

TROOPS TO HAVE BUSY CAMP LIFE

Conditions at American Lake Will Resemble Those of Actual Warfare.

DETAILED ORDERS ISSUED

Brigadier-General Brush Outlines Plans for Annual Encampment in Which 1100 Guardsmen Will Probably Participate.

Tentative general orders outlining the programme to be followed by two Oregon infantry regiments in the American Lake field maneuvers were received yesterday at the headquarters of Adjutant-General Finzer. The orders show that the Oregon men will have a busy time in the field, and that the campaign will be quite as exacting and varied as under conditions of actual warfare. The programme follows:

August 2—Organizations arrive and go into camp.
August 3—Morning: Battalion close order drill. Afternoon: Advance, retreat, flank guard and patrol. All under supervision of regimental commanders.
August 4—Morning: Battalion extended order drill. Afternoon: Outposts and reconnaissance, regimental.
August 5—Morning: Muster and regimental close order drill. Afternoon: Outposts and reconnaissance, regimental.
August 6—Morning: Formation of companies for attack and defense and pitching shelter tents, all under supervision of regimental commanders. Afternoon: Brigade drill, especially the brigade in battle. The brigades will be formed composed of all regular and National Guard infantry. No special troops used.
August 7—Morning: Regimental church services.
August 8—Morning: Problem. Afternoon and night: Bivouac and problem.
August 9—Morning: Formation of companies for attack and defense and pitching shelter tents, all under supervision of regimental commanders. Afternoon: Brigade drill, especially the brigade in battle. The brigades will be formed composed of all regular and National Guard infantry. No special troops used.
August 10—Morning: Problem. Afternoon and night: Bivouac and problem.
August 11—Afternoon: Formation of companies for attack and defense and pitching shelter tents, all under supervision of regimental commanders. Afternoon: Brigade drill, especially the brigade in battle. The brigades will be formed composed of all regular and National Guard infantry. No special troops used.
August 12—Break camp, informal review and entrain for home stations.
This programme is dated ahead to August 1 in tentative general orders issued to the regiments by Brigadier-General Brush, through his chief of staff, Major W. P. Burnham, at Camp David S. Stanley, near Tacoma, Wash. General Brush is now on his way to Vancouver, Wash., but will leave for the American Lake district today to assume command of all troops there.
Equipment for departures are being made by infantry all over the state. The Eastern and Southern Oregon troops will leave their home stations on the 28th inst. and will be at Portland for American Lake on Monday morning. The two regiments will be taken north by a special train of the coast line, leaving at 11 A. M. Establishment of camp should be completed before nightfall.
Full attendance of all city troops is assured, but there is likelihood of a falling away in the turnout from rural districts. Inasmuch as August 2 comes in the heart of the harvesting season, dozens of Guardsmen will find difficulty in leaving their crops. At least 1100 men will take the field, these men comprising the Third and Fourth Regiments. The Third Regiment is commanded by Colonel Charles E. McDevell, with headquarters at Portland. The Fourth is commanded by Colonel George O. Toran, and the headquarters are at Eugene. There are 12 companies of infantry in the Third and eight in the Fourth Regiment. The various companies are on a minimum enrollment basis of about 40 men, many of whom are required by the War Department, except in time of actual warfare.

Plans Are Definitely Laid.

The maneuvers of this year will be conducted on a different basis than heretofore, the programme being more certain and having more definite aims and objects of instruction. The troops participating will be assembled in one large camp rather than scattered about over a large area as in the past. Under canvas with the Oregon regiments will be the Second Washington Infantry, a troop of Washington commandants, the Fourth United States Field Artillery, the Fourteenth United States Cavalry, and the First, Third and Sixth Regiments of the Oregon Infantry, together with detachments of Engineers, Hospital Corps and Signal Corps.
The camp is distributed about Murray Station, east of the railway tracks and about half a mile from American Lake. It has been laid out in excellent shape by the Engineer Corps, and all is in readiness for the pitching of tents.
Much Expected of Oregon.
In a conference with General Finzer at Vancouver, Wash., Monday afternoon, General Brush said that much is expected of the Oregon Infantry, men who have always made a splendid showing in past maneuvers. General Brush said it is intended to make the most of the opportunity for instruction in field conditions, although the men will not be overworked. Camp leave during the week will be a very difficult thing to secure, he said, and the men will be allowed only the lines only in case of urgent need.
By way of theoretical instruction, lectures on various topics of military interest and importance will be given from time to time by specially designated officers. All officers except those on guard duty will be required to attend. Officers and non-commissioned officers of the Regular Army will be selected and designated in special orders, will be attached to National Guard regiments to advise and assist in carrying out their special course of instruction.
The Regular Army will continue in camp practically all summer. Western Guard regiments will alternate, Oregon and Washington participating first for 10-day periods, followed by troops from Idaho, Montana and North Dakota.

The names of all patients brought to the County Jail on insanity complaints but declared sane are being indexed by County Clerk Fleida. The law does not require that this be done, and it has until now been impossible to give any information as to such cases.

WANTS TITLE REGISTERED

Charles H. Piggott Applies to Court for Relief.

Application to register title to 25 lots of Portland real estate has been made in the Circuit Court by Charles H. Piggott. It is alleged that this property was sold to Multnomah County because the taxes were unpaid, and that it was subsequently purchased by Thomas H. Smith. The latter is alleged to have deeded it to Piggott. It is asserted further that the land has been out of the hands of the former owners for the last 10 years.

Says He Has No Animosity, but Insists That City Should Be Cleaned Up.

PORTLAND, July 28.—(To the Editor.)—The head lines which were placed over the sermon I delivered last Sunday night, relative to moral conditions in the city and the attitude of our city officials toward the same, may have misled those who did not hear the sermon into thinking that I was actuated by a bitter spirit and some personal animosity toward our city officials. I am not finding fault with the headlines for I know the principles which control in making them and I am also aware that the printed page cannot read the spirit in which a thing is said. Permit me to say, therefore, that I have no personal animosity toward any city official and was actuated only by the desire to do the largest possible good to our city and at the same time represent a large number of our citizens who feel that the moral situation in Portland is such that it is imperative that the facts given in the sermon cannot be deleted. There are certain laws regarding these matters that ought to be enforced. The fact that they are being done is not shown up very resplendently yesterday. This may have been due to the fact that he had just concluded a long ride on the trains and was unaccustomed to his new surroundings. He seems to be an improvement over the other men used by Frisco this season, for he is a big fellow and possesses a great throwing arm and is fast on his feet. Johnson distinguished himself in the field yesterday as well as at bat, for he made a number of splendid stops and throws, as well as hitting at timely intervals.
