Break in the Local Market Is Looked For.

minent. This article for some time has been the weakest in the produce list, and oual consumption is sharply reduced, there is every reason to believe that prices will slump. Eggs were freely offered at 18 cents resterday without takers. In the opinion of some of the handlers, the market will souch 15 cents before there is a reaction. The Northern cities have ceased buying

Oregon eggs for the present. Scattle is stocked up with Eastern eggs and using them for home consumption and for filling Alaska orders. Vancouver, B. C., which, un-til a few days ago was a good buyer in the ocal market, is now getting plenty of eggs rom Western Canada and is ignoring Port-and. The light trade in eggs locally is fue to the hot weather which always checks buying. Jobbers who make a practice of buying direct in the country have canelled their offers and the eggs that come in from now on will be consigned.

There is the usual complaint of poor quality in the receipts, and candling resorts show plainly that country shippers are solding back stock too long. There is but little wisdom in holding back supplies in cold weather and the practice is certainly indefensible in Summer. There are some country shippers, who should know better, who ship in their eggs only once a week, and some of them once in two weeks, and then wender why they cannot get the market price for them.

WILL SHIP THEIR WOOL EAST. Idaho Growers Plan to Deal Directly With

Manufacturers. Idaho woolgrowers will ship their wool East to be stored in warchouses, not on consignment, but to be stored by the association and later sold to the manufacturers. Ciation and later soid to the manufacturers.

Utah, Wyoming and Montana weolgrowers are doing this and the action taken by the idaho weolgrowers at a meeting held in Boise, is a step towards co-operation in the plan their neighbors have inaugurated. Speaking of the action of the association one prominent sheep man is quoted by the Bolse Statesman as saying:

"We feel that the price offered is below what our wool is actually worth. The plan

"Fractically the whole clip remains un-sold, and the feeling is universal that at present prices it is better for the growers send their wool East. The meeting was armonious in every way and we real that a have started a movement in the right were elected as a committee to visit Eastern elties for the purpose of renting warehouses and making such other arrangements as may be necessary to put the plan in actual operation at as early a date as possible. It is understood that many matters were taken up by the woolgrowers for discussion, but the only subject on which anything was given out was concerning the plan for the disposition of the wool.

STRAWBERRY PRICES DROP SHARPLY Front-Street Market Is From $1.50 to $2.50 Per Crate-Trude Is Active.

strawberry market, as was to be expected, broke badly yesterday. In addition to the expected receipts from the Valley, Hood River sent in a big supply and prices had to give way all around. Hood Ri for the most part, sold at $2 2 2 30, though me poor stock went to the hawkers at .70. Gold Dollars brought $2 and other Valley shipments $1.50@2 Local berries were plentiful and sold around $2 and $2.25 with some fancy Clark seedlinks bringing $2.50. A good many berries that came in

The cherry market was heavily supplied and prices bad a wide range from 75 cents to $1.50 per box. Blackberries were also plentiful and slow at $1@1.25 per crate. Apricot receipts were light and the price held up by the floods in Montana are expected to reach the city this morning. A

HAY IS PLENTIFUL AND WEAK.

Local Grain Markets Are Quiet With Prices Steady.

The hay market is decidedly weak, and but for the firm holding of some of the dealers in this city, prices would probably tumble. Supplies are coming in freely and it is difficult to place them. While the Essisside is well cleaned up there are still good stocks on the West Side and also plenty of hay in Eastern Oregon and Eastern Washington. In addition to this, a heavy crop is coming on The cereal markets were quiet vesterday.

SECOND PENDLETON SALE

Half a Million Pounds, Practically All Wool Left in County, Is Cleaned Up-Prices Are From 6 3-4 to 13 3-4 Cents.

PENDLETON, Or., June 9 .- (Special.)-Dmatilia County's wool clip for 1908 was practically cleaned up at today's cales, when 18 clips, aggregating nearly 500,600 pounds, changed hands. The prices ranged from 6% to 13% cents.

The prices seemed to be about the same as those offered at the first sale, though William Sinsher, who declined the bid offered for his wool at the first sale, sold at an advance of 1 cent foday on his 150,000-pound clip. J. El Smith was offered 10 cents again on his 150,009 and refused. All other growers accepted the offere made today and seemed more willing to part with their fleeces than on former occasions. Most of that offered today was from the west end of the county and is considered inferior to the foothill clips. considered inferior to the foothill clips. considered inferior to the feethill clips.

CONVENTIONS ARE OVER.

Effect of the Proposed Cut in Steel Prices-Continued Decline in Interest Rates.

detail to record of today's stock market. In the later trading it fell into visible stagnathe later trading it fell into visible etagnation. Operators seemed to find nothing in the day's news to prompt speculative action and the discontinuance of trading marked the determination to await several expected events before embarking in the market. The convention period of the great political parties is a deterrent influence on activity, owing to the proverbial repressive effect of that seuson on business as well as on speculation.

The knowledge of a movement in progress among eteel men to consider the proposed cut in prices weighed on the market, on account among eteel men to consider the proposed cut in prices weighed on the market, on account of the uncertainty over the extent of the proposed cut and its influence on the reviving demand for the product. Opinion is not agreed as to the immediate effect of a price cut as between the possibility of prompt revival of demand and additional hesitation around hunter of the prosect that will for among buyers on the prospect that still fur-ther concessions might be allowed. An im-pression was abroad that some of the inter-ests in the steel trade feel discouraged over the autlook.

Union Pacific bonds is another event that was awaited. The fixing of the issue price at 05 and the quoting of a premium for the bonds, when issued, both in New York and London. made for confidence in the success of the issue. An application to the New York Pub-lic Service Corporation for permission to emit $50,000,000 new bonds by the Delaware & Hud-
