WHITE TEMPLES ANNUAL PICNIC—The White Temple Bible school and congregation hold their annual picnic at Gladstone Park today. Special cars will leave First and Alder streets at 9 A. M. It is expected that a large crowd will attend and plans have been made for a most interesting time. A baseball game is to be played between the single men and the married men. Dr. Brougher, the pastor of the church, who was the pitcher for the college team that won the championship of California in 1900, is going to pitch for the married men and W. R. Litzberg, superintendent of the Sunday school is going to catch. MISSING MAN FOUND—W. O. Wetterborg, who suddenly disappeared from his home, 488 Patton road, early Wednesday morning was found yesterday at the home of his cousin, Carl Anderson, at Portland. He was very ill when found and it is said to be due to his illness that he wandered away. Wetterborg is employed as collector of the Ames Mercantile Agency and lives with his mother. NORTH ALBINA NEWS—The Beef Trust is on the wane and howl. Smith was reported arrested at 20 Mississippi avenue, the old De France Market. The people of that district have been taxed mightily for their meats and even then couldn't get good quality. It will be different now. Smith will give them the very best meats in the world—Oregon meats, at the low prices Smith used to charge. The public is invited to attend. ACADEMY OF SCIENCES—The Oregon Academy of Sciences will hold its monthly meeting this evening at 8 o'clock, at the City Hall, Fifth-street entrance. Papers will be presented by C. J. McDonald on "Esperanto," the New World and Ross Nicholas on "Useful Language and Amateur Photography." The public is invited to attend. REV. L. MYRON BOGGER will preach tomorrow in Calvary Presbyterian Church, and "A Question of Service."

WITNESS IN MURDER TRIAL

Ex-District Attorney Testifies for Lem Woon, Charged With Murder of Lee Dai Hoy—Defendant on Stand. Charles F. Lord, at one time District Attorney of Multnomah county, said yesterday that he is a member of the Sing Tong, and that he has been such for the last 14 years. He was the first witness called by the defense in the Lem Woon murder trial, which is in progress before a jury in Judge Bronaugh's department of the Circuit Court. When on cross-examination, Attorney Dan J. Mahoney asked Mr. Lord whether or not he is at present a member of a tong, or Chinese fraternal organization, Attorney Logan made a strenuous objection. Mr. Lord said that the question was an insult, whereupon Mr. Lord said: "I am a member of the Sing Tong, and have been for 14 years." After thus qualifying as an expert witness, Mr. Lord proceeded to tell of Chinese customs, saying that the dying statement of a Chinaman would not be regarded by Chinese as inviolate. Lord, he said, further stated that the proper way when the latter was ordered deported by United States Commissioner Sladen. Lem Woon appealed his case to Judge Wolverton of the Federal Court. Lord said that then knew the man as Lem Shue, alias Ah Shue. Defendant on Stand. The defendant himself was placed on the stand yesterday, and difficulty was at once experienced in the translations made by the Chinese interpreter. Lem Woon put in frequent objections. Lem said that about 6:30 on the night of the murder, March 7, he went out to buy some food. He said Jo Bone cooked the supper, and that some 12 men ate before 7 o'clock. He was arrested, he said, between 7 and 8 o'clock. The meal was eaten, he said, and the defendant, the Chinese merchant, he said, however, that he had not seen the defendant. Lem also said that Lee Dai Hoy made the statement on his deathbed that Lem did not shoot him, but that he was shot by a Chinaman from San Francisco. Attorney Ralph Wilbur, who took the dying man's statement at the hospital, testified that Lee's identification of Lem Woon, the accused man, was positive; that, although he could not point Lem out with his hands, as Lee's arms were both shot, he nodded his head, and Lem was the man who shot him. Wilbur said Lee also identified Yee Gung as being with the murderers, but did not identify Jo Bone. Once Rode in Patrol Wagon. The tension in the courtroom was broken yesterday afternoon, when William Hickey, a teamster, was called to the witness stand. Hickey was sitting at a Chinese lunch counter at 267 Pine street, when the shooting took place. He heard the shots, but did not investigate until the patrol wagon dashed up Pine street. "Did the patrol wagon look any different than it had on previous occasions, so that it aroused your curiosity?" asked Attorney Mahaley. "Yes, sir, it did" was the rejoinder. "How?" "I rode in it to jail once when I was younger because I refused to move on when an officer told me to. I didn't know any better then."

AFTER ENGINEER THOMSON

REALTY BOARD WANTS HIM FOR STREET WORK. Other Important Business Is to Be Brought Up at Next Meeting of the Organization.

Several matters of more than usual importance and interest are to be brought up at the next meeting of the Portland Realty Board, which is to be held in the convention hall of the Commercial Club, Tuesday night, June 23. Last Tuesday was the date of the regular meeting of the board, but it was postponed for a week to suit the convenience of the majority of the members.

Whitney L. Boise is to bring up and discuss a project which he has at present only partially formulated, but he said yesterday that with some additional consideration and collection of data he would be prepared to have it ready for presentation at the meeting. The subject, he said, was one that would directly interest realty men in further development of Oregon, especially with reference to colonization.

Invitation is to be sent today to the officers of the recently organized Civic Improvement Committee, requesting the attendance of that body at the meeting, to the end that harmonious and concurrent action shall be taken towards making overtures to R. H. Thomson, of Seattle, to come to Portland and assume charge of whatever movement is to be taken in the line of street improvements. J. O. Rountree, secretary of the Realty Board, said that he considered it not only advisable but imperative that Mr. Thomson's services should be secured at once to start the movement in this direction, and that the matter of salary is of minor consideration.

Another matter in the same direction that will be brought up for discussion is the advisability of employing an attorney to suggest a plan through which a change may be made in the present charter in the provisions referring to the assessment for making new streets, their construction and subsequent care.

OPENING A BIG EVENT

The Acme Billiard Parlors Visited by a Large Assemblage.

The Portland people turned out en masse last evening to the opening of the Acme Billiard and Pool Parlors, which were opened by Brown & McCredie.

The visitors, both men and women, were greatly pleased and surprised at the magnificent equipment and handsome fixtures and furnishings. One person frankly admitted that these parlors were unequalled anywhere in the United States, and that they were superior to any on the Pacific Coast, from every view, taking into consideration the lighting, both natural and electrical, and also the arrangement and general convenience.

Every detail is complete and the fixtures, tables, etc., are the very latest in design and invention. The parlors will be open today at 10 A. M. for regular business.

ENTIRE DAY TO GET JURY

Fourth Trial of Walton for Shooting Nelson.

The entire day was taken yesterday in securing a jury to try Charles W. Walton for shooting Policeman Olaus Nelson. This will be the fourth time the case has been tried. At the last two trials the jury stood six for conviction and six for acquittal. Walton is also accused of holding up a Willamette Heights streetcar, and it was while doing so, according to the grand jury, that he shot Nelson. The crime was committed in September, 1904.

The case is on trial before Judge Cleland in the Circuit Court. Of the six venire of 25 men, which was drawn Thursday night, only two were accepted. Many of them were prominent business men, and because of pressing engagements 14 of them were excused before court convened. These were: William Woodward, W. E. Prudhomme, E. L. Thompson, M. E. Wakeman, Ben Selling, Walter R. Beebe, J. J. Kaddorby, Thomas G. Farrell, Henry W. Fries, D. A. Pattullo, Fred G. Buffum, H. R. Albee, Ben Levy and C. A. Lehman. The two members of this special venire who were accepted on the jury were George Lawrence and C. H. Gaylord.

It became apparent yesterday noon that another special venire would have to be called, so the court issued an order for 20 more men. The jury as finally accepted is as follows: George Lawrence, wholesale harness and saddlery; C. H. Gaylord, formerly secretary of the Portland Hotel; L. H. Chambers, bookkeeper, lives at St. John; C. M. Paul, Custom-House Inspector; P. A. Preston, contractor; E. Silver, formerly in the commission business; Harry E. Wood, meat market; E. Versteeg, brickyard on East Side; C. A. R. Strauss, assistant cashier at Postoffice; McKinley Mitchell, commission merchant, formerly at Gervais; W. A. Currie, formerly with a sewing machine company, now contractor.

When the jury was finally secured the defense had used six of its 12 peremptory challenges; the state had used one. Those excused were: J. J. Baltzer, for cause; H. J. Faust, cause; Calvin Shepherd, cause; Thomas Connor, defense; J. S. Day, cause; Paul C. Bates, cause; W. C. Alvord, defense; L. H. Parker, defense; J. W. Ganong, defense; D. C. Burns, cause; James, cause; C. C. Cline, defense; J. B. Coffey, cause; A. T. Gunderson, defense; J. F. Hongevs, cause; Charles Levy, cause; E. P. Loomis, cause; W. A. Clark, defense.
