COMMITTEE STILL SITS

Kentish Observer Declares Growers Can Get No Relief Until Unionists Get Back to Power-Active Trade in Fruits.

At this distance it is impossible to say what action will be taken by the British government in the matter of the proposed 40s duty on American and other imported hops, but judging from the comment of the English papers there is not much prospect hops, but judging from the comment of the English papers there is not much prospect of the growers getting the desired reitef, which, while it might help them materially, would give a body blow to the hop industry of Oregon. The Kentish Observer, published in the heart of England's principal hop producing section, says editorially:

It is said to be "understood on excellent authority" that while the majority of the select committee on the hop industry, being pledged to free trade, cannot see their way to recommending an import duty on foreign hops, there is a general feeling in favor of legislation compelling the foreigner to mark his hops, and also against the use of hop substitutes and supplements. We of this journal have never expected that the committee would support the demand for a duty—it would be hardly likely that anything in the nature of protection even for such a special and limited industry as hopprowing would be conceded by Rudicals steeped to the lips in Cobdenism. Whether the two reforms which the committee is said to be favoring would be of much help to tae industry remains to be seen. The marking act ought certainly to be extended to foreign hops, and the use of substitutes for hops in favoring would be of much help to the industry remains to be seen. The marking act ought certainly to be seen. The marking act ought certainly to be seen the marking act ought certainly to be seen the marking act ought, extended to foreign hope, and the use of shortlines for hops in brewing should be regulated by law, though we question very much whether a pure beer bill would be of any great advantage to the growers. As we have so often declared, only an import duty could restore prosperity to the industry, and this will never come until the Unionists get back to power.

The Parliamentary select committee continues to hold sittings at London and will probably sit all Summer. At one of its recent sessions, the star witness was John Gretton, a member of the Bass firm. Mr. Gretton is also a member of the committee. He said that it was necessary for his firm to purchase only the best material and with them price was a secondary consideration. The quality of the English hop was slowly but steadily deteriorating. Year by year they found it more difficult to buy fine English hops. The reason for the deterioration in order to produce a large crop, which had resulted in overforcing the plant he agreed that there was a decreased demand for hops used in brewing, and thought it would be a good thing for the hopgrowers, the brewers and the public if the use of substitutes was prohibited. If the price of hops were increased owing to a duty of 60s, the cost per barrel of beer to the brewer would be increased 734 or 84. In the case of Bass the extra cost would be 1s 3d per harrel.

G Bird, hop factor, attributed the depres-

Is 3d per harrel.

G Bird, hop factor, attributed the depression in the hop industry mainly to overproduction, although he pointed out that there was also a smaller demand, owing to improved methods of brewing. He regarded a 40s duty as likely to be only a temporary balliative.

FRESH FRUITS ARE IN DEMAND.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE HIDE MARKET Prices Have Not Been Materially Advanced, but Feeling Is Better.

There is considerable improvement noticed in the hide market. Prices have not been materially advanced, but there is a better feeling all around. The Eastern demand is steadily enlarging and the effect is shown in the stronger markets on this Coast. Advices from Chicago under date of June 13,

The domestic hide market continues strong, although the increase in receipts of cattle during the first part of the present week has led tanners to believe that prices on packer hides will not advance any further, and they are holding out of the market as a rule at the increased rates that are named by the packers. Tanners of late have been operating more heavily in that are named by the packers. Tanners of late have been operating more heavily in foreign hides, which they have been able to secure to good advantage, even after paying the duty. Reports are current that total sales of wet salted River Plate hides to one tenner aggregate 60,000. Chicago packers are asking high prices for late salting hides, and are holding native steers at 13%c, heavy Texas at 1%c, but brands and Colorados at 12%c, branded cows at 10%c and heavy native cows at 10%c. About 50,000 were sold at these advanced prices. Country hides have shown more activity during the past week, and prices have stiffened up on these somewhat. The receipts of common varieties of Latin-American dry hides continue small and the market is firm on those at the last advance of %c.

Stock Trading and Price Movement Narrow.

IN PROFESSIONAL HANDS

Bulletins From Chicago Convention Made Basis of Operations-Better Crop Reports Have Some Influence.

NEW YORK, June 18—The narrow restriction of the price movement continued to be the feature of the stock market to day. Yesterday's downward tendency was not far extended before the movement turned and prices hardened again. Dealings were so insignificant in volume that the fact in Itself deprived the movement of importance. Professional operations of the smaller sort apparently made up the whole market.

Bulletins from the Republican convention were made the besis of some of the operations of this kind. The adding of some qualifying phrases to the anti-injunction plank of the platform, as first presented to the committee, and the inclusion of a protestation of party devotion to the authority and integrity of the judiciary were haired as an evidence of control over radicalism. Opinion over the wheat crop prospects also had an influence in the recovery of prices from the early depression. Immediate weather news indicated a passing of the conditions from which damage has been feared.

The views of the steel trade journals feared. The views of the steel trade journals on the effects of the cut in prices of products were not hopeful, and another decline in the price of copper metal in London was reported. The metal stocks, however, were prominent in the late recovery of prices. The money market here continued easy.

PORTLAND LIVESTOCK MARKET. Prices Quoted Locally on Cattle, Sheep and Prices Quoted Locally on Cattle, Sheep and Hogs.

Receipts of cattle are in excess of the demand, and as considerable proportion of the arrivals are grass-fed stock, the market has been weakened as a consequence. Lambs and calves are quiet with an ample supply. Receipts yesterday were 120 cattle, 250 sheep, 180 hogs. 300 lambs and 30 calves.

The following prices were current on live-stock in the local market yesterday:

Y. W. C. A. DELEGATES LEAVE TODAY FOR BEACH.

Many Leading Workers Will Attend

Annual Conference and Take Part in Sessions.

Delegates to the annual Northwest conference of the Young Women's Christian Association from Portland, will leave in special cars this morning for Seaside, where the meeting is to be held. The session at the beach resort, which opens today, is expected to be one of the most successful events of the kind ever held in Oregon and will not close until June 29. For several weeks workers in the Association, both here and in Washington, have been devoting their time to arranging details for the convention, and when the assemblage of young women convenes today everything will be in readiness for them to go ahead with their programme without meeting with any obstacles. Everything possible to entertain the members of the society at Seaside and make their stay a pleasant one will be done by the committee in charge of arrangements. Just how many delegates will attend the confer-ence is not known, but it is believed that the assemblage will number sev-eral hundred.

Among the first personally to visit the beach for the purpose of effecting the final arrangements for the holding of the convention were Miss Delta

Watson, business manager of the Portland Young Women's Christian Asso-ciation and her assistant, Miss Sarah Farley. Both Miss Watson and Miss

Farley. Both Miss Watson and Miss Farley have been at Seaside for several days. Among other delegates who have already reached the beach are Miss Frances Gage. Northwest secretary, and Miss Abby McElroy, territorial secre-tary for California, Idaho and Nevada Miss Elizabeth Harris, traveling secretary of the student volunteers, who has for several days been visting in Forest Grove, will leave with the local delegation this morning. The best known workers on the coast will be in attendance at the conference and it is expected that much will be accom-
