BY WILL G. MAC RAE.

It was Mr. Hardy that was slaughtered yesterday. Mr. Hardy who has been winning from the Seals. To our white-garbed pill-pounders Mr. Hardy was not different from Dellar, and the way his mixtures were slammed all over the Vaughn-street velt made the women present forget their disappointment of Friday last. Wasn't it awful, Mable, the way Mr. Hardy was scarred and battered? And wasn't it just too funny for anything to see the generous way in which Mr. Hardy issued those promissory notes? Most of the ten he gave were presented for collection.

Tossed into the matinee were three biffs that were good for extra bases, one triple and the home run that Babe Danzig poked to right. Now Babe will wear a new pair of hoof coverings and a new skypiece to cover his bean. The homer didn't go over the fence, but near it. It jarred the paint off the top layer of boards, and then, just to accommodate the dear ones in the grandstand, the ball coyly dropped down between the gap into Washington County. How the fair ones chortled and screamed with delight when this happened, for Raftery and McCredie were waiting on the perches.

Hardy Hands Out Passes.

This same homer seemed to be the undoing of Mr. Hardy. His temperature fell suddenly and he walked Bassey and Johnson. Bassey made it the fourth run when he came home on an infield foozle. After the opener Mr. Hardy seemed to gather strength, and, in spite of his wildness, he managed to keep us from registering until the fifth. Danzig walked, Bassey sacrificed and Johnson enjoyed his third pass. Phil Cooney came along and cleaned house with a long triple to left center. In trying to make another homer out of the swat, he was nabbed at the plate. In the seventh the bombardment was terrific. Mr. Hardy was shot four times for as many singles. A sacrifice helped along and Ed Kinsella surprised himself and everybody on deck by hitting to left for two bases. Four runs, ouch!

Two two-baggers made by Johnson and Madden, Raftery's single and a walk to Cooney, together with the base he stole while Slattery was dreaming, gave us four more. Madden's two-bagger sent home three. While Portland was shooting Mr. Hardy all over the lot, Kinsella was being touched up some lively. The big fellow knew he did not have much, but he was trying all the time. In the third Altman singled safe and Cook died to Danzig. Mr. Hardy may not have had much in the curve line, but he was there with the stick. He biffed safe and stole second. Van Haltren could not help, but on Haley's single, Altman scored. They came right back in the fourth, and three wallops, with one out between them, scored Slattery. Just for a couple of innings it looked as if McCredie's crew had grown careless. There was danger abroad, but there was also a tightening up of the works and once the screws were tightened, the Athenians couldn't break loose.

Raftery Stars in Field.

Aside from the home-run, the second on the local grounds, it was left to Tom Raftery to perform the spectacular stunts. He speared a long drive from Mr. Hardy's bat with one hand, colliding with the fence at deep right in doing so, which certainly robbed the Oakland slabster of a triple. That catch was all circus and Tom received a hand for fully a minute. He had a race for life in getting under Hogan's long screamer and he had to do ten seconds flat to grab that one on Van Haltren. That double from Kinsella to Cooney to Danzig was so fast that it sizzled. Oh, yes, we mustn't forget the one Bassey grabbed that was seeking a getaway. Our Italian friend also batted .1000.

CLOSE MATCHES AT IRVINGTON

Wickersham Defeats Bellinger and Black Beats Warriner.

The feature of yesterday's play in the tennis tournament at the Irvington courts was the four hard matches, two of men's singles, one of women's singles and one of mixed doubles. The match between Wickersham and Bellinger was won by Wickersham in straight sets, notwithstanding the hard fight put up by Bellinger. Warriner, a new player, compelled Black to go the limit before he lost to the latter in a five-set match.

The match of Mrs. Northrup and Mr. Andrews vs. Miss Schaefer and Mr. Rohr was close for the first two sets, but the third went to the first-named team with comparative ease. Miss Schaefer proved a surprise to the large gallery present by beating Miss Fording, last year's club champion, in the women's singles. The results follow:

Miss Shaefer beat Miss Fording, 6-1, 6-1; Wickersham beat Bellinger, 7-5, 9-7, 6-3; Black beat Warriner, 6-8, 1-6, 7-5, 6-2; Mrs. Northrup and Andrews beat Miss Schaefer and Rohr, 6-4, 7-9, 6-2.

The schedule of matches for today is as follows:

5 P. M.—Miss Moore and W. M. Miller vs. Miss Fording and J. Shives; Rohr and Schwelnitz vs. Wilder and Andrews. This match is a semi-final, best three out of five sets, and the winners will play Cawston and Shives in the finals.

Will Walk to Denver, Colo.

D. J. White and L. J. Dance, both of Pittsburg, Pa., who have been sojourning in Portland for the past month, will leave Portland today at noon to walk to Denver, Colorado, where they expect to meet relatives early in the Fall. The two pedestrians expect to make a better record between Portland and Denver than Edward Payson Weston performed between Portland, Me., and Chicago last year. The start will be made in front of the Oregonian building at 12 o'clock, noon, today, and the venturesome pair will carry only what luggage is actually required.

Passes Anti-Betting Bill.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 10.—The anti-racetrack gambling bill was passed today by the Lower House of the Louisiana Assembly.

The vote was 87 to 20. The bill is now up to the Senate, and should it pass that body it will put an end to the racing which has been a feature of the Winter season in New Orleans for almost a century.

SEATTLE SALE OF THOROUGHBREDS

Eastern Blue Ribbon Winners and Turnouts to Be Disposed Of at Auction.

WILL RAISE THE STANDARD

High-Steppers to Be Seen in Future Horse Shows of Pacific Northwest—Smart Carriages Are Also Offered.

The horse show fever, coupled with a desire on the part of the officials of the Seattle Horse Show Association to have high-class animals in the horse shows of the Pacific Northwest, has been the means of sending to Seattle for sale on June 16, 28 head of thoroughbreds. Many of the horses have been repeated blue ribbon winners, not only in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, but a number have taken blue ribbons in England. The horses were bought two months ago by members of the Seattle association together with the assistance of prominent horse show men of the East, and even the youngsters that will be sold are the classiest lot of horses ever brought west of Chicago.

In addition to buying the 28 head of horses, several smart turnouts, fancy show harness and other equipments that go to make a correct stable, were bought at the same time. In making a move of this sort, the Seattle Horse Show Association is aiming to set a new mark in the standard of high class private turnouts in the Pacific Northwest. Care has been taken in the selection not only of high steppers, but in the matter of strictly up-to-date equipment. It is not the desire of the Seattle association to make money on the sale and they assure all purchasers that when a horse or a turnout is once offered for sale in the ring, it will be disposed of to the highest bidder. There will be no protecting either horse or vehicle up to a certain price.

Thoroughbreds for Horse Shows.

The one aim of the association is to have at its horse show, and that of the Portland Hunt Club which will be held, September 8, 9 and 10, a greater number of fancy steppers for the public to see and admire. This move will undoubtedly be the means of raising the standard of private stables throughout this entire section.

Catalogues giving the breeding, names and a short history of each horse have been out for some time. A great many of them have been distributed in Portland and indications are that a number of the high-class harness nags will be eating their oats and hay in Portland stables.

People who have attended horse shows at the Madison-Square Garden will be familiar with such horses as Blaze o'Glory, a blue ribbon winner in the gig and runabout class at both New York and Boston. Lord Rosebury is another. His picture has been printed many times in Eastern papers, for he has won repeatedly in shows for harness horses over 16 hands. Sunshine, a typical show mare, is still another well-known winner that is to be sold. In fact the whole 28 head have been so carefully selected that it seems as if it would be impossible to find a better lot.

Chit-Chat of Sporting World

BY WILL G. MAC RAE.

THOSE sand crabs from Los Angeles never can lose a game on the level. Here comes a bark from them from San Francisco, saying that Umpire Jack O'Connell favored the home team at Portland and that is why they could do nothing better than break even. Los Angeles was simply lucky in hitting us when the team was on the hospital roll. O'Connell is not the kind that is handing out his decisions just to curry favor with the local fans.

* * *

A team of mules ran away when they saw Brick Devereaux at Chico the other day. The Red Dog must be getting mighty homely since he became manager. Maybe his worries have distorted that mug of his a lot.

* * *

Danny Long and the rest of the Seal management are in a state of mind over the slump the Seals have taken. Long is wildly scouring the country for players to strengthen up his team.

* * *

Long has sent Ed Kennedy, whom McCredie dropped after the Spring training, terms, and it was reported that the big fellow had accepted, but so far Edward hasn't showed.

* * *

A keen student of the game, after seeing a number of games at Seattle and then in Portland, says there is no comparison in the two leagues. He says Dugdale has a cheap lot of players who could not beat amateurs. One day last week about 50 fans took occasion to tell Dug this through one of the afternoon papers.

The Wabash baseball team, a crack local organization, has won ten straight games. The team goes to Sherwood on Sunday for a game.

* * *

An Eastern paper wants to know where the lonesomest place on earth is. We give it up, brother. Since we left the cellar every day has been Sunday.

* * *

Every man on the Portland team fattened his batting average yesterday. Ryan, McCredie and Cooney annexed two each and the rest got one each.

* * *

Tom Raftery was so anxious to get back at the hat and shoe man that he shooed Cooney in from third when he made that triple. But for Eagan's fine stop of the relayed ball and his true shot to the plate, Cooney would have made the rounds of the hat and shoe man with Danzig.

As Babe Danzig was trotting around the stations after his homer, a handsome blonde in the grandstand screeched hard enough to strain her vocal chords and then, when she got her breath, she said: "Isn't he too cute for anything! I could just hug him to death!" and perhaps she would have Hobsonized Hal hadn't it been for the wire screen.

* * *

McCredie's bunt in the seventh was a tantalizer. Altman trotted behind the ball as it rolled inside the foul line by a whisker, waiting for it to roll out. But it did not. Instead it rolled to third base and stopped at the sack.

SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

Experience of a Southern Man.

"Please allow me to thank the originator of Postum, which in my case speaks for itself," writes a Florida man.

"I formerly drank so much coffee during the day that my nervous system was almost a wreck. My physician told me to quit drinking it, but I had to have something to drink, so I tried Postum.

"To my great surprise I saw quite a change in my nerves in about 10 days. That was a year ago, and now my nerves are steady and I don't have those bilious sick headaches which I regularly had while drinking coffee.

"Postum seems to have body-building properties and leaves the head clear. And I do not have the bad taste in my mouth when I get up mornings. When Postum is boiled good and strong it is far better in taste than coffee. My advice to coffee drinkers is to try Postum and be convinced." "There's a Reason."
