QUARTER BLOCK SOLD.—The quarter block, at the southeast corner of Grand avenue and East Yamhill street, was sold yesterday to the United States Laundry Company for $25,000. It was sold by A.
M. Porter through C. E. Fields & Co.
The property was formerly the home of Frank Logan, and was sold by him for $20,000 about a year ago. The quarter is purchased by the laundry company as the site for its new plant, which will be erected within the next year at a cost of about $40,000.

Rev. A. A. WINTER ILL.—Rev. A. A.
Winter, pastor of the First United Evangelical Church, 12th and Commercial streets, is very ill at the manse. He was seized suddenly several days ago, and has been confined to his bed since.
Last Sunday he was not able to occupy his pulpit, and it will be some time before he will be able to resume active work. He will take a vacation of several weeks. His attack is nervous prostration caused by overwork.

FUNERAL OF MRS. F. S. COOK formerly of Portland and for 20 years a resident of Clark County, Washington, will be held at the First undertaking parlors of this city today at 2 P. M. Mr. and Mrs.
Cook have spent the last five years at Fresno, Cal. Deceased is survived by her husband, a daughter and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She was a member of the Order of Eastern Star, and was 86 years of age.

TWO SMALLPOX CASES.—Two cases of smallpox were found in Brooklyn by the health officer yesterday, one on East Tenth and one on East Ninth street, south of Ellsworth. They are of a mild type, and probably resulted from failure to observe the quarantine orders by families in that neighborhood in which there were cases of smallpox last month.
Health Officer Fisher has given orders that the quarantine must be obeyed.

OFF TO COLORADO SPRINGS

Cake and Williams Leave Today for Republican Conference.

W. M. Cake, chairman of the Republican state central committee, and Ralph E. Williams, of Dallas, National committee man for Oregon, leave by way of the O. R. & N. this morning for Colorado Springs, Colo., to attend a conference of the state chairman and National committees of the states lying west of the Mississippi River. This conference has been called by Frank H. Hitchcock, chairman of the Republican National committee, and its purpose is to arrange for an aggressive campaign in the interest of the nominees on the party's Presidential ticket.

The representatives from this state will reach Colorado City Sunday night, and the two days' conference will be assembled the following morning. Mr. Williams yesterday received a telegram from Chairman Hitchcock informing him that headquarters had been secured for the members of the party at the Antlers Hotel in Colorado Springs. Messrs. Cake and Williams expect to return to Portland the latter part of next week.

Oaths Directed at Francis I.
McKenna Cost Andrew
Myers $20.

Francis I. McKenna's real estate office, at Northern Hill, on the Peninsula, had been out of commission for so long a time that the suburban community took to using it as a depot and waiting-room and when Mr. McKenna attempted to remove the structure, early in the week, he was accosted by one of the residents, Andrew Myers, in words so caustic that the Municipal Court took up the matter yesterday forenoon. Mr. McKenna had the Northern Hill man before the court on a charge of abusing him.

The depot, as Northern Hill has come to look upon the building, fronts on the streetcar line and has been a place of shelter from winter rains for several years. The shelter was used by the property instead of a public institution had never occurred to Northern Hill.

When Mr. McKenna decided to move his property 700 feet from its present location the vicinity was astounded. When a moving crew, under the supervision of Myers came indignantly onto the scene, "What the hell are you going to do with the depot?" he demanded of the leading spirit of the Initiative One Hundred.

Mr. McKenna ventured no reply. Myers might as well not have spoken or have been on earth. His question and presence were totally ignored. Smarting at this slight, he threw a document in his virtuoso nature fell from his lips in a torrent, as he admitted in court yesterday. He addressed Mr. McKenna as a hot-tempered and profane individual which made a hot stove which has burned him.

Mr. McKenna preserved his self-control and declined to give the slightest symptom of having noted Myers' presence on earth, which only served to make Myers more profane in his remarks. He swore for some moments, and, becoming tired of the pastime, sent in a partying volley of selected profanity and stalked back home. Complainingly, McKenna went to the City Attorney's office and secured a warrant of arrest.

All of this was described in a general way before the court, but in order to get the evidence complete, Deputy City Attorney Sullivan required that Mr.
McKenna repeat the oaths that were applied to him, by this Mr. McKenna did to the best of his ability.

"Speak in a low voice," Judge Van Zante said, casting a hurried look at the knot of women who were in court.
And Mr. McKenna swore sotto voce.

Myers admitted it. By way of defense he pledged the possession of a peculiar temperament. "When I get excited I do things I don't mean," he said. "My mind seems to get in a sort of—" Myers paused some time to select a proper word to describe his mental state when excelled.

"Brainstorm," suggested Mr. Sullivan.
"Yes, that's the word," was Myers' catching admission, and the Court had to rap for order.

"Twenty dollars fine," said Judge Van Zante. Which goes to prove that brainstorms are something of a luxury.

One of the most peculiar of the harmless variety of manias affects Frank Denison, who left Portland before sundown yesterday. The fellow had a weakness for supplying information to detectives. He was continually haun-ling the detective force with information regarding this crook and that. But his lips came off nothing. For every robbery and petty crime he had suspects. His suspect might turn out to be a reputable business man or a minister of the gospel, according to the trend of his disordered fancy.

Detectives Hillyer, Coleman and Maloney at last concluded Denison would be to be dispensed with. He was getting to be a nuisance, and while he asked no direct compensation for his sleuthing the fellow claimed the reward of living at free lunch counters and bearing drinks on the grounds that he was working with the police.

The man appeared in court in wretched condition, privation alternated with discipline on having upset body and mind. He was in no shape to be sent to the rockpile or to jail, and yet the detectives wanted him out of the way.

Judge Van Zante sentenced him to a year at hard labor, and just when the sold sweat broke out on him and he was shaking in terror at the horrible punishment, sentence was suspended with the understanding that he leave town before sundown and remain away.
The charge against him was vagrancy.

team hitched up for a period of 24 hours and was called into court on a charge of cruelty to animals.

"My team gets so mean at times I daren't go near 'em and this was one of the times," said Burkhardt.

"He was so drunk he couldn't go near them," said the arresting officer.

"Twenty dollars fine—and it will be more next time," said the Judge.

FLAW FOUND IN NEW LAW

NO WAY TO ASSESS COST OF
IMPROVEMENTS.

Council May Not Vote Bonds for Madison-Street Bridge Because of Sentiment for Tube.

City Attorney Kavanaugh said last night that it is altogether probable there is a serious defect in the district improvement plan, voted in by the people, and which was among the issues declared by the city at the last election.

Mr. Kavanaugh fears that there is no provision for the assessing of costs under the new plan, and says it is likely that the city will have to follow the present plan of fixing the cost upon abutting property. However he states that even should this be true, the matter is much simplified, and that the amendment can be revised at the next election.

The district plan, provided for in the amendment, greatly simplifies the system of street improvements, as it makes possible the improving of an entire district, the boundaries of which shall be fixed by the City Council under one proceeding.

Under the present plan, each improvement demanded a separate proceeding.
The new amendment also provides that four-fifths of the property owners shall be required to assent to an improvement.

Pleased With Court Decision.

City officials in general are highly gratified with the decision of the Supreme Court in regard to the improvement plan, as it lessens the work required to a great extent. Any number of different improvements can be ordered under one proceeding.

There is a possibility that the City Council will not pass the ordinance authorizing the issue of $3,000,000 worth of bonds to build a new bridge at Madison street. Sentiment seems to be strong in favor of a tube, either at the knot of women who were in court.

Several Councilmen yesterday declared themselves as opposed to another bridge. They argue that a bridge improves the city and that at the same time the city looked forward far enough to provide a better means of crossing the river to obviate the many delays now encountered by the present bridge.

Mr. Kavanaugh says that, if the Council decides to put in a tube, another vote must be taken by the people as the bonds already voted would be available only for a bridge, and that it must be located at Madison street.
These are provisions of the amendment and cannot be changed without a vote by the people.

Sell Water Bonds at Once.

Sentiment among the members of the City Council is strong in favor of the immediate action in the matter of the issue of $3,000,000 bonds for the installation of a sewer pipe line from Bull Run River to reinforce the city's water supply. It is agreed by city officials that there is urgent need of more water as the growth of all sections of the city is so rapid that provision must be made for adequate supply.

The other improvements authorized under the decision of the Supreme Court, including the public docks, another fire boat, water mains to reinforce the water supply along the river and in the fire limits, and for a park and boulevard system, it is said, will probably be acted upon favorably by the Council. This being the case, must pass an ordinance authorizing the issuance of the necessary bonds and providing for their sale by the ways and means committee.

What the Press Agents Say.
"The Spoilers" Monday Night.

The management of the Marquam announces that, owing to the heavy demand for seats for "The Spoilers," the play will be continued on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Madeline will be produced next Thursday for the remainder of the week.

"A Night in Venice" Tonight.

The charm of a night at the Oaks this week is that it includes "A Night in Venice," the most beautiful and elaborate musical comedy the Allen Curtis Company has yet put on. It is full of song and drama. All the songs being hits and the scenery a prolonged "scream." New costumes, secondary and electrical effects.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.
Double Bill at Lyric.

There will be a grand double bill offered at the Lyric next week, when the Blunk-Atwood Company will present to their patrons the satirical and elaborate musical comedy to be followed by "The Player," a beautiful costume drama of England 150 years ago.

Alship Is Vaudeville.

"Around the World in an Alship" is the title given to the unique and original comedy to be presented at the Grand next week. The act calls for special scenery and elaborate musical and singing act of note. "The Expressman" and "Wanted," a duet, are two comedies which will be presented.

AT THE VAUDEVILLE THEATERS.
At the Grand.

At the Grand there is a very good vaudeville program. The new attraction, European acrobats as the headline attraction. The Alva-Landauers, a new and original act in the way of aerial work, and the Sabini and Grovin team offer a bicycle specialty out of the ordinary, in which comedy and skill are combined.
