She asserted that during the latter part of this time she had been residing with a Mrs. Lena Caidwell, somewhere on the East Side, and that as Mrs. Caldwell had planned a trip to Seattle and had agreed to take her along, she had gone to the waiting-room to meet Mrs. Caldwell when she was taken into custody.

Orientals Keep Rifles and Revolvers in Bosses' Rooms, but Deny Facts to Whites.

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 30.—(Special.)— It is known in and about San Jose that firearms are being collected and stored in many large Japanese camps in this part of the state. One citizen of San Jose who gained the confidence of the Japanese through long business relations has been per-mitted to see the rooms occupied by the boss of a camp. Among other purposes it serves as the camp arsenal. There is not one camp without a small collection of arms, and in the large camps the supply is said to be alarming.
