

The Oregonian

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

INvariably in Advance. (By Mail) Daily, Sunday included, one year, $3.00...

BY CARRIER. Daily, Sunday included, one year, $3.00...

POSTAGE RATES. Entered at Portland, Oregon, Postoffice as Second-Class Matter, October 3, 1879...

IMPORTANT. The postal laws are strict. Newspapers on which postage is fully prepaid, not subject to destination.

EASTERN BUSINESS OFFICE. The S. C. Beckwith Special Agency—New York, rooms 43-39 Tribuna building...

KEPT ON SALE. Chicago—Auditorium Annex, Postoffice New Co., 175 Dearborn Street, Empire News Stand...

NEW YORK CITY. Hotaling's news stands, 421 and Broadway and Broadway and 29th. Telephone 535.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

PHILADELPHIA. Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue. Philadelphia, Pa.—Ryan's Theater, 1733 Lancaster Avenue.

makes any further trouble there is a hickory with waiting for use in the woods...

Next to being a football expert how may a youth in college most easily, most quickly and most brightly cover himself with glory?

Portland poured out from its little homes and flats and apartment-houses nearly 10,000 majority for the State University at Eugene...

You see, good friend of the Eugene Guard, that human society is a mighty big thing. All wish to do the right thing, but all look at things from variant and differing points of view.

Truth is that human society is the strangest of all phenomena in the world, as we know it. Its mystery is beyond any ken. Let us tolerate each other.

Some three years ago, more or less, Binger Hermann was indicted by an Oregon grand jury on accusation of complicity in land frauds.

There has been an infinite amount of talk against him in official circles. Henry made long speeches against him. Officials of the Department of Justice, here and at Washington, have been giving out whispers for years that they had the dope on Fulton.

There has been an infinite amount of talk against him in official circles. Henry made long speeches against him. Officials of the Department of Justice, here and at Washington, have been giving out whispers for years that they had the dope on Fulton.

An Astoria fishing schooner made an expedition to the Columbia bar a few days ago, and without any particular effort caught five tons of excellent fish, among the varieties taken being cod, sole, halibut, hake and red snapper, all edible fish, for which there is a large and growing demand.

This recent attempt to develop one of the pioneer ventures of its kind, for deep-sea fishing has been tried at intervals for a number of years, and in the past has not met with great success on account of the poor transportation facilities, as well as the limited population that could be reached.

The ease with which big catches of fish are made by the few men who have experimented with the industry proves quite clearly that the supply of raw material is practically inexhaustible, and is so easy of access from the Columbia river that the catch can be transported to the market in better condition than from any other port on the North Pacific.

Individually the men engaged in the work may not make excessive profits, but in the aggregate the earnings will reach large sums. It is an industry which in all parts of the world where open sea shipping facilities are available the sea attains considerable prominence and is beneficial alike to the fisherman, the community in which he resides and the great army of consumers who are thus afforded a plentiful supply of cheap and wholesome food.

The field which can be reached in enormous Spokane under the new train service promised by the North Bank line, will be by fifteen or sixteen hours from Astoria, and it will thus be an easy matter to land deep-sea fish in the inland Empire metropolis about twenty-four hours after they are taken from the ocean, while points as far east as Helena will be reached within forty-eight hours of the time the fish are caught and placed on ice.

tion of the past fifteen years. Of those that took the place of the "fallen timber" few, if any, have made as much money out of the business as has been made by the farmers whose crops they have been warehousing and financing.

The Pacific Northwest, with its large number of rapid-flowing streams, is probably in a better position than other localities to meet the changed conditions which will come with the trees, coalless age. Recent "dispatches" from Spokane announced the opening of a big power plant which will take 20,000 horsepower out of the Spokane River.

It is an awful thing that the Foraker negro delegations of the Southern States threaten to do. If the National convention at Chicago shall decide the contest against them they will bolt and let the Republican party in the Southern States go to the bow-wows.

Our Statement No. 1, people, having tied themselves up so that they will have to vote for Chamberlain in January, may think it well to get their hand in by voting for Bryan in November. That would be entirely logical, any way.

"The result of the Senatorial contest," says the Corvallis Gazette, "simply shows what damage a big newspaper can do when it draws its glittering blade and runs amok in the ranks of its friends."

Surgeon-General Wyman, in his report on experience with the bubonic plague in San Francisco, just published, says that the danger to this country, and to the world at large, of spread of the plague is not past, but that ceaseless vigilance, everywhere, will be necessary to keep it down.

Both rats and the fleas they carry are believed to be very common means of spreading the plague. The Surgeon-General therefore advocates a vigorous campaign of extermination of the rats. Coal oil has been found to be a valuable agent in the killing of the fleas.

Tom Watson, of Georgia, will be the Populist candidate for the Presidency. He will be a mighty good man to vote for. Oregon has virtually declared by its principles; yet Oregon perhaps doesn't yet know it. But "there's pippins and cheese to come."

We never shall have the full flower and fruit of Statement No. 1 until Mr. Geary shall succeed Mr. Bourne.

The law to change the Constitution of the United States, or rather to set aside the Constitution of the United States, in the matter of electing Senators, carried in the election of last Monday by a very large majority.

A Walla Walla dispatch in yesterday's Oregonian announced that the O. R. & N. Co. had granted the Farmers' Co-Operative and Educational Association half a dozen warehouse sites in the Walla Walla country.

The two new fish laws for the Columbia River, if enforced, will protect salmon by exterminating wheels at one end of the river and gillnets at the other. As each faction desires salmon protection, they will now have opportunity to prove the sincerity of their desire.

The Statement No. 1 legislators will do it. They will elect Chamberlain if they shall elect him Senator. But what, oh! what, can or will Chamberlain do for them?

Bound to Have Republican Legislature, Tacoma Ledger. The Republicans of Oregon are in a sorry plight with a decisive majority in the Legislature pledge-bound to send Governor George Chamberlain, Democrat, to the United States Senate.

It is an awful thing that the Foraker negro delegations of the Southern States threaten to do. If the National convention at Chicago shall decide the contest against them they will bolt and let the Republican party in the Southern States go to the bow-wows.

Our Statement No. 1, people, having tied themselves up so that they will have to vote for Chamberlain in January, may think it well to get their hand in by voting for Bryan in November. That would be entirely logical, any way.

"The result of the Senatorial contest," says the Corvallis Gazette, "simply shows what damage a big newspaper can do when it draws its glittering blade and runs amok in the ranks of its friends."

Surgeon-General Wyman, in his report on experience with the bubonic plague in San Francisco, just published, says that the danger to this country, and to the world at large, of spread of the plague is not past, but that ceaseless vigilance, everywhere, will be necessary to keep it down.

Both rats and the fleas they carry are believed to be very common means of spreading the plague. The Surgeon-General therefore advocates a vigorous campaign of extermination of the rats. Coal oil has been found to be a valuable agent in the killing of the fleas.

Tom Watson, of Georgia, will be the Populist candidate for the Presidency. He will be a mighty good man to vote for. Oregon has virtually declared by its principles; yet Oregon perhaps doesn't yet know it. But "there's pippins and cheese to come."

We never shall have the full flower and fruit of Statement No. 1 until Mr. Geary shall succeed Mr. Bourne.

The law to change the Constitution of the United States, or rather to set aside the Constitution of the United States, in the matter of electing Senators, carried in the election of last Monday by a very large majority.

A Walla Walla dispatch in yesterday's Oregonian announced that the O. R. & N. Co. had granted the Farmers' Co-Operative and Educational Association half a dozen warehouse sites in the Walla Walla country.

The two new fish laws for the Columbia River, if enforced, will protect salmon by exterminating wheels at one end of the river and gillnets at the other. As each faction desires salmon protection, they will now have opportunity to prove the sincerity of their desire.

The Statement No. 1 legislators will do it. They will elect Chamberlain if they shall elect him Senator. But what, oh! what, can or will Chamberlain do for them?

The Statement No. 1 legislators will do it. They will elect Chamberlain if they shall elect him Senator. But what, oh! what, can or will Chamberlain do for them?

FREAKS OF OREGON POLITICS. Bound to Have Republican Legislature, Tacoma Ledger. The Republicans of Oregon are in a sorry plight with a decisive majority in the Legislature pledge-bound to send Governor George Chamberlain, Democrat, to the United States Senate.

It is an awful thing that the Foraker negro delegations of the Southern States threaten to do. If the National convention at Chicago shall decide the contest against them they will bolt and let the Republican party in the Southern States go to the bow-wows.

Our Statement No. 1, people, having tied themselves up so that they will have to vote for Chamberlain in January, may think it well to get their hand in by voting for Bryan in November. That would be entirely logical, any way.

"The result of the Senatorial contest," says the Corvallis Gazette, "simply shows what damage a big newspaper can do when it draws its glittering blade and runs amok in the ranks of its friends."

Surgeon-General Wyman, in his report on experience with the bubonic plague in San Francisco, just published, says that the danger to this country, and to the world at large, of spread of the plague is not past, but that ceaseless vigilance, everywhere, will be necessary to keep it down.

Both rats and the fleas they carry are believed to be very common means of spreading the plague. The Surgeon-General therefore advocates a vigorous campaign of extermination of the rats. Coal oil has been found to be a valuable agent in the killing of the fleas.

Tom Watson, of Georgia, will be the Populist candidate for the Presidency. He will be a mighty good man to vote for. Oregon has virtually declared by its principles; yet Oregon perhaps doesn't yet know it. But "there's pippins and cheese to come."

We never shall have the full flower and fruit of Statement No. 1 until Mr. Geary shall succeed Mr. Bourne.

The law to change the Constitution of the United States, or rather to set aside the Constitution of the United States, in the matter of electing Senators, carried in the election of last Monday by a very large majority.

A Walla Walla dispatch in yesterday's Oregonian announced that the O. R. & N. Co. had granted the Farmers' Co-Operative and Educational Association half a dozen warehouse sites in the Walla Walla country.

The two new fish laws for the Columbia River, if enforced, will protect salmon by exterminating wheels at one end of the river and gillnets at the other. As each faction desires salmon protection, they will now have opportunity to prove the sincerity of their desire.

The Statement No. 1 legislators will do it. They will elect Chamberlain if they shall elect him Senator. But what, oh! what, can or will Chamberlain do for them?

The Statement No. 1 legislators will do it. They will elect Chamberlain if they shall elect him Senator. But what, oh! what, can or will Chamberlain do for them?

TAFT'S TRIBUTE TO GRANT. No Impropriety in Taft's Reference to Grant's Early Failure. New York World. In Secretary Taft's Memorial Day address on General Grant, regarded as a whole and with an eye to his intent, there is little ground for the criticism voiced by some of its veteran hearers.

The speaker referred plainly to certain weaknesses of Grant in his early manhood, to his drinking, to his resignation from the army under a cloud in 1854, and to his subsequent ill-success at farming and in business. No honest estimate of Grant's career can be made without taking these things into consideration.

It is an awful thing that the Foraker negro delegations of the Southern States threaten to do. If the National convention at Chicago shall decide the contest against them they will bolt and let the Republican party in the Southern States go to the bow-wows.

Our Statement No. 1, people, having tied themselves up so that they will have to vote for Chamberlain in January, may think it well to get their hand in by voting for Bryan in November. That would be entirely logical, any way.

"The result of the Senatorial contest," says the Corvallis Gazette, "simply shows what damage a big newspaper can do when it draws its glittering blade and runs amok in the ranks of its friends."

Surgeon-General Wyman, in his report on experience with the bubonic plague in San Francisco, just published, says that the danger to this country, and to the world at large, of spread of the plague is not past, but that ceaseless vigilance, everywhere, will be necessary to keep it down.

Both rats and the fleas they carry are believed to be very common means of spreading the plague. The Surgeon-General therefore advocates a vigorous campaign of extermination of the rats. Coal oil has been found to be a valuable agent in the killing of the fleas.

Tom Watson, of Georgia, will be the Populist candidate for the Presidency. He will be a mighty good man to vote for. Oregon has virtually declared by its principles; yet Oregon perhaps doesn't yet know it. But "there's pippins and cheese to come."

We never shall have the full flower and fruit of Statement No. 1 until Mr. Geary shall succeed Mr. Bourne.

The law to change the Constitution of the United States, or rather to set aside the Constitution of the United States, in the matter of electing Senators, carried in the election of last Monday by a very large majority.

A Walla Walla dispatch in yesterday's Oregonian announced that the O. R. & N. Co. had granted the Farmers' Co-Operative and Educational Association half a dozen warehouse sites in the Walla Walla country.

The two new fish laws for the Columbia River, if enforced, will protect salmon by exterminating wheels at one end of the river and gillnets at the other. As each faction desires salmon protection, they will now have opportunity to prove the sincerity of their desire.

The Statement No. 1 legislators will do it. They will elect Chamberlain if they shall elect him Senator. But what, oh! what, can or will Chamberlain do for them?

WE SHOULD RAISE THE MAINE. Let the World Know How the Battleship Was Blown Up. From the Independent. We have "remembered the Maine" long enough. It is time to disremember it, if we know how to do it.

It has been too long a menace and an insult. It has been all these ten years a danger to navigation and a bitter charge of bad faith against Spain. It has been more than that, a proclamation of cowardice, that we did not dare to test the truth of the charge of bad faith that we made, against a country with which we are at peace.

When the Maine was blown up in Havana harbor, it was the general belief that some Spaniards, presumably military men, had planted a mine under it and destroyed with it the lives of 264 men. "Remember the Maine" was the cry, and the result of the war, nor had we. But the blowing up of the Maine united our people and hastened the result. The war followed, and quick as the lightning the Spanish fleet was scattered, and the United States made sure haste to drive Spain of all her colonies. It was a good thing for Spain; whether it was a good thing for the United States has been a question with many. It was certainly a good thing for Cuba and Porto Rico and the Philippines.

The bulk of our navy, in the entrance of the harbor of Havana, visible to all, Congress appropriated $200,000 to raise and remove it, but the money was not expended. Why not?

We fear the reason was a lurking suspicion that we were in error when we charged the sinking of the Maine to the Spaniards. Since then several vessels belonging to different navies have been blown up by spontaneous explosion of their own shells, and the result composes, with heat, and explosion. Many believe, and some of our own officers, that the destruction of the Maine was a good thing for the United States. Spain was in the least to blame. It looks very much as if some people were unwilling that the truth should be settled, and that it seems as if some would prefer that the question should stand, whether justified or not.

But that is cowardly. We have now a new ship, the Maine, in a no ill-will, and a friendly country. We are at peace with her, and we ought to wish her well. Further than that, if we have, perhaps, a few more of the old-fashioned ironclads, it is an even worse mistake to maintain that grudge when it may be that no offense whatever had been committed, and that the wreck and loss of the Maine was a disaster.

How Can a Legislator Avoid Voting for Chamberlain? PORTLAND, June 8.—(To the Editor.)—Why this anxiety to find out what will be the result of the election about the election of United States Senator?

Have we not the imperative mandate adopted by the people at the election of last Monday? If we do not vote for Chamberlain, we are in violation of the will of the people. It is a great wrong to hold a loud strident against a Nation, and that for no evil done by the Nation itself, but at the instigation of a few individuals. It is an even worse mistake to maintain that grudge when it may be that no offense whatever had been committed, and that the wreck and loss of the Maine was a disaster.

What is the Constitution of the United States, anyway, but the thought of some effete Easterners, who lived some hundred years ago, and never dreamed that there should be a new state in the far-distant West, and that that state should be endowed with such a magnificent and splendid government as the People's Government? What is the Constitution of the United States, anyway, but the thought of some effete Easterners, who lived some hundred years ago, and never dreamed that there should be a new state in the far-distant West, and that that state should be endowed with such a magnificent and splendid government as the People's Government?

What is the Constitution of the United States, anyway, but the thought of some effete Easterners, who lived some hundred years ago, and never dreamed that there should be a new state in the far-distant West, and that that state should be endowed with such a magnificent and splendid government as the People's Government?

What is the Constitution of the United States, anyway, but the thought of some effete Easterners, who lived some hundred years ago, and never dreamed that there should be a new state in the far-distant West, and that that state should be endowed with such a magnificent and splendid government as the People's Government?

What is the Constitution of the United States, anyway, but the thought of some effete Easterners, who lived some hundred years ago, and never dreamed that there should be a new state in the far-distant West, and that that state should be endowed with such a magnificent and splendid government as the People's Government?

What is the Constitution of the United States, anyway, but the thought of some effete Easterners, who lived some hundred years ago, and never dreamed that there should be a new state in the far-distant West, and that that state should be endowed with such a magnificent and splendid government as the People's Government?