Malarkey Scores Kribs.

Mr. Malarkey followed Mr. McCourt and talked for nearly two hours. He began by saying that the indictment against Mr. Booth was returned October 8, 1905, by Francis J, Heney and that the only witness that had been exumined before the grand jury that reported the indictment was Frederick A. Kribs. He complained of the repeated delays in bringing the case to trial and insisted bringing the case to trial and insisted that the defendant had been ready any day since the indictment was returned to go to trial. Counsel was especially pointed in his remarks concerning Kribs, who, he said, was equally as culpable and corrupt as Booth, if the alleged crime had been committed.

had been committed. Point Gained by Becker. Among the documentary evidence of-fered by the Government while ex-Regis-ter Bridges was on the stand yesterday was the plan of the Douglas County Bank Building at Roseburg, in which the Rose-hurg Land Office is located, showing the arrrangement of the various offices con-nected with the Land Office. Judge Becker, for the Government, was suc-nected with the Land Office. Judge Becker, for the Government, was suc-tarted on the lands and made improve-nects in good faith were allowed 90 days in which to make filings on the particular tracts on which they had lived and made improvements. But before the original settlers could formally file on the land. several outsiders made prior filings. In order for them to do so it was necessary for each applicant to make affidavit that the land applied for was not occupied and had not been improved. Becker, for the Government, was suc-cessful in introducing some of the early applications of Kribs, dated May 1900, for indemnity school land selections, and Land Office at Washington. Other pa-pers were also offered in the same con-nection, showing that these lands were about to be defrauded of their rights. There were with breakfast by the cook, threw numerous complaints of the kind and several were brought to the attention of United States Attorney McCourt, which purpose of the Government in presenting this evidence was to show that prior to the time that Kribs made the alleged are rangement with Booth for furnishing him with advance information, many deep with advance information, many desir-able tracts of valuable land got away from him and were filed on by other in-Mr. Roberts said yesterday that if he terests. Judge Webster, for the defense, object-ed vigorously to the introduction of all such evidence, alleging that it was not material or relevant. After hearing ar-gument, Judge Wolverton overruled the objection and held that the prosecution had the right by the introduction of such papers to show what was the regular method of procedure in disposing of all such rejected applications, even includ-ing the final disposition of the lands involved.

The examination of Mr. Bridges will be resumed by Judge Becker this morning.
