THROWN OUT; GETS WARRANT.—Because C. F. Dando, living at 547 East Seventh street, forcibly ejected Fella Ehlinger, a shoemaker, from his residence after ordering him out and receiving a refusal, Ehlinger swore out a warrant of arrest yesterday for Dando, who came to the station last night and surrendered himself. The trouble arose over a demand made at the Dando residence for the payment of a bill the correctness of which Mrs. Dando disputed. Dando arrived at home in time to find Ehlinger using abusive and ungentlemanly language to his wife and ordered him to leave. When Ehlinger failed to comply he forced him to go, as he explained it "with trimmings," although Dando is a lightweight and Ehlinger weighs about 200 pounds.

A RHUBARB DINNER.—"Soon, only the rich people will be able to afford meat, and the poor will have to eat rhubarb." This is a recent statement of Secretary Wilson of the Department of Agriculture. In towns where they gain control of trade, the packers are actually demanding from 25 cents to 40 cents a pound for good cuts of meat. All classes of people, both rich and poor, should give Smith their patronage, and the nightmare of rhubarb will never touch Portland. His fight means far more to the public than it does to him. Read Smith's ad—back page.

DEATH OF R. C. MILLER.—R. C. Miller, a pioneer of 1847, died Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. D. Montague, 21 East Fifteenth street. He formerly lived in Linn County and engaged in farming. He came to Portland but recently. Mr. Miller is survived by three sons and two daughters, Senator M. A. Miller, of Lebanon; Frank Miller, of Prairie City; William Miller, of Portland; Mrs. C. D. Montague, of Portland, and Mrs. Jennings, of Gold Hill. The funeral will be held today at Lebanon, and will be in charge of the Masonic Lodge.

INSTALL PASTOR AT VERNON. — Rev. George Arms will be installed as pastor of the Vernon Presbyterian Church tonight at 8 o'clock in that church, East Nineteenth and Wygant streets. The installation sermon will be preached by Rev. Henry Marcottte. Rev. Harry Pratt will preside and will propound the constitutional questions. Rev. D. A. Thompson will deliver the charge to the congregation, and Dr. E. M. Sharp will give the charge to the pastor. Other pastors will also participate in the service.

ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH FAIR. — Commencing tonight and continuing until Saturday night, June 6, St. Michael's Church will hold a fair in the Medical building, Park and Alder streets. A programme consisting of musical and literary numbers will be rendered. A business men's lunch, Italian and American style, will be served every day from 11 A. M. to 2 P. M. and 6 to 8 P. M. A feature of tonight's entertainment will be a concert by De Caprio's band.

ARCHBISHOP VISITS MINNEAPOLIS.—Archbishop Christie left Monday night for Minneapolis, where he will attend the laying of the cornerstone of the new Pro-Cathedral in that city on Sunday, May 31. The ceremonies will be under the direction of Archbishop Ireland of the Diocese of Minnesota. Archbishop Christie will pay a brief visit to Montreal, returning to Portland about June 15.

SPEAK AT SACRED HEART CHURCH.—Arrangements have been made by the Holy Names Society of the Sacred Heart Church for an entertainment to be given tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, in the church assembly hall. Addresses will be delivered by Rev. J. H. Black and J. H. Murphy. Music will be furnished by the Knights of Columbus Quartet.

MADISON VILLA TRIPS. — Many are taking advantage these days of the excellent service given by the Oregon Electric to Madison Villa acres, 15 minutes out. The price of these tracts make them a gilt-edged opportunity for those in search of a pleasant and productive country home. F. Breske, the owner's announcement, is on page 13. •

BENEFIT FOR THE Y. W. C. A.—An entertainment comprising music, a play under the management of Miss Marguerite Shelley, and a burlesque will be given at the First Congregational Church tonight at 8 o'clock. THIEVES OF NERVE

Ransack House on Morrison Street in Broad Daylight.

LADY PAYS NO ATTENTION

Hears Someone Come In, but Thinks They Belong There, and Goes Out Leaving Thieves in Possession—Cullin Heavy Loser.

Two daylight burglars committed a very bold robbery yesterday afternoon between the hours of 2:30 and 3 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cullen, 453 Morrison street, and secured over $500 worth of loot in jewelry and clothing. The robbers made their entrance to the house while Mrs. Cullen, who was at home, gave them no heed, thinking the noise they made was caused by another member of the household. They got away half an hour later, after having completely ransacked the house, and carried off their valuables in two suitcases. They were seen by a domestic employed in the house of the family living next door, and their leisurely exit failed to excite her suspicion.

The boldness and coolness with which the crime was committed has astounded the police, to whom the matter was immediately reported, and who are making every effort to locate the men, of whom they were given an accurate description.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Cullen, whose losses in jewelry and silverware will approximate $200, the principal victim of the theft was Harry Schoof, a Morrison-street merchant, who has a room in the house, and who, in jewelry and clothing, sustained a loss which he places between $300 and $400. F. Wilcox, of R. G. Run & Co., and Miss Emma Buchanan, also roomers at the Cullen residence, were robbed, but the articles taken from their rooms were of trifling value.

The robbery was discovered by Mrs. Cullen, who returned home about 4:30 o'clock to find all the doors wide open and the rooms showing evidence of having been thoroughly ransacked. She had left the house at 2:30 o'clock, after having heard what she supposed to be one of the household enter the front door. Inquiry later developed that she at the time had been the only occupant of the house and the noise she had heard had been that of the burglars coming in. They were in Mr. Schoof's room, with the door closed, when, thinking that all was well in the house, she departed, leaving them in possession. Half an hour after her departure the thieves were seen to leave.

One of the men is described as a tall young man of dark complexion, slender build and clean shaven, dressed in dark clothes. The other is described as a much shorter man of about 150 pounds in weight, light complexion, also clean shaven and dressed in a brown suit. Suspicion is attached to a stranger who applied for a room at this house five or six days previous to the robbery. He came without baggage and succeeded in seeing the entire house and getting a thorough idea of its arrangement. The entrance was effected by cutting a hole through the glass in the front door large enough to permit the introduction of the robber's hand. By this means he turned the latch and walked in.

At the Vaudeville Theaters

Marquam.

PATROLMAN E. ADAMS, of the Portland Police Department, went to the Pantages show at the Marquam Grand Theater last night equipped with a patented straight jacket. It was the one used by Sheriff Stevens at the County Jail, and Officer Adams and several other officers intended calling the bluff of Harden, the wizard of locks, who declares that he can slip any device ever invented. The big audience was at a high pitch of excitement when the well-known officer strapped the jacket on Harden, lacing and locking it so tight the man could hardly breath.

For a time it appeared as if Harden was up against a losing game. Officer Adams insisted that he work on the open stage. When Harden asked for a chair, it was refused him. For ten minutes he writhed and twisted, tugged and pulled, turned somersaults and tied himself in knots. Lock by lock, buckle by buckle the device fell away, and in the end Harden tossed it aside and stood free. It was the most remarkable exhibition of that kind ever witnessed on the Coast.

Handcuff manipulators have been here before, but Wizard Harden assuredly is in a class by himself. Officer Adams fairly weighted him up with police department manacles and in his mysterious way Harden released himself. In closing his act he invited any and all officers to come along later and bring any kind of device they might find. Some new devices from the County Jail and Police Station are to be tried on Harden during the week, the authorities hoping to catch him and thus demonstrate that all their safety devices are not harmless.

Aside from Harden the show is one that would make good before the most exacting house. Capacity houses have given the various acts the biggest kind of a reception yesterday. The Zarrows, in a comedy bicycle act, are the best in their line ever seen in Portland. Chick, Piper, Gray & Company have a pleasing comedy sketch, "Switch Tank Town on Christmas Eve"; Blondie Robinson takes well in a novelty singing and dancing act; George Barnes and Irene West in grotesque dancing are good, but they ought to keep still for their jokes were written by the well-known humorist, Noah, back in ark days. Jean Wilson sings a new illustrated song with his usual charm, and the biograph has a lively comedy dealing with the adventures of a bridal couple.

Grand.

THE show this week runs largely to acrobats, as the two acts of this nature prove to be the features of the programme. The one which attracts the greatest attention, largely because of its novelty and the unexpected surprise at its close, is that presented by Potter and Hartwell. They term their stunt "The Man With Two Heads," and that describes it as well as any other perhaps. There is no use trying to describe it except to say that the performance is at all times skillful and occasionally excruciatingly funny.

The other big number on the bill is supplied by the Seven Samois, a troupe of Arab acrobats whose pyramid work is exceptionally good. Fred G. Bauer, the illustrated balladist, sings the popular song, "As Long as the World Rolls On," in good voice. Marks, Hart and Lamarr present a decidedly amusing comedy skit of New England life called "Cynthia's Visit." The majority of the audience took to it greedily and cheered the performers to the echo. Harry Holman, billed as a blackface comedian in an act called "The Man in Red," failed to appear, or else altered his act at the eleventh hour and gave a "straight" monologue. The blackface act would probably be a considerable improvement. Lawrence and Harrington contributed a tough boy and girl act which seemed to be quite satisfactory to most of those present.

The moving pictures representing a trip through the infernal regions and to the bottom of the sea were interesting and very well received. While the entire bill is not the best that the Grand has offered in recent weeks, it is in the main quite creditable and shows a desire on the part of the management to provide the patrons of the Grand with the best goods in the entertainment line that can be secured. There will be the usual daily matinee and night performances during the entire week.

BANQUET OF COUNTY BAR

ASSOCIATION DINES AT THE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Judge Williams and Others Speak at Dinner Attended by 80 Members and Guests.

Judge Williams requested that he be not called upon to address the Multnomah County Bar Association last night, but when the regular programme was ended there was such an insistent call for him that he rose and spoke in vigorous style against the proposed legislation in Congress to take away the power of issuing injunctions by courts of equity.

"I am," said Judge Williams, "as you all are aware, an admirer and supporter of the present administration at Washington. I cannot, however, agree with the President when he advocates taking away from the courts one of the functions imposed upon them by law. I deplore the tendency of the times to destroy the confidence the people have in our courts. What are we to do? Shall the courts of the land be conducted under the dictation of the rabble? Are Samuel Gompers and his followers to dictate what judges may and may not do?"

The occasion was the monthly meeting of the Bar Association at the Commercial Club and was preceded by a banquet. Judge Lionel R. Webster acted as toastmaster and the responses were made by Judge Thomas A. McBride on "Legal Reminiscences, Pious Reflections and Pointless Parables"; Judge Thomas O'Day, "The Judiciary"; Judge E. C. Bronaugh, "The Lawyer's Silent Partner"; Robert G. Morrow, "The Syllabi"; Assistant City Attorney Tomlinson (for Judge Cameron), "Observations from the Police Court." John Manning was also on the programme, but was unable to be present. The subject assigned him was "Criminal Practice."

Tracy Becker, of New York, and Judge Pipes were called upon and responded briefly. The meeting was the first to be held under a departure from the usual order and is to be followed with others of like nature, in an effort to have the bar take renewed interest in the association.

The meeting was held in the small banquet-room adjoining the club office and was attended by about 80 members and guests.

Last Honors to Francois Coppee.

PARIS, May 26.—At the funeral today of the late Francois Coppee, all classes of society strove to honor the "poet of the people." The Church of St. Francis Xavier was filled. At the conclusion of the funeral mass, a great assembly of people which had been unable to enter the church formed in procession and, headed by an imposing detachment of the military, escorted the body to Mont Parnasses Cemetery.

Heavy Snows at Butte.

BUTTE, Ont., May 26.—Six inches of snow on the level prevented the opening of the local baseball season today. An elaborate programme had been prepared.

TOO LARGE AN ARMY NOW

EMMA GOLDMAN TALKS ON "PATRIOTISM."

Arraigns General Funston and Army Officials for Court-Martialing Man Who Shakes Her Hand.

The spacious hall in the Merrill building was fairly well filled last night by a crowd of curious ones who assembled to hear Emma Goldman deliver her widely-heralded address on "Patriotism." Many who expected a fierce tirade against the Government were only partially satisfied, for the remarks of the "high priestess of anarchy" were quite moderate.

In the course of her address she took occasion to berate the United States Army and the Government officials roundly for having tried and sentenced an enlisted man at San Francisco to five years in a military prison for having, as she termed it, "merely shaken hands with me" at the conclusion of one of her lectures at San Francisco. According to Miss Goldman, the United States Government is to be compared with the tyranny of Russia in this instance. "The citizens of this United States of America can no longer point the finger of shame at Russia, Germany and other European governments propped up by aggressive militarism," said the woman advocate of anarchism.

Continuing along this line Miss Goldman said: "This man, mind you, an enlisted man in the service of the United States Army, and who had put in 15 years of his life in the service, was condemned by court-martial to serve five years for having shaken hands with me after one of my lectures. He did not state that he believed in the doctrines I advocate, but merely did as many of you here in Portland have done—congratulated me on presenting my line of argument in favor of the doctrine of anarchism. Yet for this act he was sentenced to serve five years in prison. General Funston has commuted this to three years, and no doubt General Funston is a good, upright, honest American citizen. He probably goes to church every Sunday, and while there studies out new plans for killing people on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. I tell you, brothers and sisters, we have too much militarism in this country today, and the time is coming when the cry for a standing army will be overwhelmingly rejected. We have too large an Army and Navy now, and do not want any more soldiers for the Government to repeat the scenes enacted under General Bell and his troops in Colorado."

During her remarks Miss Goldman was frequently interrupted by applause, which came principally from a few of her fellow anarchists scattered throughout the audience. In conclusion she stated that patriotism was a mistaken idea as prevalent in this country today, and that anarchism taught the only genuine style of patriotism extant.

Tonight Miss Goldman will deliver her farewell address in this city at Alisky Hall.

ONE CONCERT TO WAGNER

Feature of Damrosch Programme Meets With Approval.

The announcement that Walter Damrosch and his incomparable New York Symphony Orchestra will give one programme devoted exclusively to the works of Wagner has aroused a tremendous amount of interest and enthusiasm here. The three concerts to be given next Wednesday and Thursday, afternoon and evening, at the Armory, are the musical and social events of the week. The Wagner programme, to be rendered Thursday evening, was given in San Francisco to an enormous crowd, where the papers referred to it as "the perfection of orchestra work," and said, too, "The Wagner programme delights hearers."

Last night the orchestra opened its Northwest tour in Seattle at the Moore Theater, and every one of the 2200 seats was taken, while standing room was at a premium. There was a magnificent house, socially regarded, for 250 of the fleet officers were entertained by the City of Seattle, and all of the boxes were taken by prominent society people who were entertaining their friends among the officers. The coming concerts here will draw enormous crowds, the out-of-town demand being the heaviest ever known. The three concerts here are under the direction of Lois Steers-Wynn Coman, and the seat sale opens Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

FRINGE TREE IN BLOOM

Rare Foliage and Flowers to Be Seen This Week in a Portland Garden.

A rare and beautiful tree is now in bloom in the garden of Charles Hegele, at the southwest corner of Fourteenth and Morrison streets, opposite the West Side High School. It is the only one in Portland. Thousands of old residents have seen and admired it every year, but probably more thousands are not aware of its existence. It was planted fully 40 years ago by the late Judge William Strong, who imported it from Japan.

Judge Strong called it a fringe tree; its botanical name is unknown here. In form it resembles our indigenous syringa with fronds of far more beautiful color—light canary tinged with delicate green. You would call it a shrub, only it seems ridiculous to apply that word to a bush nearly 20 feet tall.

It grows near the center of the lawn and is partly hidden by other foliage; still you can get a good look at it from the sidewalk on Fourteenth street. The bloom endures less than a fortnight and will likely be at its full by next Sunday.

THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

JOHN MANNING INDORSED BY THE PORTLAND MUNICIPAL ASSOCIATION.

District Attorney John Manning has been indorsed by the Portland Municipal Association. This action, upon the part of an organization having for its purpose the improvement of the public morals, was taken in recognition of Mr. Manning's stand for civic reform. These specific acts which he has done, and which have resulted in making Portland a better city in which to live, are familiar to the voters of this county. It is generally admitted that the laws have never been more uniformly enforced, the innocent more securely protected, and the guilty more surely punished than during Mr. Manning's incumbency of the District Attorney's office.

The people know where Mr. Manning stands, and now is the time for the people to sustain a public servant who has made good.
