

WOOD DENOUNCES
Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS

Grills Them for Refusing to Rent Auditorium to Anarchists.

HIS WORDS ARE VITRIOLIC

Savage Attack Made While Introducing Emma Goldman, Who Speaks on Need for Individual Liberty.

Directors of the Portland Y. M. C. A. were censured yesterday in vigorous language by C. E. S. Wood for their refusal to permit Emma Goldman, high-priestess of anarchy, to deliver her lectures in their auditorium. The criticism was delivered by Mr. Wood in connection with his introduction of Miss Goldman to an audience of 500 people in Merrill's hall yesterday afternoon. Mr. Wood spoke for 25 minutes and in referring to the difficulty Miss Goldman's followers had experienced in securing a hall for her meetings in this city declared the attitude of the general public towards the lecturer was due to "illiberal and bigoted ignorance." Speaking directly of the action of the Y. M. C. A. directors in causing the cancellation of the lectures, he said:

into shape and was released at his own request.

Frank Dillon is having lots of trouble with his legs. He was forced to lay off in one of the Seal games. In spite of this, the Leo Loos won.

H. I. Wilson, part owner of the Butte race track, has sold his crack sprinter Gemmel to William Walker for $500. Gemmel won about $800 for Wilson at Emeryville. Gemmel's first race in Walker's colors was a sad affair.

Judge McCredie is going to break up the habit of the sun gods of sitting on the railings in the bleachers. He has instructed a carpenter to tear off the railing and will put up a plain fence high enough to keep people from falling off.

Wright, Egan and Hogan pulled off a snappy double play yesterday. The quick wing business hurt our chance badly.

Once more Jack O'Connell will grace Portland with his presence. O'Connell has many friends, who will be glad to renew acquaintance. Bull Perrine went South with Oakland.

Catcher Slattery is sure the cocky kid. He has a long bank account and doesn't care whether he plays ball or not. His thick smear of finance makes him a hard player to manage.

That boy Ryan made a sensational catch of Van Haltren's foul in the sixth.

This action was taken by the directors who were ignorant of what Miss Goldman would say in her lectures. They did not know what she would say and they did not care, otherwise they would have abandoned the subject of Christianity in the place of amusement to come here this afternoon and hear for themselves the message she had to give. But I dare say none of them are here.

Miss Goldman was introduced by Mr. Wood in connection with his introduction of Miss Goldman to an audience of 500 people in Merrill's hall yesterday afternoon. Mr. Wood spoke for 25 minutes and in referring to the difficulty Miss Goldman's followers had experienced in securing a hall for her meetings in this city declared the attitude of the general public towards the lecturer was due to "illiberal and bigoted ignorance." Speaking directly of the action of the Y. M. C. A. directors in causing the cancellation of the lectures, he said:

"I have no doubt that a majority of the young men in the Y. M. C. A. are Christians because Christianity is popular and because Christianity is easy. I also doubt seriously that the directors in this institution would have enlisted in the cause of Christianity at a time when they are doing so they would be in danger of being bound to the faggot-pole."

"Anarchism and What It Really Stands For," was the subject of Miss Goldman's lecture yesterday afternoon. Last night in the same hall she gave a continuation of the afternoon lecture, discussing more specifically the plans and by which anarchists would place their theory in operation.

"Anarchism stands for the destruction of government," said Miss Goldman in defining her doctrine. "It stands for the destruction of the institutions that have robbed man of his right to live and to enjoy the fruits of his labor. The immediate evil is an economic one and its solution must be an individual and an economic one. The individual and social instincts are never antagonistic to each other and if they are brought into antagonism it is only because the conditions of society are such that the interests of the few are the interests of the many, or vice versa."

Education System Wrong.

It was charged by the lecturer that the present day education tends further to divide society into two classes, masters and slaves, while true education, as viewed by the anarchist, can be acquired only in real life. She said she had knowledge of self, a knowledge of one's proper place in society and a knowledge of one's relation to his fellowman. The centralized method of production is criticized because it "degraded man to a mere particle of machinery, robbed him of his personality and initiative and made him the victim of the system, which is the system subservient to the human being."

The simultaneous overthrow of centralized production, capitalism and government must be effected before the philosophy of anarchism can be put into operation. Less government was conducive to greater development, said Miss Goldman, who argued that in increasing in the United States. Nine of every ten crimes, it was alleged, are due to the present economic conditions and would be done away under anarchism and its teachings. Government and organized authority, asserted the lecturer, had failed to bring about less crime, failed to control the production of crime in society, had made men no better or nobler and had served still further to separate society into two distinct classes, based on wealth and education. On the grounds, anarchism was recommended as the sole solution.

Miss Goldman will deliver three additional lectures in this city, speaking at 8 o'clock tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

"The Relationship of Anarchism to Trades Unionism" will be the subject of Miss Goldman's lecture at Alisky Hall tonight. Tomorrow night at Merrill's Hall she will deliver her most revolutionary lecture, which is on "Patriotism." An invitation has been extended to all sailors and soldiers to attend this lecture free of charge, and participate in the protest local anarchists will make against the imprisonment of William Buwald, an enlisted soldier, for attending Miss Goldman's lectures at San Francisco and applauding her utterances. Buwald was court-martialed, and the sentence of five years that was imposed has been commuted to three years on order of General Funston. Wednesday night at Alisky Hall, Miss Goldman will give her concluding lecture in this city, the subject being: "The Revolutionary Spirit in the Modern Drama."

Chit-Chat of Sporting World

A wild west show is making a great fuss over introducing the game of pushball on horseback. The Portland Hunt Club abandoned the game as old, a couple of years ago.

The New York Giant management has offered the St. Louis Cardinals $5000 for Pitcher Arthur Raymond. The Cardinals are sadly in need of an infielder and may sell Raymond.

"According to a New York physician, a native of Gotham, is as sensible as ever after losing two ounces of his brains. Look out, this fellow may become a prize fighter any day now."

The howl, "let us alone," may or may not be effective. It all depends upon who "us" is. Just now the Seals are holding "let us alone," but Portland is deaf to the plea.

We said at the time that the airship company's date of sailing, April 1, would be a fool's joke.

Not only did those plausible Athenians dent us for the closing battle of the series yesterday afternoon, but handed us, through the splendid endeavor of the red Mr. Wright, a collection of goose-eggs that would not hatch under any hen yet invented into anything that resembled runs. At that, there's no use expecting to win 'em all, so while that 4-to-0 push backward we received the Seals, let there be enough of good baseball tossed into the fray to satisfy the 5155 of Portland's flower and chivalry that rambled through the turnstiles. The grandstand was as snug with people as a bug in the ear, and the overflow from the land of bleach found standing-room behind the ropes in the yard.

There was nothing wrong with the way the crowd was handled yesterday. Judge McCredie had a rope stretched and took time by the prayer for Van Haltren had a number of hungry policemen on tap to snoo the eager ones back out of the zone of fire. At that, if the crowd hadn't been so thick around the Seals, let there be two double-backers would not have figured so prominently in Oakland's run-getting, for with the people out of the way, Bassey would have got at least one of the long swipes.

No, the loss of the game didn't jar so much until we returned to the city and learned that Los Angeles had taken the double-header from the Seals, let there be captured the Sabbath matinee. Portland would have been at the top of the procession. Wouldn't that rattle you?

Not Bud Perrin's Fault.

Yet you can't blame Bud Perrin for losing the game. He was a factor, for he was clouted hard, and it counted. The main trouble and stumbling-block to our anticipations was Mr. Wright. He had Manager Mac's pill-poppers lashed to the mast. The Portland biffers managed to claw Mr. Wright for Van Haltren and Perrin's double, but, try as they might, hired men would, they could not cluster their bingles off Mr. Wright. The Oaklander wasn't giving a sensation party, and while it wasn't a bit nice of him, yet we withhold our anger.

Helmuller wielded his wagon-tongue in the fourth, for Van Haltren had died. Bassey made a nice endow, but the drive had Helmy's beef and brawn behind it, and it scarred the palate off the fence. Eagan's out to Danzig suddenly Helmutler to score and he was caught second. Severer McCredie's when Hogan scratched a hit between first and second. Hogan tried to take liberties with Bert Whalen's wing and was caught at short before the attempts of the same sort, with the same result, made them respect Whalen, and he had some peace during the rest of the game.

Oakland's second run was a gift. Perrin lost Cook on four wide ones. A fruitless effort to head off things put Helmy and Slattery for Van Haltren. Wright lifted one to Raftery and Cook scored. Jimmy Smith put the bunch in back with a poke to Perrin. Bud Wright hit the ball to Whalen, who swung Haley off third and he was run down, Whalen to Johnson.

Gets Slattery and Completes Double.

While this was going on, Mr. Full Coneil Slattery introduced a skull specialty, and as quick as a flash, Johnson, seeing him within murdering distance, lagged Haley, stepped over his shoulder form and ran up and soaked Slattery in the hinge, completing a classy double. This play certainly headed off a lot of baseball dementia.

Mr. Slattery retrieved a part of his skull specialty in the eighth by lamming out a two-cushion swat. Mr. Wright moved him up with a sacrifice and Smith scored him with a single.

Next week it will be the Seals, and the hope of leaving our own freds at the top of the heap, when Manager Mac invades the south, is still rosy. The score:

ANGELS TAKE TWO GAMES

Matinee 11-Inning Pitchers' Battle Between Gray and Willis.

THE STURDIEST peoples of the earth drink beer—drink it from childhood to age. And those are the peoples who suffer least from nervousness and from dyspepsia. When one needs more vitality, the Doctor says "drink beer." The barley is food; the hops are a tonic. The trifle of alcohol is an aid to digestion. The proper drinking of beer—but not the abuse of it—is good for the weak and the well. And not the least of the good comes through flushing the system; in getting rid of the waste. But a beer to be healthful needs to be pure. And it must be well aged, else the after-result is biliousness. That is why we are so careful with Schlitz. We double the necessary cost of our brewing to insure absolute purity. And we age the beer for months before marketing. It gives you the good without the harm.

tried after the first inning when the Seattle made seven runs in four innings. Charley Moore then went in to pitch, and got along all right for three innings. Meanwhile Aberdeen kept on going, and after tying the score, got two runs to the good. The champions looked winners all over then, but Moore's foot slipped in the eighth, and Bennett drove in two runs that again tied the score, with a ringing hit in the ninth, Thompson went in and Seattle won the game on hits by Cahill and Erick with none out. Thompson was good, but bunching of hits on Howard was responsible for the visitors' defeat. Marshall had the Indian sign on the Frakes and never allowed more than one hit in an inning, their only run being made in the eighth inning on an error and a wild pitch. On Decoration day a double-header at the Oregon City grounds next Saturday. A close game is expected. Following is the score by innings:
