These principles, it will be declared, are quite in contrast with the policies of the Democratic party, which, embodied in the public utterances of its leaders, it will be said, promise nothing good that can be assured of accomplishment. The Republican party's record as the party of protection and sound money, as the party of progress and good principles, as the party that gave freedom to Cuba and lifted the yoke from the necks of the people of the Philippines and from Porto Rico, will be upheld for admiration and made the subject of much praise, and the voting power will be asked to continue to patronize the political craft that has carried it across so many streams.

Tariff Leading Feature.

Specifically speaking, more attention has been given by the platform makers to the tariff than to any other subject. There will be an equivocal declaration for revision, but the disposition is to leave the working out of details to the ingenuity of Congress. The action of the two houses of Congress in instructing the committee which will deal with the tariff, the Senate committee on finance and the House committee on ways and means, to make special investigation of the situation will afford sufficient excuse to the convention, while they supposedly will furnish Congress with a basis for action.

This preparatory step will be in-dorsed, and there will be a general in favor of such pronouncement changes in schedules as the advance of time and the progress of the country may have made necessary since the enactment of the Dingley law. The declaration will take the shape of appearing so to equalize the duties as to give the consumer the benefit of most favorable prices consistent with the protection of domestic industries and home labor. It will be emphatically stated that there must be no innovation that will permit American labor to come into competition with foreign labor, and accordingly it will be specified that in all cases the duty must be equal to the differences between the American and the Europ-

WALLACE, Idaho, June 7 .- (Special.)-The sensations of the people of Chicago and New York who have stood aghast at the new directoire gown were experienced by the people of this city to The peaceful quiet of an Idaho Sunday was rudely interrupted by the appearance of a woman on the main street here gowned in one of these sheaf creations. This was the first appearance of one of these gowns in Wallace, and the effect on the population was somewhat startling.

Who the woman was who dared to wear this creation of the Parisian boulevards on the streets of an Idaho town is a mystery. Nobody seems to know where she came from. It was hinted that she might be one of the circus people who are here, but when the managers were asked about it they denied strenuously that they were reduced to this manner of

G. A. R. Objects to Portrait of Lee on Schoolhouse Wall.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 7 .- (Special.)-A picture of General Robert E. Lee, leader of the Confederate forces, hanging on the wall of the High School at Redding, Cal., has precipitated an oldtime row with the members of the G. A. R. as the active agents for its removal.

The picture was placed there two weeks ago by one of the teachers and as soon as they learned of it, the veterans protested. At a meeting of the school board yesterday, much business was transacted but the subject of the picture was carefully avoided. It still hangs on the wall.

Windy City Breezes Hesitate Between His and Colonel J. Ham Lewis' Hirsute Adornments.

CHICAGO, June 7 .- (Special.) -- Zera Snow, of Portland, Or., rode into Chicago today on the crest of the hot wave bringing with him a solution of the auch-debated question as to whether the famous whiskers of Colonel James Hamliton Lewis are originals or copies. Mr. Snow, who is a leading lawyer in Portland, is a Democrat, but he has come to attend the Republican National convention as a spectator. His arrival was halled with joy by the celebrides at the Auditorium Annex, who remarked a drop in the temperature of the rotunda so after the Oregon man had placed his frapped signature on the register.

Mr. Snow wears a facial adornment of precisely the same cut as those of Colone Lewis, the only difference being in color. He claims that he introduced the "Cossack sweepers" on the Coast.

Further Floods Feared Because of Sudden Warm Weather in Western Montana-Topeka Prepares for High Water.

BUTTE, Mont., June 7 .- The Northern Pacific east from Butte is again tied up today by a new washout of 600 feet of track, near Jefferson Island, a small station in the Jefferson River Valley, about 10 miles from Butte. Two steel trestles on the Great Northern are reported today as having gone out, near Basin, 25 miles north of Butte, adding to the de-moralization of that road.

Great Northern Rallway officials this evening will not venture an opinion as to when normal conditions will be restored, one official stating that in his belief a month's time would be necessary to put the Montana line of the Northern Pacific in proper condition. The Great Northern telegraphic service is completely demoralized, and the officials fear they have yet to learn of the real magnitude of the destruction wrought by the flood waters.

The barometer is higher this evening than for several weeks. This would indicate warmer weather tomorrow and with that the rapid melting of the snows in the mountains. As there now is lying from three to four feet of snow in the mountains it is feared the rush of waters will add to the damage already done. The sun shone brightly today and with the exception of a suggestion of rain this afternoon there was no sign of a further downpour.

MARRIAGE SECRET THIRTEEN YEARS

OAKLAND DENTIST PASSES AS SINGLE MAN.

Marries in Baker City in 1895, but Only Half-Dozen Know of It Till His Death.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 7 .- A hidden chapter in the life of the late Dr. W. H. Craig, who took his life it the armory of the Masonic Temple in Oakland last Thursday, which was know o only a few of his most intimate con anions, was laid bare in Oakland today when Mrs. Helen B, Craig, residing a 1310 Harrison street, announced that she was the widow of the dead man.

Thirteen years ago Miss Helen Bardbury and Dr. W. H. Craig were married in a hotel at Baker City, Or., by the Rev Mr. Bell. The ceremony was performed on April 23, 1895. It occurred less than three years after the denist had been divorced from his second wife, Mrs. Marian Craig. During these 13 years no more than a half dozen persons were aware of the marriage. Dr. Craig was silent and his wife, who was of a retiring nature, never put herself forward, though she was aware that her husband was known to many of his friends as a single

Discovery Is Made Too Late That Three Miners Are Left Behind When Shaft Is Closed to Prevent Spread of Flames,

SILVERTON, Colo., June 7 .- Six men are dead, eight others in a dangerous condition from breathing foul air, and 25 to 30 more temporarily confined to their homes from weakness due to contact with poisoned air in the Gold King mine, located at Gladstone, six miles from here. The dead: PETER M'NINY, ROY COBURN, ALEX JOHNSON. A. W. BURNS. VICTOR ERICKSEN, GUS OLSEN.

Left in Shaft Without Air. On Thursday night fire was discovered n the engine-room of the mine, and before it could be brought under control that building had been destroyed as well as the shafthouse. The two buildings were ocated near the portal door of the main shaft, and to prevent the spread of the flames and accumulation of smoke in the workings of the mine, these doors were closed temporarily. Before taking this precautionary move the men working the night shift in the mine were hurriedly notified of the conditions on the surface and instructed to withdraw. When the flames had been extinguished, in order to make sure that all was well with the men, the list was checked over. The discovery was made then that three men were missing. Immediately efforts to rescue them were started, but with little hope of reaching them alive, as the machinery operating the fans had been out of commission by the destruction of the engine-house and any pure air that might have reached by the closing of the portal doors. Willing Hands to Rescue.

The first ones to enter the mine returned in haste and informed those waiting that the mine was filled with foul air, and it was almost impossible to breathe it. The men all expressed willingness to risk contact with the foul air if the missing men could be rescued, and accordingly two rescue parties were formed and the men started into the mine in groups of five, by means of the electric elevators, which fortunately were still working, Instructions were given that as soon as anyone showed signs of faintness the rest were to immediately bring him to the surface. The air generated by the motion of the elevator cleared the atmosphere in the elevator shaft so that but little discomfort was experienced there. Soon after a score or more of rescuers had entered the mine, some of those first in appeared at the foot of the elevator shaft carrying the unconscious forms of rescuers who had succumbed to the noxious air.

Brings Up Dead Bodies.

Later a party reached the surface, bringing the dead body of Victor Erickson, and the almost lifeless bodies of John Funston and Otto Johnson, the three men whose absence caused the necessity for rescue work.

It seems that these three had found a spot where the air was not so foul as in the other portions of the mine, and Funston and Johnson had been able to live through it. The rescuers who brought these men to the surface reported that many of their companions had been overcome by the foul air and were lying in the drifts of the mine.

Instantly there was a clamor among the men at the surface to go to the aid of their fellow-workers, and it was almost impossible to keep them from overcrowding the elevator, which was kept in aland out of the mine. Those coming to the surface carried in their arms the bodies of half-suffocated men, several of

Five Die Death of Heroes,

It was many hours before a thorough search of the underground workings was completed, and report was made that every one should be accounted for. When the lists were totalled it was found that five men had herolcally given up their lives for their comrades and that many were in a serious condition and may never recover entirely from the effects of breathing the poison. It was not until 4 o'clock this morning that work was abandoned. The property loss to the mine was less than $10,000. Bryan Talks to Woodmen.
