COMMISSION TO ACT ON CURRENCY

Only Point on Which House and Senate Conferees Agree.

BOTH BILLS ARE HOPELESS

Joint Commission Will Recommend Measure Next Session--Last Obstacle to Adjournment of Congress Saturday Removed.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The appointment of a Currency Commission to be composed of nine Senators and nine members of the House, will be provided for by the bill which Senator Aldrich will introduce in the Senate tomorrow and, if this is passed by Congress, it will comprise all of the financial legislation that will be enacted at the present session.

This course was decided upon today by the conferees on the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill at a final conference, which demonstrated beyond question that there is no hope of getting an agreement between the Senate and House on an emergency measure.

Will Adjourn Saturday.

Undoubtedly this decision means that leaders in Congress are determined upon a final adjournment of Congress next Saturday. No question before Congress at the present session has received such earnest attention as that of passing a bill which would provide against financial crises of the character experienced last Fall. The efforts to legislate, however, were complicated from the start with demands from individuals who desired to bring about a general revision of the laws to regulate banking and amend the whole currency system of the Government. These demands were made in both branches of Congress, and the bills reported in each house in consequence were more or less compromise measures.

No Chance of Compromise.

Conferees on the part of the Senate and the House failed to get down to a discussion of the details of the two bills finally sent to the conferees. The sentiment was such that in either body there appeared to be no chance of compromise and it is said that if Congress were to stay in session a week longer, neither could be induced to yield. In view of all these circumstances, the conferees reached the opinion that it would be better to pass a bill providing for a commission on which there is no difference of opinion. It is not expected that either the Senate or the House will discharge its conferees and, if no report is ready from the commission at the next session of Congress, an emergency measure may then be agreed upon for immediate action.

SENATE PASSES OMNIBUS BILL

Provides for $35,000,000 in Public Buildings--Many Increases.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The Senate today passed the omnibus public building bill, inserting not only the numerous amendments suggested by the Senate committee on public buildings and grounds, but also a few proposed by individual Senators. As passed the bill carries a total of about $35,000,000, of which $6,000,000 is for building contracts. The larger appropriations for new buildings added by the Senate included: Riverside, Cal., $125,000; Everett and Walla Walla, Wash., $140,000.

The limit of cost fixed for the sub-treasury building in San Francisco was increased from $375,000 to $455,000. The Senate amendment providing for a new office building for the departments of State and Justice to be used jointly was retained, the ultimate cost of which is limited to $2,500,000, and it is pointed out that if this item is not retained the bill may be allowed to fall. The amendment appropriating $400,000 for purchase of an embassy building in Paris to be used as an office and residence, also was accepted by the Senate.

Trademark Treaty With Japan.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The Senate committee on foreign relations today voted to report favorably on two treaties with Japan for protection of American trademarks, patents and copyrights in Manchuria and Corea, and Japanese trademarks, patents and copyrights in the United States.

No Agreement on Currency.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Conferees on the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill held another meeting today and failed to agree. It is now apparent that the whole subject of financial legislation will go over until the next session.

McGregor Named for Collector.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The President today nominated William F. McGregor to be Collector of Customs for the District of Oregon.

TALKING ABOUT PEACE

GOOD PROSPECT OF SETTLING CLEVELAND STRIKE.

One Car Dynamited and Explosives Found Strewn on Streets--Reward Offered by Johnson.

CLEVELAND, O., May 20.—Barring a possible squabble over the details of the settlement, the indications at midnight were that a peaceable end of the strike of motormen and conductors against the Municipal Street Railway Company will come tomorrow. The conferees at this hour still were in executive session, but according to reports emanating from the room the chances seemed to be that an amicable agreement to arbitrate the matters in dispute would be reached before adjournment.

Incipient cases of attacks upon cars were reported late in the night, the most serious of which was the dynamiting of a Loraine avenue car at West Sixty-fifth street. The trucks were demolished and 20 passengers were paint-stricken. None, however, were injured.

In other sections of the city a few cars suffered from stone-throwers, but altogether the night passed without a recurrence of the extreme violence of the day past.

A patrolman found fully 100 big dynamite caps scattered along the cartracks at Bridge avenue and West Forty-fifth street, at 2 o'clock this morning. The caps were placed so close together that they would have completely wrecked the first cars that struck them. Fifteen minutes later he found a bottle of nitroglycerin lying in the gutter at Bridge avenue and West Forty-third street.

Mayor Johnson offered a reward today for information leading to the arrest and conviction of rioters.

Cars were run today on practically a full schedule.

THEY STILL FIGHT

Evidence That Paper Manufacturers Compete.

EAGER TO MAKE DEFENSE

New Witnesses Will Prevent Report on Paper Trust This Session.

Jobber Says Mills Quote Varying Prices.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The investigation of the wood-pulp and print paper industry was not concluded today by the special House committee, and the chances for a report being made to Congress in time for action at this session are not as bright as they were a few days ago. A number of paper manufacturers were examined today, and the committee was informed that several others are due from the West tomorrow. The testimony today embraced both the increase of the cost of the body that goes into the paper and the increase in the rate of wages. Arguments against the removal of the tariff on wood-pulp and paper also were made.

Middlemen Crowded Out.

William B. Littleton, of the Antietam Paper Company, Hagerstown, Md., jobbers of news print paper, denied that his firm was selling agent of the International Paper Company, as has been charged. He said his company was not the selling agent of any manufacturer. The lowest price he ever bought paper at was $1.99 delivered in Hagerstown. This was some time in the nineties.

The witness said that in September, 1907, he had been informed by the International Paper Company that, when its contracts with jobbers expired, the company was going to eliminate the jobbers and sell its product direct to newspapers. Mr. Littleton told of one instance where he had been selling paper to a publisher at $1.40 per hundred. When his contract expired he quoted a price slightly in excess of this amount, but the Manufacturers' Paper Company made a quotation at $1.67 and secured the contract.

Finds Quotations Vary.

"So you are finding it difficult to maintain that advance in price?" interposed Chairman Mann.

Mr. Littleton said that since this action of the International Paper Company he had been buying paper of jobbers and also from mills. He read a number of quotations that had been furnished him for the purpose of supplying orders, these quotations coming from mills and jobbers

AGAIN VENTS ANGER

Rayner Vainly Pleads Cause of Colonel Stewart.

SENATE TURNS DEAF EAR

Maryland Senator Compares Roosevelt to Absolute King and Threatens to Arouse Public Opinion Against Him.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Senator Rayner again today made an appeal to the Senate for a vote on a resolution "authorizing and requesting" the President to appoint a court of inquiry to investigate charges against Colonel William F. Stewart, Coast Artillery, stationed at Fort Grant, Arizona. Rayner declared his belief that the committee on military affairs would not report his resolution during the present session of Congress.

and asked that a modified resolution be had prepared to be acted upon by the Senate, without the intervention of the committee. Objection being made, further consideration of the resolution was postponed.

Rayner said he called up his resolution because he was satisfied there would be no action this session by the committee on military affairs. He referred sarcastically to the delay in sending the papers in the case from the War Department to the Senate, and then reminded the Senate that meanwhile Colonel Stewart was on the heights of Arizona, "at an altitude as high as the President in a climate as healthful as that of the White House." His companions were festive and convivial, consisting of a caretaker, a teamster and several Government mules. He continued:

Sarcasm Poured Forth.

"If the President is satisfied, everybody ought to be satisfied. Why not? What right has anybody to be dissatisfied with anything that satisfies the President? Who would be guilty of such a treasonable act? The King cannot commit a wrong, and therefore the President cannot commit a wrong. Congress may err. Human judgment at the zenith of its strength is liable to error, and the President is no exception, but the executive never can blunder. Infallibility is one of his attributes. When he has finished with the prosecution and there has been no testimony allowed to be produced on the other side, he is so well fortified and entrenched that you cannot assail him."

He asserted Colonel Stewart's guilt and, to be confronted with the hostile witnesses and to have counsel. He appealed to the Senate to vote on his resolution, saying that if he refused, the only relief would be for Colonel Stewart to die in captivity. Then the country might come to the same conclusion as England came to in the case of one of her bravest Admirals. He predicted that, if the Senate did not act, public opinion would, and continuing:

"It will take the unfortunate officer and transfer him from the custody of the President into the presence of the people, and, trampling with an iron heel upon the desperate experiment of authority that the President had used, it will give to his victim, humble, unimportant and unpretentious as he may be, the right to be heard in self-defense, a right not only accorded him by the laws of his land, but a natural right that God has given, which it should not lie within the power of any potentate in the universe to deprive him of if there is any conscience or humanity in the heart of man or any justice left upon this earth."

While Mr. Rayner was speaking, he was interrupted by Warren, chairman of the committee on military affairs, but declined to yield, and in retaliation Warren objected to the further consideration of the resolution. A parliamentary question having been raised as to the right of the Senator from Maryland to proceed, the Vice-President declared that the motion to consider the resolution would have to lie over until tomorrow, except by unanimous consent.

Warren finally withdrew his objection on being assured that he could ask such questions as he desired. He then declared that, as chairman of the committee on military affairs, he had done everything possible to secure information concerning the inquiry into the case of Colonel Stewart. He said he did not object to the sarcastic remarks from the Senator from Maryland.

Rayner continued, saying he was satisfied there would be no report on his resolution by the committee before adjournment. He finally offered a modified resolution, authorizing and requesting the President to proceed with the inquiry, to which Lodge objected, and it went over until tomorrow. He also moved to discharge the committee from further consideration of the original resolution, but the motion was not acted upon.

Club for Women of Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Representative Kahn, of California, today introduced a bill to incorporate "The Congressional Club," the social body recently organized by the wives, mothers and sisters of the Senators and Representatives in Congress.

SUED TRUSTS AS SECURITY

MEMBER OF FAILED BROKERAGE FIRM INDICTED.

Taken From Sanatorium to Court Against Advice of Physicians.

More Than 100 Complaints.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Upon the finding today of an indictment against him by the Grand Jury, Thomas A. McIntyre of the failed brokerage firm of T. A. McIntyre & Co., was arrested on a warrant charging grand larceny in the first degree. He gave $5,000 bail and was released.

McIntyre's arrest was made in the face of vigorous protests by his physicians at the sanatorium, where he has been a patient since shortly after the failure of the firm. After his arraignment before Judge Rosalsky in the General Sessions Court and the furnishing of his bond by a surety company, he was taken back to the sanatorium.

McIntyre's indictment was the outgrowth of an investigation into the affairs of the McIntyre firm in the United States District Court. The specific charge against him is based on the claim of Ellen Sedgwick of Hartford, Conn., that a certificate for 50 shares of United States Steel stock, which she had placed with the McIntyre firm as trustee, for the purpose of having a portion of the stock transferred to her nephew, was put up as collateral by the firm for a loan which it had negotiated on its account with the Metropolitan Trust Company, Assistant District Attorney Train said tonight that there were more than 100 complaints against the McIntyre firm in his office, involving between $500,000 and $600,000 worth of securities turned over to the firm by investors. These securities cannot now be found.
