JURY OUT SINCE FRIDAY

BENSON-HYDE CASE HANGS IN THE BALANCE.

Millionaire Defendant and Associates Accused of Defrauding Government of Public Lands. WASHINGTON, June 21.—With ramifications stretching from Washington City to the Pacific Coast states for several years, the case of John A. Benson, millionaire real estate operator of San Francisco; Frederick A. Hyde, Henry P. Dimond and J. H. Schneider, indicted for alleged conspiracy to defraud the Government of public lands, has hung in the balance before a jury in the District of Columbia Criminal Court No. 1 since Friday afternoon. The case has attracted wide interest. After numerous delays the trial was finally begun in this city on April 1 before Justice Stafford in the Criminal Court. Nearly three months were occupied in presenting evidence, principally of a technical nature. Hundreds of records from the land office in California, Washington and Oregon were placed in evidence and much time consumed in their identification by witnesses. Through the appropriation of $60,000 by Congress last winter to cover the cost of bringing nearly 200 witnesses from California and Oregon the Government was enabled to proceed with the case after numerous postponements due to lack of funds. It is estimated that the prosecution has cost the Government $100,000 or more. The indictments charged generally that the defendants, from October, 1901, to February, 1904, in this city, unlawfully conspired to defraud the United States out of large tracts of public lands in the West. It was alleged that Hyde and Benson secured title to school lands in state forest reservations by alleged fraudulent methods and that these titles were then assigned to the United States Government for selection purposes under the act of 1897, securing the government attorneys allege, 100,000 acres in this manner. Schneider, who was charged with securing titles to school lands in Oregon, was in the employ of Hyde for many years. The prosecution endeavored to prove that the defendant who received money from Benson for expediting his application in the land office for the land selection. During the trial Benson barely escaped commitment to jail for contempt of court by refusing to answer certain questions after Justice Stafford had informed him that it was his duty to do so. The presentation of evidence was finished June 12, and most of the last week was occupied with closing arguments of counsel. Judge Stafford's charge to the jury occupied three hours.

Campbell, of the University and a member of the association executive committee, writes: "We are making preparations to give the teachers a great reception. We want to make it the very pleasantest association meeting ever held in the state." The association is most fortunate in being able to secure the services of Albert Bushnell Hart, of Harvard, and Elwood F. Cubberly, of Stanford. The former is a specialist in history and the latter a well-known authority on school finance. Many teachers will attend themselves of the opportunity to attend the University commencement day exercises by going on the special excursion train which leaves the Union Depot at 7 A. M. Wednesday.
