COLVILLE, Wash., June 7.—

(Special.)—Andrew Hughson, who has resided upon his farm in the valley, two miles south of Colville, continuously for 57 years, died yesterday morning after a long illness of several months. He was born in a little village on the Shetland Isles, September 23, 1850, the son of Andrew and Sarah (Henry) Hughson, who were also natives of Scotland, and who died in 1847 and 1871 respectively. He enjoyed the advantages of a good education in the public schools in his native land of that day. In 1859 he came to Eastern Canada and then pursued his way westward to the Fraser River, and in November, 1851, arrived in Colville valley. Mr. Hughson, who has resided in his home, now one of the most beautiful tracts of land in the county, two miles south of Colville, which he retained as his abiding place until his death. For 49 years he followed mining, but in 1887 settled down to stock-raising and became one of the wealthy men at that time in the state.
