and neither team was able to class a reover the plate.

It was a magnificent pitchers battle between Jesse Garrett and Harry Sutor, for it was owing principally to the spiendid pitching of the two lads from the Lone Star State that there was no rungetting. Several times during the grand contest the fielders in support of the two youngsters came to their rescue with phenomenal plays of the hair-raising varlety, which cut off runs and brought the 2000 fans, mostly of the feminine varlety—for it was ladies' day—to their feet with yells and gesticulations of keen delight.

In extending praise for the splendid exhibition, the greater portion is due to the little giant, Jesse Garrett, for he ap-peared on the diamond for the first time in three weeks, and, to say the least, his performance was magnificent. The little fellow was cool and collected throughout. and no matter how many Seals populated the sacks, he never faltered, but kept pegging away, hoping that his teammates would sooner or later start a batting raily that would win the contest.

There really seems to be just grounds for complaint, for it had not begun to get dark. Johnson's Great Work.

In the first place, Ote Johnson butted nto the limelight with a play in the ourth inning which prevented the Seat vigade from corralling a much-coveted un. With two men out, Nick Williams laced one to deep center, which netted him tirree bases, and, incidentally, the longest hit of the day. Melchoir banged at Johnson, who fielded the ball one at Johnson, who fielded the ball, which was a bounder, and then started a race for the bag. Melchier slid, and so did Johnson, and Umpire O'Connell gave the Portlander the decision by declaring the Seal out. This saved a tally, for Williams had raced home on the play. Run did not count, as Melchier made the third out.

In the eighth inning, Walter McCredle tickled one that looked good for a couple of sacks. Joe Curtis dug his cleats into the sod and speed for the ball, which he nipped off his shoe tops. In so doing he rolled over several times, but smilingly came up with the ball clutched firmly in his mits. The catch was unpleaded but his mits. The catch was applauded lustily, and was deserving of praise. Bassey, Raftery and McCredie each distinguished himself with two or more splendid catches and the speedy double play from Conner to Live. Metzger Park. Two hundred youngsters will be given a day's outing at Metzger Park, Monday, as guests of the Salvation Army. Two special cars have been placed at the disposal of the society free of charge by the officials of the Oregon Electric Company, and merchants are helping out with donations. The children, who have been selected after a careful canvass by the officers of the Salvation Army, will form in line in front of the hall of the society, 249 Madison street, and march to the Jefferson-street station, where they will board the cars for the park. A lunch at noon and another is the evening before the return to the city will be provided. The outing is being arranged by Adjutant Florence Dean and Captain Florence Pogue. Major Joseph Faulkner will accompany the youngsters on the trip.

The newsboys of the city have also been invited to attend
