Mayor Takes Pity on Worn-out Horse

Would Rather Kill City's Cast-Off Steeds Than Sell Them at Auc-tion, as Provided by Council.

BELIEVING that old, wornout horses which have served in the employ of O. R. & N. Company, which is located at 72 North Twentieth street, was reported to the police yesterday morning. In addition to the two rugs, a number of Indian relics and curios were taken, all of which were highly prized by the owner. According to the housemaid, a junk dealer, who had been visiting the neighborhood, is responsible for the theft. Detectives have been assigned to the animals should be put out of existence in stant torture. His veto message was as follows:

To sell at public auction one old, broken-winded horse is perhaps a common occurrence, and no doubt will be considered of minor importance, and any protest against the same may strike you as being a bit "quixotic," and quite likely it is, yet when the 'chocked down' to the highest bidder for his poor worth has passed the most of its life in faithful and active service in the city, and in consequence of the effort required in dragging overloads up the ateep hill leading to the City Park, has been put to a strain of physical endurance so prolonged and so great that the pair cells of its large have hursted under the tension necessary to meet demands made upon it, why then the seal and public auction of the whearing and slowly smothering old follow to some pittless one for none other would be mean enough to buy him for the little gain to be wrung from the feeble life left within him, becomes an act a shade smaller and a wee mite more contemptible than I care to be engaged in or feel incumbent upon me to perform at this time

WILL PLAY FAIRY MUSIC

New York Symphony Orchestra Will Give Weber's "Oberon."

The fairy music of 'Weber's ''Oberon'' will be one of the attractive numbers to be rendered by the New York Orchestra, under Walter Damrosch, during their Portland engagement, June 3 and 4. The overture from the first call of the elfin horn to the sylvan revels of the fairles and the jubliant close, is a master work of form, and has for many years divided honors with Wagner's Tannhauser overture. Oberon, the Elfin King, having quareled with his fairy partner, vows never to be reconciled to her till he shall find two lovers constant through peell and temptation. To seek such a pair his 'tricksy spirit,' 'Puck ranges the world, and is at last successful in his search. Charming snatches of melody from the magic horn, which Oberon in a vision bestows upon the hero, intermingle with fairy laughter and the , witching, elfin chorus, martial strains from the court of Charlemagne, and the splendid orchestral surge of waters descriptive of a storm at sea and the triumphant outburst of the surge of waters descriptive of a storm at sea and the triumphant outburst of the

The enchanting beauty and grandeur of Weber's instrumentation interpreted by this skilled body of artist-musicians, will prove a keen delight to all music-lovers. The three concerts are to be at the Armory, opening Wednesday night, June and presenting two programmes on Thursday, June 4, afternoon and night. The tour is under the directic Steers-Wynn Coman.
