DR. BAAR REFUTES MANY FALLACIES

Local Physician Makes Notable Contribution to Medical Knowledge.

WORK ON OXALURIA

In Address Before International Congress Shows That Dietary Treatment for Nervous Diseases Should Be Modified.

Of signal scientific importance in the field of medical research is the interesting announcement of one of Portland's leading physicians, that vegetables and fruits which abound with such riotous profusion in this state need not be excluded from the diet of patients suffering from nervous ailments. On the other hand such palatable articles of diet may be prescribed with full assurance of their salutary effects.

The disclosures are made by Dr. Gustay Baar, of this city, who was one of the three American specialists who attended the recent International Medical Congress at Vienna. At that momentous conference, Dr. Baar gave the assembled delegates the benefit of his exhaustive and independent researches into the mysteries of "Oxaluria," over the nature of which there has been much-to-do since his arrival in New York.

Dr. Baar, who has been abroad for the past four months, returned home yester-day, accompanied by his sister, Miss Beatrick Baar, of Vienna, who contem-plates an extended visit to Portland. The work of Dr. Baar at the Congress and his pains-taking prefiningry investiga-tions were commented upon by the noted savants present both for their profundity and their exceptional value as original contributions to medical scientific knowledge. His discoveries and disclosures were strongly indexed by the Congress, with the result that there will probably be a general revision of text-book treaon the subject.

New York Interview.

Upon Dr. Baar's arrival in New York last week, he was quoted as an-nouncing that at the recent medical congress a new disease had been dis-covered known as "oxaluria." Since the receipt of this dispatch in Portland, a considerable tempest has been aroused among the local practitioners because of Dr. Baar's remarks concerning the new malady, thereby causing him no little annoyance. In discussing the subject yesterday, Dr. Baar said:

Too Much Notorlety.

"Not being a very assiduous reader of daily papers, I was more than surprised to find myself, on my return from Europe, the center of an undesired notoriety. While I am opposed, on general principles as well as on principles of medical ethics, to seeing any doctor publish his scientific efforts. any doctor publish his scientific efforts any doctor publish his scientific enorts in a layman's daily paper, I am compelled this time, for more reasons than one, to set things right which have been distorted by a reporter,

"The excretion of oxalic acid in an

"The excretion of exalic acid in an amount exceeding one-third of one grain to one quart of water is abnormal and is called exaluria, if it continues for a long time. It is a well-defined disease. It was first diagnosed by Professor Cuntini, of Italy, in 1872. Of course, the medical profession knew before that date that exalic acid appeared in the secretions of the kidneys. peared in the secretions of the kidneys occasionally. This latter condition is, however, of no importance in the health of the individual, and is but a symptom of various diseases. It needs no further treatment. If, however, ox- home of the witness. alic soid continues to be excreted in abnormal amounts, it must be put on the same level of a metholic disease; as, for instance, diabetes is; with the one difference only, that oxaluria "par excellence" is a disease which can be easily and promptly cured. The wise questioner on the editorial page of The Oregonian of July 18 was much luckier nan I was in finding so many men no knew all about it.

Bibliography Is Extensive.

"The literature on this subject is very extensive, as is shown by the 35 pages. of my book on oxaluris, which are devoted to merely mentioning the names of the authors of the treatises on this particular subject. The paper I read before the Medical Congress in Vienna was devoted mainly to tearing down many fallacies copied from one standard text-book into another and causing so many erroneous views on the subject among the medical fraternity. Therein lies the merit of the work which I have based merit of the work which I have hased upon over 2000 examinations made for this purpose. While heretofore, for in-stance, oxaluria was thought but a symptom of neurasthema. I found that these two are entirely different diseases. which, however, have many symptoms in common. Many cases coming to me with a diagnosis of nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration or 'nervous breakdown' proved to be oxaluria, which, if vigorous muscular exercise were tried, would recover rapidly, while the 'rest cure' applied before has proved a failure. This is only one practical point of my work done in that line. Another fact I may mention is that while heretofore most of the standard text-books prescribed a certain diet for oxaluria, foridding the patient to eat peaches, raspberries, cranberries, rhubarb, tomatoes and many other things containing oxalic id, I proved that people of Oregon who acid, I proved that people of Oregon who certainly consume a vast amount of these feed products, do not show more than half the percentage of oxaluria cases reported from European hospitals on people who live on the hospital food there, which is certainly not very luxurious. This point alone proves beyond any doubt that we doctors have no right whatever to deprive our oxaluria patients of such food as mentioned above.

Many Fallacies Exploded.

"I could mention many other statements of the standard medical books which were of the standard medical books which were proved by my work to be fallactous. Ike the supposed interdependence of diabetes and oxaluria, of intestinal troubles and oxaluria, etc. but I do not wish to arouse in the anxious reader's mind the same feeling my chauffeur arouses in me when-ever he attempts to use big technical terms in connection with my machine, todisgust. Suffice it to console every-who suffers from oxaluria to state that the cure is a most simple one and can most positively be obtained within a very short time. Any of my worthy medicas hiethren who chooses to attack me on the basis of some distorted med-appearing at Vienna and Berlin, at Urban and Schwartzenberg."

Speaking of his trip abroad, Dr. Baar said:

Where America Leads.

"I am ready to believe that America leads the world. While I was at Frankfort-on-the-Main the man who Frankfort-on-the-Main the man who sold me Frankfurter sausages, when I asked him if they were genuine, replied with a wink, They are made from Chicago meat. I went to a shoe dealer there to get a pair of good shoes. The first I was offered were of American make. I visited a tailor shop to purchase a new suit of clothes and the proprietor showed me the latest styles, explaining that they were 'the Americanian's capitalning that they were 'the Americanian's containing that they were 'the Americanian's capitalning that they were capitalning that they were 'the Americanian's capitalning explaining that they were the American cut. When I went to a concert to listen to some music one cool evening I felt quite at home, for I heard one of the popular American airs there. When I was asked what caused the re-cent panic, I replied that I knew of none. When my questioner pointed out the fact that so many laborers are re-turning to Europe, I promptly said to him 'We Americans are not going to support the beggars of Europe. We don't want them to send their money home to their poor relatives for them to pay the taxes to support European governments. Keep your poor at home; governments. Keep your poor at home; send us Tarmers only.

"America is bound to excel Europe in everything, as she has at the present time obtained the lead in most every line, except perhaps in the applied arts and music. These two departments are bound to come within the next decade.

"At the resent congress in Vienna.

"At the recent congress in Vienna "At the recent congress in Vienna there were but three Americans present —Osler of Oxford, Pratt of Boston, and myself. At the conclusion of the congress I visited the hospitals of Munich, Halle and Berlin for the purpose of taking up special clinics."

MURPHY OFFERS DEFENSE

MONTAVILLA POLICEMAN DE-NIES CHARGES.

Committee Refuses to Hear Attack on Reputation of Two Young Women Accusers,

Policeman Matt P. Murphy, against whom several men, women and children living at Montavilla made a general complaint of drunkenness and conduct inbecoming an officer, put in his defense last night during a two-hour ses-sion of the police committee of the Executive Board. At the conclusion of the hearing the accused officer attempted to put in testimony tending to show improper conduct on the part of two young women who made seri-ous sworn statements against Murphy. but the committeemen refused to listen to the evidence, on the ground that, if anything was wrong at the home of the witnesses, it should have been reported to headquarters previously. ously by the patrolmen on the beat. The case was taken under advisement after Lawyer Isaac Swett, for the defendant, made his argument. It is probable a report on the matter will be made to the Executive Board, which meets next Friday afternoon

Several witnesses, all of Montavilla, swore that they had known Policeman Murphy since he was detailed on the Montavilla district on the first relief, and that they had never seen him un-der the influence of liquor. Among these were William Deveny, who said these were William Deveny, who said that the accused officer had been asked by the Board of Trade to curb speed manilacs on the Baseline Road, and said that the officer's activity in this respect may have had something to do with the charges. Mrs. A. Gilman, called by the prose cution, swore that on the night of July 7, during a social session of the Artisans, Policeman Murphy called and that he had been drinking. A. D. Hill testified that he had seen Murphy go to the home of C. T. Evans on several occasions and remain probably an hour at a time. When the defense sought to secure from Policeman Robson, who patrois the Montavilla district on the shift following Murphy, a statement tending to involve the reputation of the two young women who made a portion of the charges, the committeemen—Thom-as G. Greene and R. L. Sabin—refused to admit it as evidence, and the case closed with the argument by Mr. Swett.

RAILROAD TO AID STATE

Trackwalkers and Section Hands to Guard Minnesota Forests.

CHICAGO, July 20.—(Special.)—The operating department of the Northwestern Railroad will try to assist the State of Wisconsin in the creation and preservation of a great forest reserve in the northern part of that state. In brief, the pur-pose is to create an auxiliary force of forest guards, from the track-walkers of the Northwestern. The Forestry Chief hopes to have the track-walkers and section foremen made special po-lice, with authority to assist in the preservation of timber from fires and other dangers. The plan may be adopted in other states, especially in the Pacific Northwest, where millions of dollars worth of timber are destroyed by fire every year.

The rate to Victoria has been 25 cents for some little time. The rival company will not meet the cut, but will maintain its rate at $1. It is pre-dicted that the rate fight will last through the Winter, as there is no dis-position on either side to give in.
