

SULTAN GRANTS A CONSTITUTION

Bloodless Victory Is Won for Young Turkey Element.

SCHEME OF 1876 REVIVED

Wild Scenes of Rejoicing Follow Announcement of Glad News in Disaffected Provinces of European Turkey.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 24.—

Alarmed by the rapid spread of the revolutionary sentiment throughout European Turkey, the Sultan this morning issued an order granting a constitutional government for Turkey.

Grand Vizier Gives Notice.

The Grand Vizier immediately addressed to all the provincial authorities a circular telegram convening the Chamber of Deputies, in which he pointed out that the method of forming the Chamber is determined by an organic statute which, according to the official communication, is "an illustrious institution of the Sultan."

Religion Plays a Part.

The question of religion also plays a part in the movement. Although Mohammedanism is the official religion of the country, Christians being denied citizenship and the right to hold office, there is, nevertheless, a large Christian population, especially in the provinces where the mixed races of Eastern Europe are numerous.

Will Repress Christians.

The Young Turks, who are strict Mohammedans, have regarded this increase of Christian influence with jealous eyes, and one result of the victory of the reformers probably will be to repress the Christians.

Starting as was the sudden dismissal of Pasha from the Grand Viceroyship and the appointment of Said Pasha in his place, the step was nothing compared to the sensation created in all quarters this morning by the official announcement that the Sultan had decided to convoke a Parliament.

Change Was Inevitable.

It was felt that in view of the general revolt in the army, unprecedented in the history of the Turkish Empire, some change was inevitable and that far-reaching measures of reform in the central government were bound to be inaugurated. But the drastic action of the Sultan, who took the reins into his own hands, and by the stroke of a pen suddenly yielded to the demands of the Young Turks and restored the constitution of 1876 has taken the palace clique, the members of the diplomatic corps and the members of the Sultan's household by surprise.

Come Like Thunderbolt.

The immediate cause of the Sultan's raising of the white flag was the receipt of a telegram addressed to him from the Albanian minister at Constantinople that he had taken their oath to favor the re-establishment of the constitution. The message landed like a thunderbolt upon the Sultan, who had been under the impression that he could depend upon the Albanians under all circumstances.

Gives Sultan All Facts.

He gave the Sultan an insight into the real gravity of the situation and the hopelessness of attempting to restore permanent peace in the army and among the people by the personal regime, with its attendant abuses and intrigues, which had brought the country to the verge of ruin, came to an end and some steps were taken in the direction of granting a measure of constitutional government.

VIENNA, July 24.—Marshal Osman Fezi Pasha, the new commander of the Vilayet of Monastir, has been seized and carried off by a band of men belonging to the Young Turks party, according to a telegram received here today from Monastir.

Other news received here from European Turkey indicates that a revolt of the Macedonian garrisons in favor of the Young Turks may be expected within the next few days.

It is reported here that the towns of Uskub and Salonika are in the hands of the Young Turks. Order has been maintained everywhere.

AMERICAN WINS MARATHON RACE

Hayes Finishes Strong After Italian, Who Leads, Has Fallen Exhausted.

ENGLISHMEN IN DISTANCE

Dorando Makes Desperate Effort to Finish and Is Hero of Day.

ORIGIN OF MARATHON RACE

It was to commemorate the feat of the young warrior who carried the Athenian flag to the great victory of the Athenians and Spartans over the Persians on the plain of Marathon, 490 B. C., that the great Marathon race was instituted in the city of Athens.

First Runner Delirious.

For ten minutes all eyes were focused on the gate, almost directly opposite the royal stand, where the contestants were to enter. Finally, after what seemed to be an intolerable suspense, a runner staggered down the incline leading to the track. He was clothed in a white shirt and red knee-pants. He stood for a moment as though dazed, and then he fell to the left, although a red cord had been drawn about the track in the opposite direction for the runners to follow.

Falls Often, but Staggers On.

Dorando staggered toward the turn and dropped to the ground. Immediately a crowd of track officials and followers swarmed about him, but they were unable to get him up. He lay on his back, his head on the ground, and his arms outstretched. He was breathing heavily and his face was pale.

How Hayes Won Race.

Hayes, the man who carried off the race for America, naturally was very tired tonight, but he gave no signs of any ill effects from his long run. Hayes ran a careful race. He was satisfied to go along slowly until he had covered 19 miles, when he began to pick up his pace, keeping behind Hefferon until his opportunity came on the long level at Wormwood Scrubs, after a hard climb up hill.

METHODS OF BRITISH SPORTSMEN.

No official welcomes American team on its arrival. Yankee athletes charged a fee to train in stadium. Forced to draw for heats, which rule pitted Americans against one another. Forced to jump and pole vault the English style, which method handicapped the Americans. No American flag stands when games are inaugurated.

Forshaw's Story of Race.

Forshaw, the American, who was but four seconds and a fraction behind Hefferon, was walking about as fresh as ever soon after finishing. He, of all the men in the field, had the clearest idea of what happened than any one else. He said to the Associated Press tonight: "My instructions were to keep Tewanina with me and, if I weakened, to send Tewanina along to win the race if he could do so. I held back until about 11 miles from the finish, nursing Tewanina along, who was suffering from a bad knee. We passed men time after time. Duncan, the Englishman, who was expected to win the race, being left behind at Bridge, Tewanina, when he saw Duncan ahead, went up to try him out, which I have heard since, he succeeded in doing. Hatch passed me once, but I overtook him again. Hayes at the six minutes was in the front, hanging to the heels of Dorando I never caught up with either him or Hefferon."

Real Winner Unnoticed.

While this pathetic scene was being enacted the American, Hayes, entered the stadium comparatively fresh, and trotted around. He came in less than a minute behind Dorando, but in the excitement of the moment failed to get even from his own countrymen the reception he deserved.

May Be Last Marathon Race.

It is a question whether public opinion will ever support another Marathon race. The American athletes are sending to Italy their congratulations on Dorando's magnificent fight for victory. Happily returned to the American camp tonight and the officials, athletes and everybody in any way connected with the team are celebrating the great victory won by Hayes in the Marathon race. They have forgotten all the troubles of the past two weeks in this moment of triumph.

BRILLIANT SCENE AT START. Runners Line Up at Windsor—Swedish Prince Fires Pistol. WINDSOR, July 24.—The starting of the Marathon race, 26 miles and 385 yards to the stadium, the most interesting event of all the Olympic games, from the east terrace of Windsor Castle, was a beautiful scene, which will be memorable in the annals of sport.

Runners from many nations assembled under the gigantic oak that tops the east terrace of Windsor Castle, was a beautiful scene, which will be memorable in the annals of sport. The runners were lined in four rows across the road. There were four Canadians and four Americans among the first in line. It was a decorous gathering of spectators. When the Crown Prince of Sweden fired the starting pistol and the group of athletes sprang forward, only a faint clapping of hands applauded the beginning of the great event.

The 55 picked runners of the world swept in close formation rapidly down before the east front of the castle and through the castle gates into the streets of the town. Most of them were bare-headed and all were clad in white, except the South Africans, who wore green, and the Swedes, who had on blue running pants.

WON MARATHON RACE LAST YEAR. NEW YORK, July 24.—Hayes, the winner of the Marathon race today, is 21 years old and is employed in New York department store. He is not new to long-distance racing, having won the 2-mile Marathon race in Boston last year. In the hundreds and the excitement reached a high pitch as the successive groups of runners swept by. The official time for the first two miles was 19 minutes 11 seconds.

SHERIFF WANTS TROOPS. War on Italians at Natabany Culminates in Dynamiting. NATABANY, La., July 24.—Following the dynamiting of the Italian schoolhouse this morning and other disorders, Sheriff Shal of the Parish of Tangipahoa shortly before noon today sent a message to Governor Sanders asking for troops. No one was injured in the explosion. Italians by hundreds have been leaving this section, seeking refuge generally in New Orleans, where the Italian Consul is giving the matter his attention.

NEW ORLEANS, July 24.—Governor Sanders has ordered that the most available company of state troops be sent immediately to Tangipahoa parish. A hundred Italians have come here from Natabany and report that they are afraid to return, even for the wages that are due them. This is suffering on an unprecedented scale from an invasion of locusts.

GALLSTONES ARE AN ASSET

JAPANESE PAY WELL FOR THEM FOR USE IN MEDICINE. Consul-General Miller, a Portland Man, Points Out Neglected Source of Wealth—Hints to Producers.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 24.—If you are suffering from gallstones, cheer up. You may not know it, but you have riches in your midst. The cheering word comes from far-away Japan that gallstones, so shunned by Americans, possess great value in the Mikado's land—when they can be purchased in the market. If you have gallstones, let them fully develop, undergo an operation, and insist that your surgeon, turn over to you every stone he extracts, and, when you are able, ship them to Japan. In due course you will get your return in gold.

The discovery that gallstones had a commercial value was made by Consul-General Henry B. Miller, of Portland, Or., now stationed at Yokohama. In discussing his new discovery and pointing the way to the formation of a gallstone trust, Consul Miller, in a report to the Department of Commerce and Labor, says: "Gallstones are much in vogue in this country as a medicine, it being commonly believed that they possess efficacious properties when used in the treatment of diseases of children. They are classified on the market, to distinguish their origin, as Oriental and Occidental, the former being supposed to possess the greater medicinal value. The value of the article varies according to its quality, size and color. The larger the size and brighter the color, the greater the market value. Broken or cracked stones are only worth half as much as perfect ones. The minimum price for good, marketable stock and the lowest valuation at which the custom-house officials here will pass the invoice is 20 yen, or $20 a pound avoirdupois. From this figure the price runs up, according to quality."

"A small lot, if properly packed, can be sent by parcel post. To insure safe arrival, each stone should be separately wrapped in cotton wool and packed neither loosely nor tightly, but firmly in a substantial wooden or tin box. A convenient-sized box, if used, runs about 2 1/2 x 3 1/2 inches. Insurance ought to be secured at the time of shipment, and it might be well to register the package."

Cadets May Get Hearing. WASHINGTON, July 24.—The eight cadets whose dismissal for hazing has been recommended by the Military Academy authorities had an interview with Secretary Wright today. It is expected he will defer action until he can make a thorough examination of the case.
