ACTOR KILLED BY THUGS

BEATEN TO DEATH IN DAYLIGHT ON NEW YORK STREET.

Terrified Citizens Look On White Footpads Murder and Rob Albert Crosby.

NEW YORK, June 12.—While a dozen terrified men and women looked on from the windows of surrounding houses in West Twenty-seventh street, two highwaymen today beat to death and robbed a man claiming to be Albert Crosby. Crosby was an actor, and had been playing in "The Road to Yesterday." He was still breathing when witnesses of the tragedy ran up to him, after the robbers had fled, but he died in a hospital while the surgeons were preparing to trepan his shattered skull. According to the stories of eye-witnesses, the victim of the assault was sprinting slowly down the street when two men who had been walking behind him sprang upon him. One of the men seized him by the throat and while he held him the other struck Crosby a crushing blow on the forehead with a blackjack. Then as the man continued to struggle in an effort to free himself the man with the blackjack struck a second blow. Crosby fell to the sidewalk unconscious. As he lay there the robbers rifled his pockets and fled before an alarm could be given. An ambulance was called, but Crosby only lived a few minutes after reaching the hospital. The dead man was about 35 years old.

Detective Shot by Thief.

BUFFALO, June 12.—Jerry Lynch, a well-known detective, was shot in the stomach today while chasing Otto Susdorf, who was attempting to escape in connection with the sale of $1600 worth of stolen diamonds. Lynch will recover. Susdorf and Walter Dunn, a waiter who was with him, are under arrest.

DIPLOMAT SEEKS DIVORCE

Wife of Antonio Ruiz Olivares Is Mixed Up in Vanderbilt Case.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The identity of the mysterious Mme. Ruiz, whose name was frequently mentioned in connection with the suit of Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt for divorce from Alfred G. Vanderbilt, has just become public through the beginning of another divorce suit in which Mme. Ruiz is the defendant. The plaintiff in this case is Don Antonio Ruiz y Olivares, attache of the Cuban Legation at Washington, and the defendant's name is given as Senora Dona Agnes O'Brien de Ruiz. The complaint in the suit has not yet been served upon Mme. Ruiz, as the plaintiff's counsel has not yet succeeded in ascertaining her whereabouts. There is said to be strong likelihood that a successful prosecution of the divorce action may be followed by a suit for alienation of affection against a man as yet unnamed. Mr. Ruiz was married to Mary Agnes O'Brien in this city on August 17, 1903, according to the records. Miss O'Brien gave her brideprice as Missouri and her age as 25 years. They did not live happily, it is said, and after a few years decided to live apart. Since that time Mme. Ruiz has lived at several exclusive New York hotels and of late has had an apartment in Lexington avenue.

SOLVE FISHERIES PROBLEM

AN INDEPENDENT COMMISSION SHOULD DRAFT NEW BILL.

Secretary of State Benson Suggests Plan to Secure Legislation Protecting Salmon.

SALEM, Or., June 12.—(Special).—That an impartial commission should be appointed to prepare a new and comprehensive fish bill for the protection of salmon in the Columbia, is the opinion of Secretary of State Benson, one of the members of the State Fish Commission. As Mr. Benson views the situation, the adoption of the two initiative fish bills at the recent election practically prohibits all fishing in the Columbia. This being neither necessary nor desirable, the matter will come before the next Legislature. Speaking of the situation today, Mr. Benson said: "As the effect of the adoption of the two fish bills is generally understood, practically all fishing in the Columbia will be prohibited after the bills go into effect. There are some who claim that the bill proposed by the other Columbia interests is the only one that will go into effect, for the reason that it received the larger affirmative vote, and that the bill proposed by the wheelmen will not be in force. As the law reads, however, both will go into effect, except insofar as they are in conflict and in that respect the one having the larger affirmative vote would prevail. It is not certain that there is a conflict, but if there is, it is not very extensive. On the face of the statutes that have been adopted, the regulations are so strict as to amount to a practical destruction of the industry. This, I am sure, the people did not intend. "But by their votes the people declared in no uncertain terms that they are in favor of regulations strict enough to protect salmon from extermination. I believe the Legislature will undertake to pass a reasonable law upon this subject, and that it should do so. But I am also quite certain that if the matter should be left until the Legislature convenes there will be a strong lobby here working in behalf of the rival fishing interests, as there has always been in the past, and that it would be difficult for the Legislature to take up the subject and prepare and pass a bill that will be best for the fishing industry. When a fight of that kind is on, there is too likely to be a compromise between the two opposing interests, advantageous to both but very injurious to the salmon supply. "I believe the matter should be threshed out before the Legislature convenes and that for this purpose a commission, composed of about seven prominent men of the state, should be appointed to consider the problem of salmon protection. Probably it would be well to have on the commission one representative of each of the contending fishing interests. An officer or agent of the United States Fish Commission should be on the commission. These men, chosen because of their particular fitness for the work, could do into effect, for the reason that it received the larger affirmative vote, and that the bill proposed by the wheelmen will not be in force. As the law reads, however, both will go into effect, except insofar as they are in conflict and in that respect the one having the larger affirmative vote would prevail. It is not certain that there is a conflict, but if there is, it is not very extensive. On the face of the statutes that have been adopted,

DRAWINGS ON EXHIBITION

DISPLAY OF WORK BY PUPILS OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Art Museum Will Be Open Free to Public Sunday, Thursday and Saturday Afternoons.

Two thousand drawings by almost as many pupils of the grammar schools of Portland are to be displayed at the Art Museum, Fifth and Taylor streets, today and all next week. The exhibition was formally opened to the public yesterday. The drawings include work from pupils in the primary grades to the ninth-grade pupils. Perhaps the youngest artist represented is little Miss Mary Eaton Smith, 5 years of age, who is the producer of five of the clearest drawings. This juvenile artist is a pupil at South Mount Tabor School, and has five water colors on exhibition. It is the first annual display of drawings from the various public schools, and is under the direction of Miss Esther Wuest, supervisor of drawing in the public schools of this city. It includes color work, designs, mechanical drawings, lettering of all kinds, representation work, such as landscapes and flowers, and other kinds of drawings. The 2000 drawings are all original, and there is no copy work. The work of the children in house-plans is especially satisfactory to those in charge. These drawings are under the department of study of architecture, and all the plans are original. One pupil has prepared the plans and perspectives for an ideal Swiss residence, or mountain cottage. It is attracting wide attention. Admission to the Museum is always free to the public on Thursday and Saturday afternoons, and during this exhibition it will also be free to pupils of the public schools every afternoon from 12 to 5 o'clock. For the benefit of parents and others unable to attend during the week, it will also be open tomorrow from 2 to 5 o'clock with free admission.
