Portland Doctor Outlines Source of Success in Christian Science. Speaker Runs Over Time Limit and Audlence Cries More.

CHAUTAUQUA GROUNDS. Gladatone Park, July 9.—(Special.)—John Sharp Williams, Democratic leader in Congress, en route for Chautanqua, wired from Wyoming that he has been delayed by a train accident that will make him a day late. This throws his first appearance over to Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. It has incidentally made Secretary Cross some difficulty in wiring all down the come difficulty in wiring all down the Coast as far as Los Angeles, apprising the various Chautauquas, of which he is general manager, of the necessary change of dates. Williams is accompanied by his wife, whose reception is also postponed until Saturday afternoon. Dr. Ira Landrith, president of Belmont College, Nashville, Tenn. one of the great Chautanana. ville, Tenn., one of the great Chautauqua lights, will fill the platform date of Wil-liams tomorrow afternoon.

At the Chautauqua Forum this morn-ing Rev. Luther R. Dyott, D. D., of Portland, gave an inspiring address on "The Place of Health in the Plan of God," that Place of Health in the Plan of God," that has been pronounced one of the strongest efforts of the session. Dr. Dyott has already jumped into the position of a favorite. He was followed by Dr. J. R. Weatherbee, of Portland, on "The Moral Treatment of Nervous Disorders," in which he outlined from a scientific point of view the source of success in Christian Science, the Immanuel movement in Boston and many other new methods of ton and many other new methods of

DIVORCE FROM TWO MEN

Mary Sams Files Unique Suit in Court at Hillsboro.

HILLSBORO, Or., July 9-(Special.)-A unique feature in Circuit Court circles in this county is the two complaints filed by Bagley & Hare wherein one woman. Mary Sams, is suing two different defendants for divorces. The woman in the case is Mary Sams, and her first suit against Gardner Sams, who she married in Dayton, Wash., in 1881. She al-leges that they lived together until 1895, when Sams deserted her at Walla Walla, after telling her that their marriage was invalid, because he had not complied with the law in procuring a license, and be-cause the officiating minister was not duly ordained, and did not make proper return. Her second complaint is against Elmer Nolan, whom she married in Uma-tilia County late in 1895, believing her for-mer marriage void. She says that after ner marriage vold. She says that after her marriage to Nolan the first husband into court, and she asks for legal separa-tion from both men, and the custody of a minor child, by Nolan. She finds her first marriage, to Sams, was valid, and desertion is her cause of complaint.

PLANS SIX-STORY FACTORY

Washington Furniture Operator Will Locate a Plant at Portland.

J L. Carman, who operates furniture factories in Tacoma, Scattle and Spo-kane, has been in the city arranging with Architect Otto Kleeman for the erection of a six-story brick and mili-construction factory building, on the northwest corner of Eighteenth and Upshur streets. He completed his ar-rangements and left for Tacoma last night. The building, says Architect Kleeman, will be equipped with the latest fire protection. All windows will be equipped with self-closing fire de-vices and be glazed with wire glass. while the frames and sashes will be of metal. The interior will be of slow-burning construction. For a time it will probably be used as a store and show place only, as Mr. Carman has also bought out the plant of the North Pacific Furniture Factory at Fifteenth and Thurman streets, and proposes to continue its operation.

GOPHER GUN SHOOTS MAN

Something Goes Wrong and Inventor Gets Charge in Hand.

SHERWOOD, Or., July 3.—Chester Martell, an Easterner, ately arrived and temporarily making his home with his brother-in-law on the Monroe farm, six miles south of this place, accidentally shot himself Monday night with a gopher gun. Martell is an expert machinist and manufactured the gun out of a section of gas pipe, which was loaded with a shotgun shell of fine shot. Having occasion to readjust the weapon after it had been located, he grasped the hammer with his right hand and at the hammer with his right hand and at the same time reached out with his left for the bait, in front of the gun, when an explosion followed, the shot tearing away the tissues of three fingers at the first joint and filling the wounds with powder. The ultimate result of his injuries is conjectural, but his condition
