BRINGS BACK DR. COURTNEY

PHYSICIAN IS RELEASED ON $5000 BONDS.

Declines to Discuss Charge of Manslaughter and is Bound Over to Grand Jury.

In the custody of Detective Hellyer, Dr. F. J. Courtney, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of a young girl, arrived in Portland yesterday afternoon and was taken at once to police headquarters.

There Dr. Courtney was met by his attorney, John H. Stevenson, who appeared before Municipal Judge Van Zante in his behalf. Mr. Stevenson waived a preliminary examination in behalf of his client who, in the sum of $5000, was held to the grand jury.

Bonds in that amount were quickly procured, the defendant's brother-in-law, E. E. Montague, and his wife, Mrs. Ida M. Courtney, appearing as bondsmen. Dr. Courtney was immediately released after having been in custody for 17 days.

Dr. Courtney was arrested at Indianapolis, Ind., July 23, on telegraphic instructions from the police of this city. At the time of his arrest he was attending the National Convention of Hibernians and was preparing to return to Portland. However, he was prevented from returning and bonds in the sum of $10,000 demanded.

Detective Hellyer was assigned to make the trip to Indianapolis. He accompanied Dr. Courtney to Portland, the officer and prisoner arriving at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Courtney declined to discuss the affair for publication. Those who desired to speak with him on the subject were referred to Mr. Stevenson, his attorney.

"There is nothing new in the case," said Mr. Stevenson, "and Dr. Courtney has nothing to say that would be of interest. He was preparing to return to Portland when he was arrested and has been held for 17 days. Indianapolis is not such a long journey from Portland and it looks like it might have been possible to permit him to give bonds before this time, but it wasn't."

"Dr. Courtney has a good defense and one that, I think, will justify him in the eyes of everyone."

The Amazon stone, found in small quantities near Colorado Springs, Colo., is greatly in demand. A firm in Germany ordered all the stones procurable. The stones are green in color and hard as flint.

SMUGGLER AGAIN IN TOILS

J. WILLIAMS MUST FACE CHARGE IN PORTLAND.

After Forfeiting $1500 Cash Bail, Fugitive is Arrested by Authorities in Spokane.

J. Williams, alias J. Rawlance, who was arrested at Spokane last week for smuggling opium, will be brought to Portland where he is wanted, having been indicted by a Federal grand jury on a similar charge several weeks ago. At the time of his arrest here Williams furnished $1500 cash bail and when his case was called he could not be located. The bail was forfeited. Since then the Government representatives have been on the trail of the alleged smuggler.

Williams was located in Spokane last week and when arrested for his illegal handling of the drug in that locality, he agreed to disclose to the officers the hiding place of the opium if they would assure him that he would not be prosecuted on the charge. The terms were agreed to and the smuggler took the officers to a pile of railroad ties in Hillard, a suburb of Spokane, where 365 cases of opium were recovered.

The Government agents kept faith with Williams so far as his operations in Spokane were concerned, but he is being held in custody until he can be surrendered to the Federal authorities in this state when he will be tried on the indictment that was returned last Spring. Williams has not only lost the $1500 cash bail he deposited with the court in this state, but he will now be obliged to stand trial on the charge presented in the indictment.

Williams will be returned to Portland as soon as United States Judge Wolverton returns from his vacation and issues an order for the removal of the prisoner.

DRIVE OUT ALL VENDORS

Council Proposes to Forbid Peddlers Use of Streets.

No peddlers will be allowed on the streets of Portland, if the City Council passes the ordinance recommended by the license committee yesterday afternoon.

The measure was drafted by Councilman Kellaher and introduced by him before the Council at its last session. It was then referred to the license committee for consideration. The committee discussed it and recommended it for passage.

There have been several measures inroduced before the Council aiming to eliminate street vendors, a big increase in the annual license fee being the principal means to the end. This, however, has not sufficed to drive the peddlers off the streets, and Mr. Kellaher decided that the only way to do it was to introduce an ordinance excluding them from operation.

This was done and tomorrow when the Council meets the measure will be up for passage. It seems doubtful at this time whether it will pass, as the peddlers are not without their friends, and there is said to be much public sentiment in favor of the vendors.

The great argument against the peddlers in the alleged nuisance they become on the streets. The police have much trouble with them, and the litter from their wagons is a point urged against them by many.

Balance of $504 in Estate.

declared insane and sent to the Asylum. The disbursements of the estate have amounted to $4619.12.

Every once in a while it comes to our ears that we are "standing in" with the Beef Trust. There was never a more heinous untruth. We are selling meat at one-half the price the Trust charges in other cities; we have pledged ourselves to never sell out to the Beef Trust, and we have scorned all their entreaties to come into the fold and raise the price of meat here in Portland. These are but a few proofs; there are countless others.
