

ITS JULIO STOLEN

Democratic Party of Colorado Makes Old Charge.

CALLS CONGRESS COWARD

Platform Accuses It of Hostility to Roosevelt's Recommendations.

Instructs Delegates to Bryan to the Last.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., June 15.—The Colorado delegates to the National Democratic Convention were instructed by the state convention, by which they were selected this afternoon, to vote for the nomination of W. J. Bryan for President, while his name shall be before the convention as a candidate.

Although the Denver delegation, headed by Mayor Robert W. Speer, was recognized as regular, the majority was defeated on the question of platform this morning. The platform says:

Charges Political Larceny.

We call attention to the fact that every reform accomplished and every measure recommended by the present administration for the correction of existing evils or for the promotion of the general good are embodied in the National Democratic platform of 1896, 1900 and 1904 and have been opposed by the Republican party; that every evil denounced by the President as a menace to the Nation has been the outgrowth of Republican rule and any attempt to suppress their suppression was opposed by Democratic votes and was opposed by the leaders of his own party.

The Congress, whose recent adjournment has been its only meritorious act, too hostile to the President's recommendations to adopt them and too cowardly to close its session without the presence of legislation, has deliberately postponed measures of paramount importance until after the next election, enacting a so-called emergency currency law, the operation of which brings but small measure of relief, while giving value to a line of securities as the basis of currency issues.

Bryan, the Fearless.

Enactment of a statute requiring voters to express at the polls their choice for United States Senator, and a National banking law similar to the Oklahoma law guaranteeing deposits, was advocated.

The platform concludes as follows: Resolved, That in William J. Bryan the Democracy of Colorado recognizes a true patriot, a wise leader, a courageous statesman and a thoroughly honest man, in the White House or out of it no machine could hold him. The duties of his office are his independence, his ability, his exalted patriotism, his stainless character, appeal to the loyal people of the Nation.

Therefore, we heartily instruct the delegates elected by this convention to cast their ten votes for William J. Bryan for President and to continue so to cast their votes while his name shall be before the convention as a candidate.

John T. Barnett, of Orouay, offered a short substitute recommending that National issues be left to the Denver convention, and instructing for Mr. Bryan. Mr. Speer spoke in favor of the substitute. The majority report was adopted by an almost unanimous vote.

Arrange for Denver Convention.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Members of the Democratic National committee on arrangements for the Denver convention met today in the state headquarters here to pass upon final plans for the convention. The next session will be held in Denver about June 25.

Views a Great Spectacle

One Point Draws Applause.

He did get one unrestrained and spontaneous response from the crowd. Mr. Burrows interpolated into the formal address a few impromptu remarks about the live and annoying injunction question, taking strong ground against any interference whatever with the functions of the courts.

Hard Fight on Injunction.

It may be regarded as settled that this convention will throw no sop to the laboring man by any radical utterance on that question. The prospect would appear to be that nothing whatever will be said, or, if something is said, it will surely be deemed to hurt the feelings of no one. Yet underneath the surface there is more real interest in this matter than any other excepting the Presidential nomination. The "allies" have even a chance to defeat the President. They are willing to accept a progressive expression in the platform on trusts and railroads, and they look at tariff revision without a tremor, but they will make their stand against any anti-injunction plank and fight to the last drop.

Forlorn Hope of Allies.

The allies have utterly lost heart, and are simply going through the motions of trying to beat Taft. Senator Scott of West Virginia, and one Phillips, of Pennsylvania, have become chiefs of the third-term boom, but is leaking gas badly. Various whisperings emanate from that quarter that there is going yet to be a stampede, and that the Taft forces will be dispersed in rout and confusion. It has been declared by some important person, name not given, but a United States Senator, has been found to place Roosevelt in nomination, and when he does there will be something doing.

Borah Kills Off Story.

"I was asked to present Roosevelt's name, but refused most emphatically. No friend of the President will nominate him. In my judgment, the President will dominate the convention, and there will be no Roosevelt stamped."

GOOD ROADS PLANKS

President Says Good Roads Needed to Draw People to Farm Life.

Nation Asked to Pay One-Fourth Cost.

CHICAGO, June 16.—The gospel of good roads will be preached to both the Republican and Democratic National conventions. Every influence will be brought to bear to have a "good roads" plank inserted in the platform of each party. This programme was decided upon at the first meeting of the National Good Roads Congress here yesterday.

The work of the credentials committee, under Fulton's guidance, is being rapidly dispatched, and the convention may be able to proceed with its work tomorrow, according to programme. It is Chairman Fulton's plan after the report of the committee is presented, to move the previous question, so as to prevent the allies from carrying the same contests before the convention.

Roosevelt Wants Cummins.

The word is going around tonight that the President is now anxious that Governor Cummins be the Vice-Presidential nominee. The suggestion grows no great entirely new. It may be accepted by the convention if Roosevelt insists. Even then, however, Cummins' success would be questionable. If a determined and genuine effort were to be made to nominate Fairbanks.

The obstacles just now before Fairbanks as a Vice-Presidential nominee are that the tacit hostility of Roosevelt and Taft and the repeated declaration of Fairbanks himself that he does not want to be renominated. But the latter is of no real consequence, in view of the universal belief that Fairbanks is more than willing or will be when the time comes. For the present the Vice-President is considered by sheer modesty in declining to be a candidate for two places at the same time, since he still regards himself as in the Presidential race. If the White House keeps hands off the ticket would certainly be Taft and Fairbanks.

ALLEN SCHOOL ENDS YEAR

DIPLOMAS ARE PRESENTED TO CLASS OF 14.

Dr. Luther R. Dyott Addresses the Graduates on "The Privileged Life"—Vocal Solos Given.

Hawthorne Park Presbyterian Church was crowded to the doors last night, the occasion being the graduating exercises of the Allen Preparatory School. Diplomas were presented to the 14 members of the class of 1908.

A short programme was rendered, consisting of musical numbers by Mrs. May Dearborn Schwab and John Claire Monteth, and an address by Dr. Luther R. Dyott. The singing of Mrs. Schwab and Mr. Monteth was warmly received and encores were generously responded to.

Dr. Dyott chose as the subject of his address, "The Privileged Life." He referred to the duty the individual owes to himself to live to his highest and to do the work he was sent into the world to accomplish.

"The privileged life asks for means for discrimination," said Dr. Dyott; "the ability to achieve something in this world demands the privilege to see, to live, to love, to serve; the opportunity and the inspiration to do something worth while. This busy world shoves angrily aside him who waits until he has his own work to do, who waits to have his task marked out in vain. It does not so much matter what you do as how you do it. You have the right to be a child, something when you can be a first-rate anything."

The diplomas were presented to the graduates by Mrs. Margaret V. Allen, principal of the school.

At the conclusion of the exercises an informal reception was held at the Allen Preparatory School. The main parlors, library and class rooms on the lower floor were elaborately decorated for the occasion with roses and ferns.

Following is the complete programme of last night's exercises:
