FOUR MURDERED WITH DYNAMITE

Explosion Wrecks Saloon and Grocery Store With Living-Rooms Overhead and Sets Fire to Ruins—Three Are Injured.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—A mysterious explosion, followed by a fire, which occurred at an early hour today at Diamond and Cheney streets, caused the death of four persons, seriously injured three others and completely destroying two buildings and caused a loss of $30,000.

All Victims Were Aged.

The explosion took place in the building occupied as a grocery store and saloon by John Sweeney and S. F. Johnson. Both places were closed at the time of the disaster. The Sweeneys lived just above the grocery store and the Johnson family resided in an upper flat. All the victims were in bed at the time. The elder Sweeney, his wife and daughter and little Antonio Dismeyer were instantly killed. The baby's body was blown through a window and was found in a tree. Fred Sweeney was hurled through another window and landed on the street. Frederick Dismeyer made his escape but rushed back into the burning house and carried his wife out through the flames, both being badly burned. Mrs. Dismeyer is not expected to recover. Antonio Dismeyer, Sr., carried his mother out of the house and both escaped injury.

One Possible Clue.

Johnson, the saloonkeeper, says there was a fight in the place last night and he thinks that some one involved in the trouble was the author of the outrage. The fact that a man named T. J. Gallagher held a joint lease of the saloon with Johnson led to the rumor that the building belonged to ex-Supervisor J. L. Gallagher, the principal witness for the graft prosecution, whose houses in Oakland were recently dynamited, but this proved untrue. The ex-Supervisor has a brother of the same name as the lessee of the saloon who is no relation, and Detective Burns thinks that the man who caused the explosion may have confused the men.

THAW'S CHANCES BRIGHT

Justice Mills Says Jury Trial Is Due Prisoner.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 29.—Harry K. Thaw's chances for a jury trial as to his sanity appear to be very bright. At the conclusion of argument before Justice Mills this afternoon the Justice said: "I believe it should be only a matter of time when this man ought to have a jury trial. I am not prepared to say whether it should be now or later."

for convenience of his counsel, Mr. Morchauser, who lives in Poughkeepsie. Under the proceedings by which Thaw was brought here today, the question of his right to a jury trial was raised. In the first habeas corpus proceedings in Poughkeepsie this point was not brought up, an counsel for Thaw assumed that his sanity was perfect.

Thaw enjoyed the ride down the Hudson and was in fine spirits. He declared that his stay in Poughkeepsie Jail had helped him, because of the better diet permitted.

On arriving here, Thaw was taken to a barber shop for a shave. En route to the courthouse he was beset by photographers, whose efforts to obtain snapshots at him greatly entertained him.

THAW IS DANGEROUS LUNATIC

Therefore Justice Dowling Refuses Removal From Matteawan.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Justice Dowling today denied the application of Harry K. Thaw to be removed from the Matteawan State Asylum for the Criminal Insane to some other institution. The decision says: "If, after sufficient observation, it is found proper to remove him to some other institution, the state authorities can so act."

Justice Dowling's decision further declares that Thaw is a dangerously insane person, who is not to be punished, but to be kept under proper restraint, that he may not injure himself or any one else, and said that the affidavits submitted set forth absolutely no reason why the change desired should be made.

Justice Dowling's order, handed down today, is not operative for the present at least, as Thaw is now in custody under the orders of Justice Mills by reason of the writ of habeas corpus which was taken in court at White Plains today.

which they will earn their livelihood? is a question which is now more than ever before engaging the serious attention of educators throughout the civilized world. This question is so important and all-absorbing that there is danger of losing sight of the other equally important question: What can the school do to make life worth living during the hours in which the individual is not engaged in the struggle for bread?

"I have no quarrel with the toilers who seek recreation. Our insane asylums are filled with farmers' wives whose work was never done, who went through a ceaseless round of drudgery seven days in the week, year after year, until the nervous system broke down and the individual sank into hopeless insanity. It is the inexorable demand of human nature that it shall seek and have relief from the drudgery of piece work in the shop and factory. What keeps me awake at night is the thought that if these toilers had been taught at school how to use and enjoy a good book, they would seek recreation and enjoyment by visiting the public library instead of going to the roof-garden and the saloon.

"Education for avocation is quite as important as education for vocation. 'Man shall not live by bread alone,' is a maxim spoken by the greatest teacher of all the ages."

Andrew S. Draper, of New York, spoke on "The Adaptation of the Public School to Industrial Ends."

Cleveland Wins Spelling-Bee.

At the Hippodrome, where the general sessions are held, a spelling contest between classes of eighth grade pupils, representing the schools of Cleveland, Pittsburg, Erie and New Orleans, began at 10 o'clock this morning. There were 115 contestants in each of the four classes. Michigan won the match with a total of only 23 errors; Pittsburg third, with 47 errors; New Orleans third, 56 errors; Erie fourth, 85 errors. Mae Thurshy, Pittsburg, and Mary E. Bratton, Cleveland, the latter colored, had perfect scores.

The scarcity of teachers was the subject which occupied the National Council of Education at its meeting today. I. C. McNeill, chairman of the committee of investigations, delivered a report in which he showed that instructors are underpaid.

PRINCE IS ON TRIAL

Zu Eulenberg, Broken in Health, Faces Jury.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY

Round-Table Scandal Draws Curious Crowd to German Courtroom. Danger to Public Morals Makes Proceedings Secret.

BERLIN, June 29.—Prince Philip zu Eulenberg appeared today before a judge and jury to stand trial on charges of perjury and subornation of perjury in connection with recent scandals, the revelation of which created such a sensation. The proceedings, according to the lawyers engaged in the case, are likely to be greatly prolonged, owing to the large number of witnesses to be examined, while interruptions are not unlikely, owing to the precarious condition of the health of the Prince.

Interest in the case has been growing for months, due to statements and allegations implicating high personages, and it culminated in the arrest of Prince zu Eulenberg, who was formerly ambassador to Austria and the intimate adviser of the Emperor, on the demand of the State's Attorney, who charges him with falsifying his oath during the course of previous suits relative to scandals, and with inducing another witness to commit perjury.

Large crowds assembled today, both outside the hospital where the Prince has been under surveillance since his arrest, and in the street fronting the court. The Prince, however, averted a demonstration by entering the court through a side door half an hour before the proceedings began. He arrived in an ambulance, accompanied by a detective, and was wheeled into court in an invalid chair. The prisoner looked cheerful and conversed in an animated way with his wife and sons while waiting for the proceedings to begin. Although the opening of the case was public, few persons beside newspaper men were admitted.

Among the witnesses will be Count

Kuno von Moltke, ex-Military Governor of Berlin, who has been living in retirement in Egypt since the trial of his aunt against Maximilian Harden for libel.
