WOULD WIDEN UNION AVENUE.—The proposed paving of Union avenue, be-tween Holiaday avenue and Alberta street, a distance of nearly two miles, at an estimated cost of $109,000, has brought forward the question of first widening the street to 70 feet. South from Holiaday avenue this might not be eaky, for it has already been paved, but it would not be impossible. North from Morris street Union avenue is 70 feat wide to Woodlawn, and it is argued that it ought to be made a 70-foot street south at least to Holiaday avenue to cor-respond with the width of the street north. Whether the property-owners would be willing to suspend proceedings morth. Whether the property-owners would be willing to suspend proceedings to improve the street and take up the widening is a matter to be ascertained. North from Holladay avenue there are no serious difficulties in the way so far as the moving of buildings is concerned. Nearly all the buildings are frame struc-tures between Holladay avenue and Morris street and could be moved back very easily. Union avenue is the longest and most important street on the East and most important street on the East Side and carries a great traffic.

The frontispiece is a beautifully packed box of apples showing through a perforated cover of walnuts. The text is well pre-pared and excellently typed and the whole tone of the publication is effective and at the same time sizes evidence of such an the same time gives evidence of such an appreciation of artistic impressions as is seldom seen in literature of this class. The book was designed by M. O. Lowns-dale, manager of the Yamhili Develop-ment League.
