WEBSTER'S JOB IS SOUGHT BY MANY

Ambitious Politicians Out for County Judgeship Plum.

OFFICE NOT YET VACANT

Present Incumbent Would Probably Insist On Having His Own, Favorite Selected for Honor Before Surrendering Post.

Rumors that County Judge Lionel R. Webster would reeign have started keen rivalry among several ambitious politicians who would like to annex that goes with the County p. Not only would they like complete the term of Judge Web ater, which does not expire until July, 1910, but to hold the office for 15 or 13 months prior to that time would be a valuable asset in the centest for the office in the campaign of 1910.

But Judge Webster has not resigned et. However, he has intimated that a might conclude to surrender the office soon in order that he might give his time to his law practice and at the same time more actively participate in the good roads campaign in this state in which he always has been not only greatly interested, but an aggressive and practical worker as well. But it is generally understood that Judge But it Webster will not relinquish the judgeship unless he can have something to At any rate he is not very apt to sur-render his present jab unless he is assured by Governor Chamberlain that a man entirely acceptable to him (Webster) is to be named as his successor. Anyway, it is urged, it will be less than two rears until Judge Webster's term will expire, and dur-Webster's term will expire, and during that period his legal practice probably would not get away from him, and so far as road building is concerned, there will be plenty of time to construct model highways after July, 1910.
Gossip has it that L. A. McNary, exCity Attorney, and W. M. Cake, exCounty Judge, are the leading Republicans suggested as Judge Webster's possible successor. Of these, it is said, Judge sible successor. Of these, it is said, Judge Webster would like to see McNary suc-ceed him if he decides to give up the office. In this connection, Judge Webster is known to have spent yesterday at Balem and while it was reported that he had gone estensibly to consult with other enthusiastic good road advocates, it is suspected strongly that he found time to stop at the capitol building and discuss his possible resignation with Governor Chamberlain.

But if the plum should go to a Demo-crat, it is rumored that Bert E. Haney or H. B. Adams would be the favored one.

H. B. Adams would be the favored one.
Both served as deputles under District Attorney John Manning.

"The matter of my possible resignation is altogether unsettled," said Judge Webster last night, after returning from Salem. "It is by no means a certainty that I shall resign at all. The men who are associated with the good roads movement in this state have offered me some nducements to assume the management of this work, with a view to organizing and prosecuting it on a systematic basis. I have their proposal under consideration and the matter probably will reach some definite shape on August II, when the Good Roads Convention will be held in this city. It will not be until then that

ZEPPELIN SOLVES PROBLEM

e airship sped along almost in a beeline over drowsy villages and sleepy towns. After Constance was left behind epectators were not out to see the flight, the news of the ascent not having had time to get farther ahead. Suddenly, while still over the water, the airship apparently came to a full stop for several minutes. This gave the correspondent of the Associated Press, who was following in a motor boat, time to overtake the monster. After a short rest, the two front propellers, which looked like the fins of a great fish, began to revolve, and at once the bow of the ship ascended. From below it appeared as though something had gone wrong. In a few seconds, however, the rear propellers moved and the airship again resumed her horizontal position. Gracefully swinging first to the right and then to the left, she took up her rapid course. It was evident that the Count had been subjecting the serial craft to some severe test, and that the cavalry was result had been to his satisfaction. The mass of 2000 pounds of metal, woodwork, machinery and cloth no longer seemed colossal and gigantic, ungainly and un black with people shouting a cheerful welcome and their wishes for a good voyage. Like an arrow the airship shot over the city.

At Constance the correspondent left his motor boat and in an automobile sped around the city limits in the Rhine Valley. The airship had risen again about 100 feet higher, and there were further maneuvers. The laborers in the fields rested on their spades to gaze aloft at the strange visitor. Drivers stopped their teams in an effort not to less anything of the strange apparition and the people on the ground with all their attention riveted in the air, were oblivious of passing automobiles and other road traffic

Over the island of Reichau the airship ascended to a height of 2000 feet but this was only for a few minutes. It came down to its previous level to save gas, which escaped more easily in the thin air of the greatest altitude.

power. Allowing for the time lost in suvers, the airable was proceeding at the rate of about 30 miles an hour. The news of the departure of the airship from Lake Constance and the direction it was taking, had, during these first hours, been telegraphed and telephoned over the country, and as it progressed the spectators were more and more numerous. Tha greetings were enthusiastic. At Stein the Rhine Valley widens considerably, forming the Lake of Zell. With this expanse in front of it the airship rose first, came down again to an altitude of about 1009 feet, and continued at that height until it again re-entered the Rhine Valley, not far from the famous castle of Hohenwiel.

This stronghold, unconquered for a thousand years until the coming of Napoleon, today was a mute witness of the marvelous achievement of the Napoleon of the air. Over the old feudal castle the airship swept silent and speedily, and its most and turrets flashed their greetings to the intrepid sailors of the air above. There was a faint wind from the northwest in the beginning, which was apparently quite powerless to influence either the speed of the sirably or its course. This wind later changed and blew from the southeast, from which direction it was helpful to the navigators.

Man Climbs on Balloon.

At Stein it was seen that the airship ing at the rate of probably 37 miles hour. In the forward gendela are five men and in the after gondola three members of the crew. One of the men from the forward gondola, soon after the airship passed Hohenwiel was seen to agcend a ladder and disappear in the great body of the ship.

Five minutes later it was possible to sight her again for an instant, floating smoothly along with a silent stateliness and a majesty fully in keeping with the tranquillity of a most beautiful Summer day.

Greeted With Cannon Shots.

At Schnafhausen every point of vantage was taken. The whole city turned out to give the airship welcome. The surrounding hills were crowded and the roofs of the houses were covered with enthustastic supporters. Hats, handkerchiefs and hands were waved in mad welcome, and the old fortress at Schaafhauser thundered a greating from its guns. This was the signal prearranged to announce to the citizens the advent of the airship. The terrace-like streets afforded a fine view of the progress of the ship. The local band had been playing as high up in the air as possible, on a rocky preci-pice overlooking the railroad station, and t played as long as the airship was in ight. As the long car sped over the city to the drumming of its motors, the people acclaimed it with a mighty shout. "He is coming."

"He's here," they cried. They have witnessed an epoch-mak ing flight and comment on the wonder of the performance is heard on all sides. The people congratulate each other, strangers speaking with strang-ers and all acclaiming the wonder they

The airship swung over the Falls of the Rhine and from the abyss nature itself sent up a tremendous, thunder-ing welcome to the man who had conquered the air. Resides the roar of the mighty falls, the shouted greet-ings of the people who crowded the ofs and streets of Laufen were puny. Numbers of tourists crowded the windows and the grounds of the Schweiz-erhof, the great hotel which flanks the falls of the Rhine, to witness the spectacular flight.

Strange Effect on Spectators.

The effect of this flight on some of the The effect of this flight on some of the people that witnessed it was remarkable. Some laughed wildly and apparently without control; others raised their voices in ineffectual cries of encouragement; others wept, and still others gazed mutely at the apparition in the air. As the airship turned a bend in the river beyond Laufen, an old feeble man, white of hair and writelied of face, was crawling painand wrinkled of face, was crawling pain fully to the top of a hill. As the airship continued its imposing progress along the Rhine, shouts of wel-come resounded from one shore to the other, from hill to valley, from village to town, and found an echo from all parts of the German Empire.

PREPARES TOPEKA SPEECH

was quickening its pace considerably, go- Takes Atwood's Advice on What to Tell Kansans-May Make Several Speeches in October Away From Home.

> FAIRVIEW, Lincoln. Neb., Aug. 4.-In striking contrast with yesterday, William J. Bryan spent a busy day. The torrid weather dld not seem to affect those desirous of taking the long trip to Fairview. They came in great numbers, some on business bearing on the campaign and many purely out of a desire to pay their respects. The procession of visitors began early and kept up until well into the evening. The intensity of the heat did not seem to disture Mr. Bryan much. He cordially greeted everybody who called and personally escorted large parties through his home.

Early in the day he gave out a state ment in which he referred to Mr. Taft's talk into a phonograph and seized upon the opportunity to express the belief that henceforth the use of the phonograph for the dissemination of political speeches would be regarded as a dignified method of discussing public questions.

Consults About Topeka Speech.

Mr. Bryan evinced much pleasure at the assurance given him by a delegation of brewery workers of Quincy, Ill., and of several farmers from Philipps and Norton Counties, Kan., speaking for many others, that he would receive goodly support from them.

Most of the morning was taken up by a conference with J. H. Atwood, member of the National committee from Kansas, the conversation being devoted largely to the issues of the campaign and Mr. Bryan's speech at Topeka the latter part f the present month. The decision of Mr. Bryan to remain at home during October is not, as he stated, ironbound. It will all depend upon circumstances. He said today that it was barely possible he would have to depart from that programme and make some speeches at points where his ad-visors deemed it most desirable. At any rate, he at present has not fixed upon the time when he will enter the State of New York. Some think he should go there before the state convention, the latter part of September, but his mind will not be made up until he has held conferences with others of the Democratic leaders.

New Plan to Reach Voters.

Among Mr. Bryan's early callers was Edgar S. Schmidt, of Dayton, O., who called at the request of Harvey C. Garber, National committeeman from Ohio, in reference to a plan to reach the voters in the doubtful states with a series of typewritten letters.

Mr. Bryan thought well of the proposi-tion and Mr. Schmidt left today for Chicago, where he will meet Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic Nation committee, and talk the matter over
