his shoe when the shelf gave way and the machine fell on his head. She rushed into the room to find him dead. The Coroner was summoned and after weighing the machine and measuring the distance of the fall, he said the blow could easily have caused death. Neigh-bors talked some, but nothing ever came

Tried to Win Brother.

"I stayed there several days, Mrs Gun ness begged me continuously to stay with her and manage the farm. 'We can get along nicely together,' she said, 'and we will make money, for I know you are a good farmer.' However, I refused. I dld a statement connected with the case to

Drugged, Stabbed With Dirk and

Then Cut to Pieces. LA PORTE, Ind., May 12.—Evidence to establish the identity of three addi-tional victims of Mrs. Belia Gunness was the most positive development of a day filled with contradictory hap-penings. Both prosecution and defense received setbacks from the discoveries and revelations, but on the whole sub-stantial progress was made toward bringing the case to the state, where It will be transferred to the courts.

The reports of the four physicians who conducted the postmortem examinations on the bodies found in the inations on the bodies found in the ruins of the Gunness home were given to the Coroner's jury this morning. They fall to establish the manner in which the woman and three children met death, and it is probable that the Coroner's jury will return an open ver-dict regarding them. The procedure in Indiana does not provide for Coroner's juries to consider the individual con-clusions of Dr. Mack.

Drugged and Then Stabbed.

As to the manner of death of the ten murdered persons whose bodies were uncovered in a little patch of ground guarded by closely-woven wire netting, that they came to their deaths through the administration of a deadly amount of chloral has been proven. The places at which the drug was purchased during the last eight years have been found. That the inanimate corpses then were dismembered either in a chamber of horrors on the second flooof the Gunness home or in the basement, has been shown.

Additional evidence on this point was unearthed this morning. Almost two dozen pairs of scissors, bent and curved in the fashion of surgical instruments, are said to have been found in the ashes in the cellar, and in addition three knives, two of a surgical char-acter and another an unmistakable dirk, were picked up. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, it is believed that the dirk may have been the chief weapon employed in the series of murders. An expert hand could easily have slipped the snake-like weapon between the ribs of the victims and penetrated the heart.

Signs of Death Struggle.

The fact that there was no mark of enetrating wounds on Andrew Helgepenetrating wounds on Andrew Heige-lein's body is a possible refutation of this theory. Heigelein succumbed only after a fierce strggle, in which he tore a handful of hair from the person of his murderer. Chloroform or some other deadening drug is thought to have been used to subdue his death struggle, after which some deadly poi-son was used to encompass his death. In all the other bodies found on the

In all the other bodies found on the farm there is no negative evidence to disprove the dirk theory, although the condition of the cadavers precludes definite information on this point. The knives and scissors are thought to have been used in dismembering the bodies. Each corpse was mutilated in practically the same manner, the bodies of the latest victims showing particularly expert anatomical work.

for six years was a neighbor of Mrs Gunness, says that on the only occa-sion on which she called upon her neighbor, her hostess sat near an open window until a strong breeze through this opening blew aside the folds of a loose dress which Mrs. Gunness was wearing, and revealed about her body a wire belt containing pouches of vari-ous sizes and sheaths, which seemed to have been constructed for knives.

Mystery in the Rings.

Dr. J. Lucius Gray, who performed the autopsy on the body which the au-thorities have steadfastly claimed is that of Mrs. Belle Gunness, in his report tells of three rings which were found on the corpse, and also reveals the fact that the right hand, hitherto declared missing, is still in existence

The rings, which might be expected to reveal the identity of the wearer, only add to the mystery of the case. Two of them contain inscriptions, one being "P. S. to J. S. August 22, '94, and the other, "P. G. to J. S. March 95." Mrs. Gunness' husband was Peter

"90." Mrs. Gunness' husband was Peter Gunness, but the identity of "J. S." and "P. S." is a puzzle.

Jennie Olsen, it is suggested, may have been the owner of the rings, but the sizes of the circles, taken in connection with the date and the fact that she was born in 1879, preclude this as a definite conclusion.

William Schulze today began sluic ing the ashes in the ruins and found something which was at first believed to be Mrs. Gunness' gold-filled tooth, but proved to be a piece of gilt picture molding.

Mrs. Gunness Writes Kansas Man to Come With $1000.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 12.-Christian Hansen, a Norwegian laborer, of Armour-dale, Kan., a suburb, last Saturday re-ceived a letter from Mrs. Belle Gunness, the La Porte. Ind., murderess, stating that if he could produce $1000 cash she would marry him. The text of the letter, which had remained in the local Post-office several days before its delivery to Hansen, follows:

Hansen, follows:

La Porte, Ind., March I, 1908.—Mr.
Christian Hansen, No. 606 North Third street, Armourdale, Kan Dear Sir: I am a lonely Norwegian woman and you have been recommended to me by a mutual friend who tells me you have pienty of this world's goods and have a kind and generous disposition. I live on a little 72-acre farm, just 50 miles from Chicago, with a coxy 12-room cottage, kitchen and the rest and badly need a good, kind husband to look after myself and small family of three children. I have two little girls and a boy 5 years old. His father died five years ago when he was a little baby so he needs a father and one who will aid in his bringing up.

You understand that I hire help here, but none of the men I hire can be depended upon, so you must not come as a hired man but as my husband and I will entertain you under my roof until we understand each other. You will find me competent and of a very loving disposition. I have plenty of money upon which to live. You must have plenty of money upon which to live. You must have plenty of money, too. In order that I may know that you are not a grafter and do not marry me for my money, you must be sure and bring with you $1000 in currency. I live only a few miles from La Porte and have a splendid farm and a nice little garden. Lovingly yours.

So far as known, no word ever came to the desolate man from either of his daughters, although they were aplum. In the event either had pressed a desire to care for him, state authorities might have permitted them to take him away, so that he would not have passed away in an asylum, attended only by paid employes. Chairmann Mann, of the House commit

He called attention to their criticisms and then contrasted them with the refusal of many of them to supply the information which he said was necessary for the committee to have in preparing its re-port. He declared it to be the desire of the committee to report during this seasion, but intimated that the course of the publishers might prevent its doing so. When the inquiry was resumed today, John C. Norris, the representative of the Publishers' Association, continued his statement. He stated that last year the International Paper Company imports from Canada were 170,000 quoted from a newspaper article to show that the company took the pulp that was imported and put it into its export paper, in order that it might get the benefit of the reduced cost, as it would save four-fifths of $1.57 on every ton imported by reason of rebates from the Govern
