Rose Festival. Numera—The current issue of the Pacific Monthly is devoted to the coming Rose Festival. The number is an excellent one. Besides a special rose cover, there are many features that call attention to Portland's annual rose show. "Portland's Feast of Roses," by C. E. S. Wood, is one of the timely articles in the latest issue. Other excellent features are articles by Governor Chamberlain, on "The National Importance of Oregon's Waterways," Joaquin Miller's contribution. "Our Undiscovered Oregon;" "Wanted—Two Millon Hogs," by Forrest Crissey, being a story on the development of Portland as a packing center; "Oregon, My Oregon," by Fred Locksley; "Advertising a State," by Tom Richardson, and many others. There are handsome cuts of Portland roses and Oregon scenery and a number of entertaining stories.

Plerce, charged with practicing medicine without a license or certificate of qualification, was given assurance of a term of 15 days at the county rockplie should he continue in the quackery calling. He was found guilty of the charge in the Municipal Court yesterday morning, but on his promise to take his shingle down was let off. He was prosecuted under a new ordinance which forbids unlicensed physicians to so much as recommend any medicine and accept payment therefor. The similar cases against B. Voose and Jennie Bowen were postpored for trial lennie Bowen were postponed for trial until next week.

MATOR MATLOCK AND PROHIBITION-Rev. Maron Marlock and Prohibition-Rev. F. L. Young yesterday telegraphed J. D. Matlock, Mayor of Eugene, asking if he had a son in the drug business there, ite answered no. This fact has some significance, in the prohibition campaign. Mayor Matlock made a speech recently upon the beneficial effects of prohibition in Eugene, saying that his son's business was increased. To this a retort was made that his son was in the drug business. Mayor Matlock's answer disproves this insinuation.

SECOND SON LEAVES HOME—Search is being conducted by the police for 12-year-old Tom King, who resides at 414 Davis street, and who ran away from-home yesterday. His parents are slarmed by his absence, especially as another son recently deserted the parental roof. Three weeks ago their 14-year-old son, Mark King, ran away and has not since been iteard from. It is thought that his action set an example for Tom, who of late has been in diagrace for delinquency at his school. In a labored schoolboy handwriting, the little fellow left two notes, which were discovered by his elder brother, M. I. King, on his return from work last night. He reported the matter to the police and requested assistance to find the two young runaways. It is thought that possibly the younger boy knew of the whereabouts of his brother and has gone to join him. In one of the notes he said: "I told my teacher I was going away, now I got my books and transfer. Everything is all right with the school. Good-bye, I am on my way. There is no use looking for me, because I am out of Oregon, Don't worry about me. I am all right. Good-bye, your son, Tom King."

Rev. Robert McLean Called Rev. Robert McLean, superintendent of Presbyterian Missions in Porto Rico, has been called to become pastor of the Mizpah Presbyterian church, corner Powell and East Thirteenth streets. The call is practically unanimous. Rev. McLean has arrived in New York on his way back to Portland, and is expected to reach here some time next month. He is well known in Portland and the state. For a number of years he was pastor of the Grants Pass Presbyterian church, corner Powell and came from that place to the Third Presbyterian church, Portland, where he remained for three years, when he accepted the place of superintendent of missions in Porto Rico, which had come into possession of the United States, and he has since been engaged in that work. He went to Porto Rico to stay three years, but was there five yars. It is considered probable that he will accept the call.

Discuss Boulevard Project—At a meeting of Portland Heights property owners, held last night at the engine-house on Spring street, the project of having a boulevard constructed from a point near the end of the Ford street bridge to Carter street, and probably on to Council Crest, was up for discussion. The meeting resolved to send a committee to the Council at its next meeting to present the case and ask for the adoption of the proposed road. The new road, if built, will provide a driveway through a section of the city that is pronounced to be the most picturesque in the city. The residents of the Heights intend to keep the matter agitated for the reason that the improvement, they claim, will benefit every part of that residence district.

HONEST BOT FINDS CHECK—Sammy

Honger Bot Finds Check-Sammy Smokewan, 7 years old, proved his honesty late yesterday afternoon by turning over to the Sheriff's office a check for $3$ which he had picked up on the street. The check was issued from the Municipal Court and was easily negotiable. The little boy, who lives with his parents at 275 Baker street, did not have to be prompted. Finding the check near the Courthouse, he went bravely inside, located Sheriff Stevens' office and turned the check over to a deputy. It was then returned by the officer to the Municipal Court. The check was lost by $S$. G. Ahmed, in whose name it was issued.

FALLS FROM DREDGE AND DROWNS—Adolph Miller, a young man of 25, was drowned at an early hour yesterday morning by failing from the stern of the dredge Beaver, just above the Burnside street bridge. With others of the night crew, he was at work. He was sent to the rear of the dredge and did not return. No one heard him fall overboard. In grappling for the body after daylight, it was located about 60 feet below the dredge. Miller leaves a young wife and one child. He came here with his little family from Switzerland about a month ago.

Concerts Next Beason—Mrs. Edna B. Jones completed arrangements yesterday whereby she will manage the Portland Symphony Orchestra next season, that of 1908-60. It was not possible to interview her, as she left early in the afternoon on a two weeks' visit to Montana. This last season the Portland Symphony Orchestra, under Mrs. Jones' management, gave three concerts which were largely attended and successful in every particular. Mrs. Jones has showed marked executive ability in her new field of endeavor. CONCERTS NEXT SEASON-Mrs. Edna B.

WHY are half a dozen saloons stuck close down by every sawmill, factory, machine-shop, streetcar barn or other place where men are employed on the bast Side? Why does the barkeeper cash the checks of many of these tollers Saturday night before they go home, retaining most and sometimes all of it for dealer than they have hardly before they are the checks of the check of the checks of the check of th over the Hill, and Mrs. S. Virginia Hill drinks they have had? Is that business is to assume charge of the Beverly on Monday.

MRS. DYE SPEAKS FOR CAKE

Ex-Schoolmate Tells of His Fine Work at College.

In the early eighties in Ohio, then known as "the mother of 400 colleges." and now as "the mother of Presidents," it was my privilege to be a fellow-collegian with Harry M. Cake. Among over 1700 students, none were more respected than the gritty boy who wene our teaching for the wherewithal to carry on his college course, and yet kept up with his studies. Modest, gentlemanty, even as a youth, he had quiet dignity and earnestness of purpose that inspired confidence. And I well remember when a girl from his home town said: "Oh, everybody at Fostoria admires the Cake boys: they are such workers, you know. They are the greatest boys to get jobs—all so they can go to college." spected than the gritty boy who went can go to college."

And that's the stuff our best Americans are made of. Of course, Harry Cake will be elected United States Senator. EVA EMERY DYE.

TRAGEDY, HUMOR, PATHOS New York Symphony Orchestra Runs

Gamut of the Emotions.

Orchestra under the great conductor Wal-ter Damrosch is the one subject of conversation just now among music-lovers. The significance and importance of their confert season at the Armory June 3 and 4, during which time three orchestral concerts will be given, transcends that of any musical event in the past history of Portland.

The opening concert Wednesday night, June 3, will embrace the grand master-pieces of both the classic and romantic schools, among these being the C-mino symphony by Beethoven, which in emo-tional depth, passion and vital persona interest is so extraordinary as a work of genius.

The matines concert of Thursday, June 4, will have a programme of astonishing range and variety, covering many schools, and in addition to classic and romantic works of great power, will present several bright and dashing selections from the modern French school of the utmost fascination and charm. This programme will on the whole be lighter in character than the others.
