SEASON ABOUT OVER

Wool Buyers Taking Up the Fragments of the Clip.

IMPROVEMENT IN

Oregon Staple Firm in the Boston Market-Wheat Quiet and Nominal - Steady Trade in Country Produce.

The wool buying season in the West is The wool buying season in the West is rapidly drawing to a cluse. In Oregon, all the important scheduled sales have come off. In Eastern Oregon a few scattered lots remain unsold, which will doubtless soon be taken up at private sale, and in the Willamette Valley the hulk of the season's clip is in dealers' hunds.

In the trade, much interest is manifested in the course of the Eastern market where certain wools, and in marked degree Oregon staple, have shown an upward tendency staple, have shown an upward tendency.

Outside of Montana and Dakota the clip in the West is pretty well cleaned up. In the former state, 18 cents for good lots and is to 17 cents for less attractive offerings

In commenting on the outlook, the Boston Commercial Bulletin says:

"Next week the lightweight season for men's near fabrics will be officially opened by many large corporations. The prospects are not builting, as there is no evidence that buyers are to become active operators. On the contrary, the feeling is that trade will drag along as during the confidence in the goods situation that is apparent in the raw material and. Wool dealers have operators are backward about placing orders. It may be that a change will take place as the lightweight season progresses, as it is hinted that prices on many lines will be made very structive. The decline in raw material from its cost of a year ago has been severe, and should permit manufacturers to sell goods at comparatively low prices. The sell good serial from its cost of a year ago has been severe, and should permit manufacturers to sell goods at comparatively low prices. The one important thing that is wanted to completely rejuvenate the wool situation is a good, confident demand for the manufactured product. That worsteds are to do better in this last half of the year than in the first is quite certain, but rather dubious views are taken of the prospects of woolong.

Be at its Height.

The movement of California deciduous fruits in the past week is reported by the California Fruit Distributers as follows:

Peaches, 48 cars—As advised last week, we are just getting started on Early Crawfords and Foaters. The shipment for the coming week of these varieties will be quite liberal. With the latter part of the week, and the beginnings of next week, they will be in the height of the season. The shipment for the next seven days will be considerably greater on pesch tonnage than we have had before this year in any one week. Tiums and Prunes, 184 cars—The shipment of plums and prunes has held up well and the quality has been all right. The shipment of plums and prunes has held up well and the duality has been all right. The shipment for the next seven days will remain steady with probably a slight decrease in the total valume.

Pears, 147 cars—We are now well into the Barriett shipping season from the Sacramento River district, with other places shipping a few. As before outlined, the pears are clean, smooth and nice; no smut, scah or surface damage to injure their quality or appearance. They are also very free of worms. Shipments for the next week. They are also very free of worms. Shipments for the next week will be materially larger than last week. They are having a very wide distribution and we do not look for an accumulation or bunching of supplies in any one market. The demand for them thus far has been big and entire satisfaction has been given to all receivers.

and entire satisfaction has been given to all receivers.

Grapes—More crates of Fountainbleau have gone forward in auction cars, but not enough, when speaking of tennage, to amount to anything. Thompson Seedless will begin to go out in larger lots very shortly. All varieties of grapes are reported as doing nicely and promising a good supply of fine quality of fruit.

The livestock market was steady and fairly active yesterday. There were good receipts of sheep, but arrivals in other lines were not heavy. Prices were unchanged. Receipts of the day were 175 cattle, 520 sheep, 40 hops and 140 lambs. The following prices were current on livestock in the local market yesterday; Hops—Best, $0.25@6.30; medlum, $5.75@1. Cattle—Best steers $3.75. NEW YORK. July 16—The movement to take profits in stocks, which developed yesterday, was continued for a time today. This process of digestion caused an irregular price movement and an unsettled tone to a degree. The character of the market was not essentially changed in spite of the moderate shrinkage in its dimensions and the shifting of speculative attention to new points in the list. The industrial stocks and specialties, some of them of a lower grade, received the greatest share of the day's new buying orders, while issues which have figured hitherto in the strength of the market were subjected to profit-taking. No strictly new factors were introduced into the situation. 6: reeders, $5.50.

ket were subjected to profit-taking. No strictly new factors were introduced into the situation.

The publication by the Bureau of Statistics of the country's foreign trade report for June and for the completed fiscal year offered a striking exhibit. For the completed fiscal year, the trade balance in our favor was reported as $606,407.103, which is $20,007.450 greater than in the preceding year, and establishes a record for that item. The shrinkage in the 12 months of $240,029,431 in imports points clearly to the prime cause of this showing, and throws light on the comparative moderation of the reflux of sold in the movement which has followed the $100,000,000 imports of that metal last Fall. The June figures show with equal clearness that a shift occurred in this tendency. The month's exports were the smallest since September, 1907. It may be accepted that these changes indicate a readjustment to serve normal conditions in international trade such as has been going on in the domestic trade situation. Additional testimony to this readjustment is received daily in the financial district, that in the form of published interviews with prominent capitalists receiving the greater amount of attention. That for today, coming from the executive head of the Amaigamated Copper Company, implied a rather striking exception in the case of that metal from the cheerful views he expressed of conditions elsewhere. The fact was seen in the early exactionary tone in the copper group. The time loan market was strong in tone. The day's changes in stocks were small, sains and losses being mixed.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $4,050,000, United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Active Demand Based on Large Cash Purchases by Millers and by Exporters-Rainfall Was Not Sufficient.

CHICAGO, July 16.—A bulge in wheat prices occurred during the final hoar of trading and was the result of an active general demand for all deliveries, based chiefly on liberal purchases of cash grain by millers of Kansas City and by exporters at Toledo and New York. The upturn was partly due, however, to novices from the Northwest which claimed that rains had not been sufficient to relieve the drouth situation in a large part of the Spring wheat country. During the early part of the seesion, the market had been weak, owing to improved weather for the crop in the Northwest. The close was strong, with prices almost at the higest point of the day. September opened be lower to be higher at 30% to 80%c, sold off to 50%c and then advanced to 91%c. The close was at 91%c. at 911c.

The corn market was rather weak early in the day. September closed at 75%c, near the top notch.
