"The Bushranger" at the Lyric

THE Blunkall-Atwood Stock Company opened its engagement at the Lyric yesterday, presenting the interesting English comedy-drama, "The Bushranger." This is an interesting bit of news, for it means that the best stock company that has ever appeared here at the prices is in town for a long stay.

The members of the organization, individually and collectively, made a splendid impression on the large audience that turned out to welcome them. Mr. Blunkall, the leading man, is a talented actor and is favorably remembered from past performances. He was at one time a member of Cordray's and has since appeared here as a star on a number of occasions. In the important and trying role of Mr. Wilding (Captain Swift) Mr. Blunkall fairly captivated his audience. Lillian Atwood, the leading woman, gives an excellent performance as Mrs. Seabrook, an extremely interesting, although not a showy part. Gracie Planted, one of the cleverest ingenues on the stage, was charming in her spontaneous spirit and humor, and did excellent work as the impulsive daughter, Joan Storm, a strikingly beautiful young woman, whose charm of voice and manner combined with much acting ability, sustained the most important feminine role. Clarence Burton gave a good account of himself as an Australian rancher, while Charles Schad and Fred Cantway displayed splendid ability.

The orders governing the formation of the parade are as follows: First division—Grand Marshal Owen Summers and aides, Oregon Agricultural College band, and the Oregon Agricultural College cadet corps. GOVERNMENT NOT LIABLE

BONAPARTE NO CO-DEFENDANT IN HERRON LAND CASE. Judge Wolverton Dismisses Charge Against Attorney-General on Motion of Tracy C. Becker.

In the Federal Court yesterday Judge C. E. Wolverton decided that United States Attorney-General Bonaparte should not be held a co-defendant in the case of John B. Herron and others against the Southern Oregon Railroad and the Coos Bay Wagon Road, and dismissed the charge against him.

The case involves a contention over valuable land points. Tracy C. Becker, assistant Attorney-General, moved the dismissal of the charge against his chief, arguing that the suit could not be maintained against the Government.

P. S. Moot, of San Francisco, counsel for the plaintiff, opposed the motion to dismiss, contending that the Attorney-General had refused to bring suit against the two defendant companies for violation of the act of Congress, and that in consequence he should properly be made party to the present suit.

After hearing the arguments, Judge Wolverton decided in favor of the motion, which leaves the two companies alone defendants in the action.

Bail for Andy Peters. Andy Peters, who was under indictment for misuse of the United States mails, and who went under the alias of Steve Downer, was admitted to bail by the United States Commissioner at regular bonds in the sum of $500. He was ordered to appear before Judge Wolverton on May 25, but failed to put in an appearance and yesterday the concern has been in the hands of E. C. Meares, receiver, who announces that the stock of the company will be disposed of at auction.

Acheson Firm Bankrupt. Under an application and motion in the Federal Court made some days ago, the firm of J. M. Acheson & Co. was yesterday adjudged bankrupt by Judge Wolverton. The concern has been in the hands of E. C. Meares, receiver, who announces that the stock of the company will be disposed of at auction.
