The general acceptance is, I believe, that a person who has not the courage to sign his letter by his full name is either not sure of what he writes about or is a coward.

The case he refers to interests me somewhat, as I am the contractor for the work referred to, and the contract reads that I am responsible for all claims for damages arising from accidents caused through the construction and erection of these fire-excapes.

Hawley Recovers Stolen Money After 15-Mile Walk.

After a tramp covering nearly 15 miles Detective Hawley yesterday afternoon succeeded in locating $70 in cash, stolen from Mrs. R. O. Gillihan, 34 North Six teenth street, Sunday at Johnson's Creek, and also gained a complete confession, from two youths, Edgar Eckton, age 14. and Antone Gross, age 12, both residents of Woodstock, who are accused of having stolen the money.

Mrs. Gillihan with a woman companion went on Sunday to Johnson's Creek, for a picnic. While preparing lunch Mrs. Gillihan's purse containing $70 in cash and green backs and $160 in checks disappeared. They reported their loss to the police and Detective Hawley was put on the case.

Sunday night Mrs. Eckton, mother of the Eckton boy, telephoned the police that her son and a companion had found $160 in checks and some money in green-backs on one of the trails leading to Johnson's Creek. Hawley went out to the Eckton home and had the two boys show him where the money had been found. The officer's suspicions were aroused by the actions of the boys, and he accused them of the crime. They emphatically denied any further knowledge of the affair. Later the officer again accused them, threstening them with arrest. The Gross boy becoming frightened, led Haw-Gross boy becoming frightened, led Hawley to the spot where the purse was hidden. The officer then demanded that the boys produce the money. This had been secreted by them in the yard of

"The Tide of Life" at the Lyric

"THE TIDE OF LIFE" is the title pleased a big audience at the Lyric last light. It was presented by the Blunkall-Atwood Company which has established an enthusiastic following in this city. It is a play in four acts and is just the kind that pleases Lyric audiences. Scenically it is thrillingly presented and in the way of plot it contains enough interest to hold the close attention of anyone. There is a strong element of comedy. one. There is a strong element of comedy throughout which mingles well with the melodramatic scenes and keeps the audi-ence in a good humor with nearly every one excet the villain.

As Tom Daly, an ex-detective, Ervin piece and he does an excelle piece and he does an excellent character-ization of the part. Miss Lyllian Atwood, as Nora O'Dowd, and impetuous and charming Hibernian girl, appears to even unusually good advantage and won a warm place in the hearts of the audi-ence. The story has to do with a lawsuit over the ossession of a mine in Pennsylvania. There is a murder, and explosion, interesting complications, heroism and villainy, and a charming love story. In the end things turn out well for those who are good, and bad for those who are wicked, a very happy ending and the kind of one the audience seemed to appreciate. There was a large audience at last night's performance and from the enthusiasm it displayed there is little doubt but that "The Tide of Life" will draw big houses the rest of the week.

New Vaudeville Bill at the Grand

HIS week's bill at the Grand is far better than the average, although there is no distinctively prominent feature. The Riva-Larsen troupe of acrobats is the head-line feature, according to bats is the head-line feature, according to the programme, but several other acts won just as much favor with the audience. However, this troupe of acrobats is thoroughly high-class and aroused frequent applause. It is direct from England, according to the programme.

Alexander and Scott, "From Virginia," Alexander and Scott, "From Virginia," made a hit with the audience. The female impersonation is one of the very best seen here. T. W. Eckert and Emma Berg are a tenor and soprane of considerable skill in entertaining audiences. Their musical fantasy, "The Land of the Two Moons," was produced with their own special scenery and effects, Selbini and Grovini are also ciever entertainers in their juggling, tumbling and acrobatic act. They won the audience as soon as they appeared and had it with them during their entire turn.

The Apollo Quartet in "The Man Out-

The Apollo Quartet in "The Man Outside," is a fairly good mingling of the comical with the melodramatic. However, the comedy part of their turn is decidedly more popular with the audience than the melodramatic. The quartet has good violes.

Fred Bauer continues his popularity with his illustrated song, "Dream On, Sweetheart." Miss Anna Brigham, a Portland girl, is probably unequaled as a whistling artist.

APPEAL TO COMMISSION

Manufacturers Protest Against Advance in Freight Rates.

NEW YORK, July 13 .- The Interstate Commerce Commission will be appealed to by the Manufacturers' Association of New York in its fight to prevent the railroads from making a 10 per cent increase in freight rates. The Interstate Commerce Commission has no power to act until the proposed increase really goes into effect. Members of the Manufacturers' Assoclation, after reading at the association's secretary, James T. Holle, said that Mr. Brown's answer, while lengthy, failed to show adequate reasons why the dation, after reading Mr. Brown's reply show adequate reasons why the shipper should be made to suffer because the rallroads are not making as much money as they did in the past.

Secretary Hoile said: "For many months the prayer of the railroad managers, addressed to Washington, D. C., has been: 'Don't bother us and let us alone. That is now the prayer of the shippers to the railroad managers. It may be a fact that there should be a 10 per cent increase. The time, however, for that increase is not now."
