

OUTLAW'S SLAIN IN RUNNING FIGHT

Sons Give Battle When Rancher Is Shot and Robbers Are Put to Flight.

WOUNDED MAN MAY DIE

Alleged Cattle Rustlers Attack Him for Filing Charges Against Them, After Escaping From Custody of Officers at Orofino.

LEWISTON, Idaho, Aug. 3.—(Special.)—A ranchman from Orofino, Idaho, says:

In a running fight with four suspected cattle thieves near this place today George Moore, one of the alleged outlaws, was killed and one of his companions wounded by the sons of Dan Carr, a prominent citizen of this county, who has taken an active part in aiding the authorities in putting down cattle-rustling.

The battle followed an attempt on the part of the outlaws to murder Carr, who was shot down in the dooryard of his own home and seriously, if not fatally, wounded. Carr and his sons were expecting trouble with the gang, and were armed for defense.

Sheriff Harry Lyndon has organized four posses and started in pursuit of the outlaws. As the latter are well armed and desperate, it is probable that more blood will be shed before they are captured.

The men for whom the posses are searching are W. T. Reid, C. A. Rice and A. J. Sloan. Carr filed a complaint against these three men and Moore last week, charging them with cattle-stealing, and warrants were issued. Reid and Rice were arrested and brought to Orofino for preliminary examination today, in charge of Constable Miles Cochran.

After their arrival here Reid, on some pretext, induced Cochran to take him and Rice to the livery stable, where the horses belonging to the party were. Awaiting a favorable opportunity, Reid dashed into the office of the stable and seizing a Winchester rifle, covered Cochran with the weapon while Rice saddled two horses. Then mounting, the outlaws rode rapidly away.

In the outskirts of the town they were joined by Sloan and Moore, and all four, armed with rifles, rode to Carr's place, where they opened fire on Carr, who was at work near the house. Carr was shot once through the body and twice through the legs. The Carr boys are certain that one of the outlaws who escaped was wounded in the fight.

Supreme Court Decides Haugh Case on Appeal Today.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—The celebrated water rights case of Haugh et al vs. Porter et al, which came to the Supreme Court of this country, will have its second hearing in the higher court tomorrow. The case is attracting wide attention among attorneys as the decision of the Supreme Court is expected to settle several disputed points of procedure in water right cases. The case was first appealed some weeks ago from the decision of Circuit Judge Henry L. Benson, who ruled that all the residents living along Silver Creek, the rights to which were in dispute, should be made defendants in the case brought by Haugh. The lower court was sustained on this point in an exhaustive opinion by Commissioner King and now several other important issues will be argued in connection with the same point. The decision to be rendered is expected to make law in this state in all similar cases.

OREGON'S BIGGEST CROP OF APPLES

Over 1000 Cars of Shipping Stock Will Be Produced This Year.

QUALITY NEVER BETTER

Hood River Will Have More Than Double the Yield of a Year Ago. Abundant Harvest in the Grand Ronde.

Oregon will have over 1000 cars of fine apples to ship this year, as compared with about 600 cars last year. Crop prospects on the whole are favorable, though some sections of the state are better than others. Hood River will have its bumper crop, though it was feared earlier in the season that some damage had been done. The shipments from Hood River Valley will be between 400 and 500 cars against 200 cars in 1907. The Grande Ronde Valley is preparing to send out 30 cars, double the number shipped last year, while Medford growers expect to dispatch about 200 cars, as they did last season. In the other apple sections of the state the outlook is bright. Hood River or a little better than they were last season, though it is known that some varieties, Baldwins especially, will run lighter than last year. The Willamette Valley, and it is also said the valley Newtons and Spitzenbergs will not produce the crop they did a year ago. Pross that will be raised on shipping stock will be governed by conditions in the Eastern states, where the yields are reported to be comparatively light.

HOOD RIVER OUTPUT DOUBLED

Apple Shipments Estimated at 400 to 500 Cars.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—Apple men who are gathering information in regard to crop conditions in advance of the shipping season state that late reports give evidence of high prices for fancy Western apples again this year. It is stated that so far New York and Missouri, which are the great markets for the apple market, only show indications of an average crop, while that of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois is almost a failure. At Grand Junction, Colo., which is one of the greatest competitors of coast box apples in the West, the falling off in the amount of fruit shipped this year, according to a report received from John F. Moore, manager of the Fruit Growers' Association there, amount to 2000 cars. The Grand Junction district includes Fruita, Clifton, Palisades and Grand Junction. The normal shipment from there is from 200 to 300 cars, but it is stated by Mr. Moore that the crop is less than 50 this year. Last year 800 cars were shipped from the district.

LOVE SPURNED, HE SHOOTS

Farmhand Makes Attempt at Suicide Near Salem.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 3.—Because he had failed to win the love of pretty Emma Haggerty, Otto Miller, 26 years old, laborer on the farm of Q. M. Haggerty, the put of fruit here this year, took his own life with a revolver late Sunday night. The scene of the attempted suicide is about seven miles east of Salem, on the highway between this city and his wife had gone to church, leaving Miller alone with the girl, and two small children. Miller asked Miss Haggerty to accompany him to church, but she refused to do so as he had already asked her to marry him several times, and she did not desire to encourage his attentions. Miller has no money and has been in poor health for some time, and for these reasons the girl refused to consider his proposals.

GOOD CROP IN UMPQUA VALLEY

Fifteen Carloads of Shipping Apples Estimated by Growers.

ROSEBURG, Or., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—Fruitgrowers of the Umpqua Valley have good reason to be pleased with the outlook for this season's crops. Although somewhat rainy during the early part of the season, all crops are now in a flourishing condition and it is safe to say that more money will be received by half by Douglas County fruitgrowers this year than that of last year.

LEWISTON TO HOLD BIG FAIR

Active preparations are being made for the annual Lewiston-Clarkston-Interstate Fair the second week in October.

LEWISTON, Idaho, Aug. 3.—(Special.)—Active preparations are being made for the annual Lewiston-Clarkston-Interstate Fair the second week in October. The Lewiston Commercial Club is entering actively into the arrangements, and will use its influence to procure a number of special excursion trains, not only from the Clearwater and Palouse sections, but also from the Walla Walla, Owyhee, and Lewiston, Seattle and Tacoma. The club the frost was spotted, some of the orchardists will have quite a good crop as last year, while others will have few for shipment. Pear shipments from Medford last year were 19 cars. The quality of apples and pears will be as good this year as heretofore. Fruit Commissioner Taylor states that "light" orchards is a thing of the past and there are no orchards in this valley at present showing damage from this cause. In one or two orchards was of Medford, but with modern methods of extermination it proved to be of short duration and the damage was consequently slight.

MARION COUNTY'S LARGE CROP

All the Leading Apple Orchards in Promising Condition.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—"The only trouble with the apple industry in the Willamette Valley is the difficulty of marketing to advantage," said Fruit Inspector E. C. Armstrong today. He commented: "The apple business is something like the cherry business. The quantity grown is comparatively small, and no adequate facilities are at hand for marketing the surplus. The cherry business we are at the mercy of the local buyers for this reason, and the apple industry may be said to be in much the same condition."

"The apple crop this year will be larger than ever before, but it is impossible to say how many cars there will be to ship outside. Last year the crop was very light and the outside shipments amounted to comparatively nothing." Several of the large orchardists in this vicinity are looking forward to very large yields this season. The Wallace orchards, for example, embracing about 45 acres of apples, are especially promising. In one or two orchards was of Medford, but with modern methods of extermination it proved to be of short duration and the damage was consequently slight.

300 CARS IN GRAND RONDE

Minimum Estimate of Season's Shipments of Apples.

LA GRANDE, Or., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—"The most conservative and in fact the lowest estimate put on the apple crop of the Grand Ronde Valley for the coming season is 300 carloads of a fruit that has suffered but little with blight. Early in the season growers were alarmed at frequent but light frosts, and then again by the apparent spread of the dreaded apple disease. But through individual attention to the matter on the part of the grower, and by reason of the careful work done by Fruit Inspector C. D. Huffman, the fruit stands today as prolific and of as high a grade as ever before produced here. The 300-car shipment that is expected for the coming year is about double what was produced last year, though the yield before that was close to the mark set for this year. The quality is expected to be on a par with other years."

DALLES APPLE CROP LARGE

Shipments Will Be Five Per Cent Heavier Than Last Year.

THE DALLES, Or., Aug. 3.—(Special.)—About 35 carloads of apples were shipped from this section last season and it is anticipated that about 5 per cent more will go out the coming year. The crop is not only heavier this year, but was never in such good condition. So there is an absolute absence of blight, worms or pests. The leading fruitmen say that all fruit crops in this section this year are larger than ever before.

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK LYDIA E. PINKHAM Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering. The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs. From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills. Mrs. Bertha Muff, of 515 N.C. St., Louisiana, Mo., writes: "Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my troubles public. "For twelve years I had been suffering with the worst form of female ills. During that time I had eleven different physicians without help. No tongue can tell what I suffered, and at times I could hardly walk. About two years ago I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice. I followed it, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice restored health and strength. It is worth mountains of gold to suffering women." What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Muff, it will do for other suffering women.
