

INSTRUCTIONS ELECTORAL JUDGES

Question of Annexation Will Complicate the Balloting in Several Precincts.

SEPARATE BOXES REQUIRED

Russellville, Woodstock, Anabel, South Mount Tabor and Part of Arleta May Vote to Come Into the City.

Voters in three Portland suburbs are to vote on the annexation question. Separate ballot boxes have been provided by County Clerk Piela for the precincts involved.

Two divisions of the county, in which the annexation question arises, include this portion of the precinct will, therefore, say whether they want to be annexed in conjunction with Precincts 73 1/2 and 74, or with a portion of Precinct 53, Russellville. The other portion of the county in which the annexation question is to be voted on includes Precincts 84, Woodstock, 85, Anabel, 86, South Mount Tabor, 87, and 88.

Mr. Fields recommends that every voter in the county obtain a sample ballot, and study it before election day. He said yesterday that if this is not done much time will be spent by the electors at the polls next Monday, as the balloting will be very slow.

Two crews were sent out yesterday to erect the portable canvas voting booths on the East Side. They will be located in practically the same positions as those selected for the primary election, except for a few changes which have been made for convenience.

Letters to the judges and clerks of election were sent out yesterday by Mr. Piela. These contain instructions regarding the manner of conducting the election. The County Clerk is also sending to the members of the election boards blank bills, upon which they will indicate the length of time they have served at the polls. The letters are as follows:

Fourth—Place everything else in envelope marked for it and place in box. This includes the ballot boxes, keys, ink and statements in the canvas booths in the instructions. If you have any questions, please call on me at my office. Phone Main 1180 or A 6707.

Fifth—Post statements of result, in envelopes, and return with statement. This is for the purpose of improving the service, and you judges are the ones who know where it can be improved. The law is responsible for some of the defects. You must try and have corrected.

Sixth—Bring returns to office as soon as you can. Oaths will be open continuously until all returns are in.

IS ARCHITECT'S LIEN VALID?

POINT AT ISSUE IN SUIT IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

Whether or not an architect can hold a valid lien upon property for which he has made drawings, is the question which Judge Cleland has under consideration in the suit of Albert J. Capron against himself, Matilda Light, P. H. Light, C. Goodrich, F. Loesch and S. V. Davidor.

The building in question is located at St. John. It appeared from the testimony given in court that Davidor leased the ground floor of the building with the intention of putting in a bank. The money stringency of last Fall came on, and about that time C. Goodrich, the contractor, fell behind in the construction work.

This is the second suit brought into the Circuit Court recently over this building. It was brought by Loesch against Davidor to recover $77.42 damages and costs for the material and labor furnished by him for the construction of the building.

Seat Sale Opens Today for Palm Spectacle on Multnomah Field.

The reservations for seats and boxes for Palm's fireworks spectacle "Eruption of Vesuvius," begins this morning at 10, at the downtown office, northeast corner of Sixth and Alder.

The athletic field is rapidly undergoing a great transformation, in preparation for the mounting of the big scenery and buildings which picture the eruption of Vesuvius.

Another carload of fireworks has arrived and the pyrotechnic force is already on the field with numerous tents and sheds for the construction of the large set pieces and special designs, which will be changed from night to night in the fireworks programme, following the destruction of the mimlic city.

Some of the acrobatic teams, and societies have already indicated more are on their way from Chicago.

L. M. Vinberg's Overzealous Efforts to Secure Patrons for North End Pawnshop Result in a Charge of Vagrancy.

Any woman who looks back repeatedly when she has reason to believe some man is following her, is quite as guilty of the effect of the man in her wake. This is the effect of a dandy in a dandy forenoon by Municipal Judge Cameron in passing on the case of a young married woman who caused the arrest of a Greek dandy under the marriage law.

Shortly after leaving Oak and Third she became conscious of the fact that a dandy-looking young fellow was following her. She stopped at Oak and Third and when she stopped likewise, and as she decided to stroll north on Second while waiting for the perennially belated streetcars.

Walking to Pine, Mrs. Mormur looked back and her pursuer was close behind. She maneuvered around the block and did the same thing, and a shadow could not have been more constant.

W. H. IRVING PASSES AWAY

Was General Manager of Pend d'Oreille River Navigation Co.

Walter Hogue Irving, until recently general manager of the Pend d'Oreille River Navigation Company, died on Monday, May 25, 1908, at Cape Horn, Skamania county, Washington, where he had gone for the benefit of his health.

Mr. Irving was born in Albany, Or., April 28, 1870, where he lived until February, 1898, when he removed to Portland. He was in the employ of the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph Company as electrician until the summer of 1901, when he resigned his position, having been obliged, because of failing health, to retire from active work.

It was shown by the testimony that the unvarying attention to the interests of his employers won for him their confidence and high regard, and his lovable disposition endeared him to all his friends and acquaintances.

Mr. Irving was married August 21, 1906, to Miss Mary Iona Elmer, daughter of John D. Blain, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., who with his mother, Ida F. Irving, and his sister, Miss Velie Irving, survive him. He had no children. His father, John M. Irving, died at Albany, Or., June 1, 1898.

The funeral will be held today at 1:30 P. M., from Holman's Chapel, Third and Salmon streets.

PORTLAND, Or., May 27.—(To the Editor.)—Again in obedience to the decision of the executive committee of our Oregon Association, I am making an expert examination of the ring. The fellow protested, but ended by paying the amount in order to secure the return of his ring.

Another man had a tin watch he bought for $2. Vinberg got talking with him and asked to see the watch. He said it was a fine watch, but didn't seem to be keeping good time. The stranger admitted as much. Vinberg took the watch inside, took the works out, tampered with it, gave it to a second man for examination and then put a charge tag on the watch calling for $3.75. And having the gift of gab, he talked the weak-spirited victim into paying $1.75 more than the watch was worth for fancied repairs.

Those are two characteristic examples of his art. Mr. Tomlinson, incidentally, since Vinberg was not engaged in lawful occupation he could have no visible means of support and therefore that he must be a vagrant.

John Shultz's business zeal nearly resulted fatally yesterday morning. Following out a much-used plan which peddlers have for besting wholesale merchants, he operated at the Davenport-Thompson produce house yesterday morning and was literally kicked out into the street by Robert West, an employe. Shultz struck against a metal contrivance while falling and only the substantial thickness of his skull warded off possibility of serious consequences.

Shultz had West arrested for assault and the case was heard at once by Judge Cameron. Shultz told of the assault and even declared the produce employe hit him in the head with a sledgehammer. West explained the reasons for the assault. He said Shultz, following a common practice, bought several bunches of bananas, and as each bunch was taken to the scales for weighing, broke off from six to a dozen on the pretext that they were too green. After the bananas had been weighed the enterprising vendor would appropriate the "green" bananas without the formality of paying for them. West had a dozen of bananas which Shultz broke off in court and they were anything but green.

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Why don't you try it?

"I told him to quit that kind of business, but he kept it up until I kicked him out," said West.

As the charge of assault had been clearly established, no matter what the provocation, the court imposed a small fine. The defendant was accompanied by court attaché with little assistance from the court, after the regular session, and all voted that it was anything but green.
